BALLOT TITLE IN APPEAL.

W. M. Davis Dislikes Name Given Port of Portland Amendment.

Salem, Ore.—W. M. Davis of Portland, who notified Attorney General Crawford that he intended to take an appeal from the ballot title which was framed by the attorney general for the port of Portland amendment came several hours too late, according to the attorney general. The law provides that appeals must be taken within ten days from the time the attorney general files the ballot titles with the secretary of state. The ballot titles were filed July 9 and the ten days were up Friday.

Davis said that the title as prepared by the attorney general was not as satisfactory as the one which was prepared on the bill itself. The attorney general states that his ballot title was prepared with an end in view to incorporating in the title reference to all of the important changes in the old port of Portland commission act, which the title to the bill as prepared by the framers did not do.

County Records Show Cupid Has Been Busy This Year.

Notwithstanding the fact that this is presidential year and times are supposed to be a trifle cramped, Dan Cupid is enjoying a very busy season. During the present month he has caused 21 couples to apply at the county clerk's office for a license to live happily ever afterward.

June, the bride's month, was represented by 29, while May had but 18. The entire year to date has caused 142 to take the happy route, which is in excess of the number until the same date last year.

Examination of the county marriage record shows that in sunny southern Oregon the chosen month for nuptial events is December instead of June. From this it is fair to assume that with the present lead the record for marriages in Jackson county will be broken during 1912.

DUST STORM HITS CITY.

Wind Also Blows Down Trees and Wires in Pendleton.

Pendleton, Ore.—One of the worst dust storms experienced here in some time occurred Saturday after several days of very hot weather. A heavy thunder shower followed the dust storm, which cleared the atmosphere.

Many farmers are in the midst of harvesting and the rain will not only deter operations, but to some extent caused damage. High winds accompanied the storm, blowing down limbs of trees and telephone and electric wires. A hailstorm is reported at Bend.

If it is Tidings work it is the best.
