The regular meeting of the Embroidery Club was held at the home of Mrs. F. B. Mix, on First avenue, Thursday afternoon, an enjoyable time being had by all present. Cake and nut sundaes were served.

Not the least enjoyable of the little farewells given in compliment to Mrs. Samuel Williams was the party given by Mrs. Alfred Young at her home on Granite street, Friday night, when she entertained at three tables of cards. Dainty refreshments added to the evening's enjoyment.

Word has reached Ashland that Miss Lillian Russell and Mr. William Harris were married in Portland, Ore., at 408 Fourth street, on June 12—the famous Lillian Russell day. The happy couple are known to many Ashland people, who wish them "bon voyage" on the sea of life.

A number of neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hodgson, on the Boulevard, Saturday night, to wish him "God speed" on his trip to his old home in British Columbia. Several merrily contested games of cards occupied the evening hours. A delicious repast was served during the evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hodges, Mrs. Benton Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Milburn.

About one hundred young people attended the dancing party given at Armory hall Thursday evening, in farewell to Miss Peryl Wamsley, who left Saturday to join some relatives in southern California. The dancing continued until the "wax small hours," Pederson's orchestra furnishing the music for the occasion. The hostesses, Misses Ruby Palmer, Frances Hamlin, Ada Sonnichsen and Mildred Applegate, are receiving congratulations upon the success of the affair.

Friday's meeting of the Pleasant Hour Club, held at the home of Mrs. L. M. Sanders, was attended by about fourteen members. During the business session it was voted to buy wood for a needy family in the neighborhood. A quilt, which will be sold and the proceeds devoted to charity, was started at the Friday meeting. Master William Hunt gave several enjoyable readings during the afternoon. At 5 o'clock all work was laid aside, and all were invited to partake of the dainty refreshments provided by the hostess.

The first annual union missionary picnic held in the park Tuesday well attended, considering the busy season, about one hundred being present. A bounteous dinner was served at noon in the club house, and at 2 o'clock a splendid program was presented, every missionary society in the city being represented on the program. Plans were completed for placing a missionary tent on the grounds during Chautauqua. The care of the tent will be shared by the societies, each being given one day in which to be in charge.

Monday evening the members of the Junior Endeavor Society of the Christian church invaded the C. D. Schell home, on Lincoln street, and most successfully surprised the Junior superintendent, Mrs. Schell, prior to her leaving for her new home on a ranch near Eagle Point. The happy Juniors declare they never did have such a good time—never! At 8:30, lemonade was made, and cake and other good things brought by the children, were served. Those attending were William Hunt, Rachel Hurst, Bessie McMillan, Lillian McMillan, Grace Buck, Marie Porter, James Porter, Bessie, Nellie, Anos and Ruth Chapman.

Mrs. Samuel Williams, who returned to her home in Longmont, Colo., Saturday, after a three months' visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. F. Rocho, was an honor guest at several little gatherings last week. Thursday, Mrs. Gummaer gave a delightful 1 o'clock luncheon in farewell to her, Mesdames Alfred Young and J. F. Rocho, and Miss Parker being the other guests. Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Fred Putnam entertained a few friends in her honor, dainty refreshments being served and an evening of music being enjoyed by all. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rocho, Mesdames Payne, Alfred Young and Samuel Williams.

Last Wednesday evening, after the regular business session of the Macca-bees, the lodge members were entertained by a committee headed by Mrs. Martha Van Natta. A "can" guessing contest occupied a part of the hour, Mrs. Lena Nelson being the winning contestant, with Mrs. Lillian Fruhan a close second. Strawberries, cream and cake were served in the rose-decorated dining room during the evening. Next Wednesday evening the local Macca-bees expect a visit from Lady Minnie Aydelotte of Oakland, Cal., deputy supreme commander and supreme chaplain for Oregon, and state commander of California, who will give a course of instructions in the lodge work. Plans are being made to make this a "red-letter" night in local Macca-bee history.

Picnic Postponed.

The picnic planned for next Wednesday by Mrs. J. K. Helman's Sunday school class has been indefinitely postponed.

Chautauqua Club Business Meeting.
At a call meeting of the Chautauqua Park Club at the club house Friday evening, plans were perfected for the serving of three meals a day at the club house during the Chautauqua session.

Former Ashland Boys Weds.

