NEW BASEBALL FRATERNITY.

Major League Players Formally Launch Protective Organization.

New York.—Major league baseball players have formally launched their new protective organization. It is known as the National and American League Baseball Fraternity and its certificate of incorporation was signed by Supreme Court Justice DeLaney.

According to the petition for incorporation its object is to foster fraternal feeling among the players in the two big leagues. While the articles of incorporation have not been made public, it is generally believed the players generally intend for mutual protection to demand representation of their brotherhood in the councils of organized labor.

The call for the organization resulted from the difficulties of Ty Cobb which precipitated a strike among the Detroit team in Philadelphia early in the season.

A Famous Stone.

Everyone has heard of rocking stones—masses of rock so delicately poised as to move backward and forward upon the slightest impulse. There are many such stones scattered throughout the world, but the majority of them are mere marbles compared with the famous rocking stone of Tandil, in South America. This giant among rocking stones weighs no less than 700 tons and is situated in a low range of hills some 250 miles south of the city of Buenos Ayres. It is composed of granite and contains 130 cubic meters. It is in the shape of a paraboloid, four meters high and five meters in diameter at the base. The stone rocks upon a knob of rock beneath, which fits closely into a socket-like hollow in the great boulder itself. The action of the elements through countless centuries has succeeded in wearing away the softest part of the stone, leaving behind only the harder gritted core. The stone is so delicately poised that it can be made to crack a walnut without crushing the kernel.

Obituary.

Mary Zulime Gray was born in Lane county, Oregon, April 12, 1886, and died at 1 o'clock in the morning of September 13, 1912, after a long, lingering illness. She was able to be about until five months ago, since which time she had been confined to her bed. She realized her condition and was perfectly reconciled to the coming change.

She was well known in Ashland, having been a student of the state normal for a number of months. She afterwards attended the Mount Angel Academy, making a specialty of music, then spent a year in Landon Conservatory of Music, Dallas, Texas. This was in 1908 and 1909; but her health breaking, she left this school the end of the school year and was not well again afterwards. She was married to R. D. Gray, September 13, 1910, just two years to a day before her death. After marriage she lived in St. Paul, Minn., for a year and then for a few months in Little Rock, Ark., before her return to Oregon.

She leaves a husband, a mother, one sister, Mrs. Keeney, and four brothers. She was a member of the Christian church of Ashland.

One of the chief elements of the character of this departed one, as we remember it, was cheerfulness. She always met her friends and every one with a smile. In school work she was never found complaining about anything or anybody; she was loyal to her teachers and to her school.

The funeral services were at the residence of her mother, on Eighth street, East Ashland, at 10 o'clock Sunday, conducted by Rev. W. T. Vna Scoy. A large number of friends and neighbors of the family attended. The interment was in Mountain View cemetery. The city male quartet furnished very fitting music, and flowers and floral emblems were brought in great profusion. The pall-bearers were Henry Provost, Joe Hurt, Sylvan Provost, Henry Parr, Hum Pracht and Will Pracht.

Hen Buried Month in Hay.

Princeton, Cal.—M. A. Ingram, a farmer near Princeton, had a stack of hay out in the recent rain. This week he has been scattering the hay to dry it. Yesterday he uncovered, in the middle of the stack, a hen that he had accidentally buried five weeks ago in stacking the hay. The fowl was still alive and after eating and drinking, and shaking herself, ran about quite fresh from her long rest.

The Tidings printery gives satisfaction. Prices reasonable.
