

An Object Lesson For Your Boy

Every father wants his boy and girl to learn the lesson of habitual saving.

Do you know, fathers, that one of the best ways to teach your children to save regularly is to have a savings account yourselves?

Let that boy of bring your savings deposit to the bank as "regular as clockwork" and he will get the habit himself—he can't help it.

Incidentally, a little nest egg will be good for father, too.

—Helen and Gerald Hodgson have left school and are going to Canada. They are taking their grades and expect to enter high school in their new home. Several of the teachers were heard to express regret at losing them as students and they will be missed by their schoolmates.

—The agricultural class has built a routing bench, an apparatus in which cuttings are to be prepared for transplanting. The class has been taking observation lessons in pruning trees and are soon going to put their knowledge into practice in the Ashcraft orchard. —The high school teachers are planning to entertain all the other teachers at a Christmas party on the evening of December 19. —Ashland will have a chance to see the champion girls' basketball team of southern Oregon play Saturday night when Ashland and Grants Pass meet in the second game of the season. All are in good condition except Josephine Saunders, at guard, who is suffering from the grip. If she is not able to play, Myrtle McGee will take her place one half and Alene Bomar the next. If the two forwards, Florence Olds and Hannah Abbott, are up to their usual form they ought to put up a pretty exhibition of basket-shooting. The wonderful unanimity of opinion on the many details of the work indicates that the campaign is the result of the Holy Spirit moving the hearts of the Christian people. ### E. T. STAPLES ANSWERS

Can you give us names of a few or even one of those you say are enemies of the "home industry" who "are at work to assassinate it and turn it over to the electric trust"? Have you ever, in all your life, paid half as much Ashland tax or done half as much gratuitous work for the city as ANY ONE of these men you slander by insinuations have done in a year?

Can you give us the names of any one of the people you refer to who assert that if the bonds are defeated, the next step will be to "take over the city plant"? I challenge you to do so, or even show justification of such suspicions.

Can you justify your dirty insinuations that there are hired enemies of the home industry?

Please undertake to get the truth, and in so doing you will find that those who may honestly differ with you are as friendly to the interest of the city and to the present electric plant as you, even though they may favor waiting a while before voting more bonds.

Let us accord to each citizen the right of his opinion without insinuating that he is a crook because he differs. Let the question of bonds be settled by one vote, and the judgment of business management of the proceeds of bonds and taxes and the general affairs of the city be considered by another vote.

Mr. Briggs is an old resident. He has always been an ardent worker for Ashland's welfare. He has always been at the head of subscriptions for charity and public necessities. He has been three times at the head of the Commercial Club and the club is proud of his sincere and efficient work. He has raised a large family in your midst, who not only he but the people of Ashland may be proud of. And if elected mayor, the people will be proud of his administration. E. T. STAPLES.

I bought a bottle and it relieved my cough the first night, and in a week I was rid of the cold and soreness of my lungs," writes Miss Marie Gerber, Sawtelle, Cal. For sale by Poley's Drug Store.