On the same day and at almost the same hour that Miss Nettie McIntire became the bride of Mr. Earl Vincent Hawley, her brother, Walter E. McIntire, was married to Miss Genevieve Tully of San Jose, Cal., the wedding taking place at San Jose June 19. The marriage is the culmination of a pretty little romance beginning in Ashland several years ago, when Miss Tully was a guest of Miss Virginia Taverner. Mr. McIntire is a graduate of Oregon University, and has many friends in Ashland. His bride is a Stanford graduate, and has been teaching at Gonzales, Cal., during the last year. The young couple will reside for the present in San Jose, where Mr. McIntire is connected with the city engineer's department. Their many Ashland friends extend best wishes.

Mrs. Samuel Williams Complimented.

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rocho, at the corner of Granite and Nutley streets, was the scene of a merry gathering Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Rocho entertained the Qui Vive Club and a few friends in honor of her sister, Mrs. Samuel Williams, who left Saturday for her Colorado home. A most enjoyable impromptu program occupied part of the afternoon. Piano duets by Misses Enid Richards and Georgie Coffee, piano solos by Miss Orpha Parker and Mrs. Gorison, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Gorison, formed the musical part of the program. The literary numbers were a recitation by Irma Hintze, readings by Mrs. Julia Evans and Mrs. Fred Putnam, and a poem by Mrs. Alfred Young. After the program was served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Irma Hintze and Mabel Stanley. The guests of the afternoon were Mesdames Rouse, Staples, Stanley, Fred Putnam, Julia Evans, Jennings, Sayles, Alfred Young, Lyman Payne, Adamson, Easterly, Applegate, Richards, Hintze, Gummaer, Coffee, Williams and Haley; Misses Pyzall, Mabel Stanley, Orpha Parker, Enid Richards, Georgie Coffee and Irma Hintze.

Enjoyable Affair at Davis Home.

The beautiful Davis home at 109 Church street was the scene of one of the largest social functions of the week, Friday, when Mesdames F. Roy Davis, Wallace Woods and George V. Gillette were hostesses to a number of ladies at a delightful afternoon "at home," and when Mesdames Davis and Gillette entertained some forty other guests at cards during the evening hours.

The spacious rooms, beautifully decorated with roses and sweet peas, were thronged with guests during the afternoon hours, about sixty ladies gathering to enjoy the hospitality of the hostesses. An amusing and unique "advertising" contest was the chief feature of the afternoon's entertainment, the guests having to name the article represented, and the dealer who carried it. A general "mix-up" of merchants and wares was the result. The first prize, a beautiful Haviland plate, was presented to Mrs. W. E. Newcombe. The consolation, an aluminum tumbler, was awarded to Mrs. A. T. Warner.

Partners for luncheon were found by matching conundrums. Misses Hope Burdick and Doris Bagley assisted the hostesses in serving the delicious refreshments. The "at home" guests were Mesdames F. M. Calkins, S. McNair, Von Smith, A. T. Warner, F. D. Wagner, G. S. Butler, Homer Barron, John Harvey, O. Winter, Frank Dickey, Will Mitchell, L. D. McKee, C. F. Tilton, Charles Gillette, H. W. Andrews, F. H. Johnson, C. H. Vaupel, Frank Miller, Henry Emery, F. G. Swedenburg, S. S. Mitchell, C. W. Nims, C. Cunningham, H. S. Mullit, S. Patterson, E. E. Bagley, J. P. Dodge, Harry Yeo, Will Dodge, L. Schwein, R. L. Burdick, B. M. Shondy, Horace Mitchell, A. E. Kinney, M. F. Eggleston, F. G. McWilliams, H. C. Stock, Elsie Churchman, J. L. Gault, L. L. Mullit, George Watson, Lewis Dodge, J. K. Van Sant, J. J. Cambers, N. E. Wood, J. H. Mashburn, Harry Emery, Melvin Emery, W. E. Newcombe, W. E. Blake, D. B. Grant, George W. Rose, Karl Nims, F. Whittle and Stewart Saunders; Misses Nellie Dickey, Mabel Russell, Nina Emery, Stella Owens and Nellie Russell.

