

An Object Lesson For Your Boy

Every father wants his boy and girl to learn the lesson of habitual saving.

Do you know, fathers, that one of the best ways to teach your children to save regularly is to have a savings account yourselves?

Let that boy of bring your savings deposit to the bank as "regular as clockwork" and he will get the habit himself—he can't help it.

Incidentally, a little nest egg will be good for father, too.

COURT PAPERS MISSING.

Party in Divorce Case Alleged to Have Taken Them.

Medford Sun: Alleged destruction of evidence in the divorce suit of S. S. Swenning, a forestry service employe, instituted by his wife, furnishes a tangled condition of affairs in the office of the county clerk and blocks a threatened investigation by the government into the conduct of its worker, according to a statement made by county officials Saturday. Little publicity was given to the divorce suit and less to the loss of the papers, in the hope that they would be returned.

According to county authorities, Mrs. Swenning secured a divorce from her husband, and a few weeks afterward asked for the papers that she might make a duplicate of the matter. She was given the complaint, evidence and letters filed as exhibits in the divorce suit. Mrs. Swenning, according to the statements of the officials, promised to return the papers. The complaint was returned, tampered with, it is alleged, but the evidence and exhibits were missing.

Officials asked Mrs. Swenning the whereabouts of the valuable papers and she said, according to the authorities, that her baby had thrown them in the stove and they were burned up. This leaves no record on the county books of the divorce action, and forestalls a departmental investigation of Swenning.

County Clerk Coleman stated Saturday that he had not given up hope of finding the papers, and that the fact that a woman was concerned was the only thing that kept him from placing the matter before the next term of the grand jury. He said that it had been suggested to him that a search warrant be issued to search the home of Mrs. Swenning for the missing papers, but that he would not take this action. The authorities say they gave the papers to Mrs. Swenning as a matter of accommodation and that she violated their confidence.

A Busy Young Woman.

Oregon Statesman: The centenary of the great Krupp gun works at Essen, Germany, was celebrated recently, and it was an interesting affair in the history of that wonderful manufacturing plant—truly interesting from the fact that the head of the institution is a young woman whose age is 28 years.

This woman is Mrs. Gustav von Hohlen und Halbach, formerly Bertha Krupp, and she controls this immense property, her annual income being about $5,000,000. She is considered to be the richest woman in Europe, and her influence is wide, as the "kingdom" she rules is inhabited by 65,000 persons who are employes of the monster ordnance manufacturing concern which began as a tiny steel foundry established by her great-grandfather, Frederick Krupp, in 1819. In 1832 there were nine men in the employ of the Krupp family.

This concern supplies the artillery of the German empire and other nations of the world as well, and its reserve is said to be about $100,000,000.

The city of Essen is more socialistic in its government than Germany itself, its population being 150,000. It owes its present existence entirely to the Krupp gun works; but there is hardly a city in the world which is governed more in the communist spirit than this. It is one of the very earliest places in which co-operative stores were established. They have been in existence there for over fifty years. Bertha Krupp may be the "queen" of Essen, but her workmen conduct their own affairs without molestation. She limits her "interference" to gifts of money by which institutions of mutual good to the workmen may be established.

Winnipeg's present water supply is inadequate, and the city is likely to get the fluid from Shoal lake, 87 miles away. Professor Slichter of Madison, Wis., has been investigating for the Canadians.

The invention of a flame derived from electric energy that will not give off heat is claimed by a French scientist, who is keeping the details secret.

Dust from the miner's drill is now caught in a hood and carried off by a current of air, so that it does not get into the operator's lungs.

The Boost That Borah Got.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho is one of the most democratic fellows you ever saw, and he goes around Washington wearing a blue sack suit and a felt hat—all of which leads Mrs. Borah to give him numerous lectures in a gentle manner, indicating her belief that he should have more regard for his senatorial dignity and drape his stalwart form in a Prince Albert coat, not to mention pressing down upon his belligerent brow a high silk hat. So far, however, the senator has not increased the sale of frock coats, but has enjoyed a wonderful degree of physical comfort, the story of which he has frequently unfolded to Senator Gore, the blind man from Oklahoma.

One evening Borah told his wife that he had received a great compliment, the same being that he was the best dressed man in the United States senate. Mrs. Borah, sitting on the other side of the reading table, made no answer, and conveyed the general idea that the conversation had reached a stage which bored her immensely.

"My dear, you don't seem interested," said the senator, looking across at her, "and you don't ask me who paid me the compliment."

"I am always interested in everything you do and everything that happens to you," replied Mrs. Borah, "but I don't have to ask you who told you about being so well dressed. I know who it was. It was Senator Gore."

Girls Buried in Utah Mine Cave-in.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 15.—Caught in a cave-in of the famous old Horn silver mine at Frisco, Beaver county, two pretty girls, Misses Daisy and Hazel Alexander, aged 16 and 19 years respectively, daughters of Roy Alexander, the mine foreman, with eight miners and two male sightseers, this afternoon are buried beneath thousands of tons of earth and rock. Rescuers working in fifteen relays succeeded in restoring communication with five members of the imprisoned party, including the two girls. They were located at a spot near the 300-foot level.

"We are not injured," was the word sent up the tube by Miss Daisy Alexander. "We have the lunches of some of the miners and a little water. We are not suffering."

Carl Morris Back in the Ring.

Shreveport, La., Nov. 14.—Carl Morris, the Oklahoma "white hope," is to be seen in the ring here tomorrow night at a boxing show to be given under the auspices of a local athletic club. His opponent will be Cass Tarver, a big fellow hailing from Texas. The two are scheduled for a ten-round contest.

Thorough and systematic instruction. First year class work free. 124 Nob Hill street.

It not only looks bad to wear a shoe that is worn at the heel, but it is bound to react on the comfort and health of the wearer. Don't neglect your feet by wearing ill-shaped worn shoes, when a visit to our store will make it easy to repair your old shoes and just as easy to get a new pair.

You will find that the soles and heels of our shoes wear pretty evenly, consistent with the quality of the leather that is in-built and always apparent.