Eight tables of "500" were played during the evening hours, the evening gathering being in honor of Mrs. A. C. Hubbard of Medford. First prizes were presented to Mrs. Perry Fuller and J. R. Burnette. Consolations were given to Mrs. H. S. Sanford and D. McQuilken. A delicious repast was served during the evening. The evening guests were Messrs. and Mesdames T. Sanford, H. H. Gillette, J. P. Johnson, Perry Fuller, H. S. Sanford, W. F. Sage, J. R. Burnette, Frank Dean, A. J. Faucett, R. Woods, D. McQuilken, Bartiges; Mesdames C. C. Page, Emma Jack and C. Jackson; Don Whitney; Misses Ethlyn Sanford and Anna Mattern; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Boyle of San Francisco; Mrs. Kinsman, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hubbard and Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Helms of Medford.

Wedding Anniversary Celebrated.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Easterly entertained at "500" Wednesday evening, the occasion being their twelfth wedding anniversary. Their beautiful home on Terrace street, overlooking the city, was profusely decorated for the evening with roses, pink and white being the colors used. Five tables of "500" were played, Mrs. Gummaer winning first ladies' prize and Mrs. Rocho receiving second. The consolation went to Mrs. Hintze. Mr. Clifton Payne won first honors for the men, with Mr. Hintze a close second. The consolation was presented, with sympathy, to Mr. Rocho.

At 11 o'clock games were stopped, that all might partake of the delicious three-course luncheon prepared by the hostess, to which all did ample justice. During the evening Mrs. Alfred Young, on behalf of the guests, presented Mrs. Easterly with an electric iron as a memento of the occasion. The presentation poem, entitled "The Nineteenth of June," read by Mrs. Young, is given below: Way off down in a southern clime, So it has been recorded in the book of time, A tall old bachelor wandered one day And found a little widow alone in her way. She was short and pretty and very sweet, He was tall and lank but very slick, Her sweet smiles she then cast at him, And he did not know whether he was fat or slim, But one time his heart got too full for the test, And he popped the question, and this is our best, Right there she was taken so un-awares, That she promised his love and his sorrows to share, And then the next question, what day it should be, To make them a happy one, not two or three; But this was a small question after landing the fish, And poor old Henry was to get his dear wish, So she said, "I think the 19th of June will be • • • • • One day for us to go to Salt Lake City and see How the Mormons their marriage vows tie, So that we can't break them by and by."

Well, they were married on that bright June day, And then way up north their home they did lay, Until Anna got tired of the cold a little bit, They wandered south and in old Ashland lit, And we are all so happy that this day Has been offered to us to come up here and pay You both our congratulations, and may many years Of blessed union be yours, without tears. After our invitations, we wanted something to take, Just as a token of our love for your own dear sake, We pondered it over and we pondered it well, But nothing was right and no one could tell, Until Strickfadden, with his wise old knot, Said, "Get her an iron that will keep red hot," And so that we have done, and we give it to you With our good wishes and friendships true, And when things go wrong and your temper is at stake, Just grab up this coil and the iron from the shelf you can take, And attach them together, and the current from above, Always remembering every one of us with love, And now, dear Anna, don't get discouraged filling Henry with pie, He'll get over that appetite in the sweet by and by, Keep right on and pull his leg, But for another invitation we sincerely beg.

Those attending the celebration were Messrs. and Mesdames Hintze, Nisbet, Applegate, J. F. Rocho, James Sayles and Watkins; Messrs. F. Strickfadden, Cliff Payne and Glen Young; Mesdames Gummaer, Alfred Young and Samuel Williams; Miss Parker.

If parents and children only knew what a wonderful man Prof. Larimore is, the children would join his Chautauqua classes. Tickets at reduced prices this week. 29 East Main.

A Shakespearean evening June 26 on the lawn at the East Side Inn, by the Wednesday Afternoon Club.

Shakespearean Evening

The Wednesday Afternoon Club will give a Shakespearean evening at the home of Mrs. Lennart.

Wednesday, June 26th AT 8 P. M.

This will be in the nature of a lawn fete, it having been arranged to give the entertainment out of doors. "A WINTER'S TALE" will be given, illustrated by living pictures and pantomimes. Other tableaux, representing scenes from familiar plays of Shakespeare, will also be shown. The audience will be welcomed by ladies costumed to represent well-known characters in his plays. Refreshments suited to the occasion may be obtained on the grounds.

ADMISSION 25 CENTS.

CELEBRATE IOWA DAY

150 Members Gather in G. A. R. Hall for Second Annual Reunion Last Friday.

In spite of lowering skies, the second annual picnic and reunion of the Iowa Society was a signal success last Friday, about 150 individual members and their friends participating in the feast and exercises of a varied nature, embracing musical selections and short talks on vital issues, historic, reminiscent and otherwise. Fortunately the society met in Grand Army hall, those headquarters affording ample room. Inasmuch as the gathering was driven indoors on account of inclement weather, it was well that the aforesaid hall had been reserved in due season for the reunion event.

The dinner was all that could be desired, and not only the substantialists were in evidence, but many delicacies in addition. Iowans are noted for being "corn fed," but they appreciate the side dishes also, consequently it might not be amiss to state that three gallons of sweet cream, three crates of strawberries, and seven gallons of ice cream were consumed "on the side," in connection with the main items on the banquet board.

After this fine repast there were several vocal selections, Mrs. C. L. Cunningham acting as accompanist. The initial one was the "Iowa Song," by the entire audience; a solo by Miss Esther Silsby; a quartet by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McGee, Mrs. Burns and Mr. Schwimley, and a solo by Mrs. C. B. Wolf, all of the singers being heartily encored. O. H. Barnhill, J. W. Hicks and C. B. Wolf gave brief addresses pertinent to the day and its observance, brimming over with humor and expressions of good fellowship, while Rev. John McAllister, the main speaker of the afternoon, supplemented these talks with a most fitting climax to the order of exercises, closing with a due measure of praise for our present surroundings in Oregon, viewed from the standpoint of state, county and municipal environment.

Twenty-one additional names were added to the list of 112 enrolled last year, viz.: Mrs. E. J. Wollencroft, Dr. J. P. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wolf, J. A. Kohagen, R. L. Moffitt, J. M. Welch, J. W. Hicks, Mrs. F. B. Welch, Mrs. M. McNeill, George and Casey Van Natta, J. W. Milner, J. M. Brooks, Mrs. John Patten, Miss Alice Finley, J. Howard, W. R. Kincaid, Mrs. H. L. White, Mrs. L. Mings and Mrs. S. J. Torrence. The choice of officers resulted in the re-election of the old ones, they being Rev. W. A. Schwimley, president; C. B. Lamkin, vice-president; E. V. Carter, treasurer; W. H. Day, secretary; and on motion the officers were to constitute an executive committee.

Preliminary to adjournment, the society appointed a committee to devise ways and means to participate in the Fourth of July celebration. Such committee was as follows: O. H. Barnhill, chairman; J. W. Milner, C. B. Wolf, and Mesdames W. L. Moore, C. B. Lamkin and W. H. Day. This committee meets at the secretary's office, Commercial Club rooms, Monday evening, June 24, to adopt a float or other representative feature which shall in the best measure represent Iowa in the grand parade in Ashland, July 4.

A financial statement revealed the fact that there was a balance in the treasury of $26 carried over from last year; receipts this year, 74 members at 25 cents each, $18.50; total, $44.50; expenditures incident to recent reunion, $29.90; balance, $14.60.

The following poem by O. H. Barnhill met with hearty applause, replete, as it is, with suggestions of the good and bad things left behind in Iowa:

Back to Iowa, Take me back to old Iowa, Where there's the clover fields and corn, Maple trees and oak and hickory— Where I lived when I was born; Where there ain't no irrigating, 'Cepting from the clouds above, And they work the roads all summer— Land of Hawkeyes that I love.

Take me where there's hogs a-plenty, Fattening steers and colts and calves; Where they ship out things by train-loads, Where they don't do things by halves; Where the noble Mississippi Flows along past Keokuk, And the steamboats on Big Muddy Miss the channel and get stuck.

Let me hear again the wagons Rattling o'er the frosty ground, Hurrying to the waiting corn fields, Where the ears make cheerful sound As they hit upon the bat-boards, Where by strong, young arms they're thrown— Who can beat a husky Hawkeye Piling up a golden load?

Take me where there's good, hot weather, Where the mercury can climb Right up through the torrid nineties, In the good, old summer time, Where the blizzards from Nebraska Come a-whistling o'er the hills, Blowing like a thousand furies, As the air with snow it fills.

Take me where the Nishua Botna Flows through fields of golden grain, Past the town of Shenandoah, Loveliest city of the plain; Where the Western Normal College Lifts its spire to Heaven's blue, Looking o'er the blue-grass praries— Don't you want to go there, too?
