WOMAN ON THE BOARD

MRS. WESLEY VOGELI CHOSEN TO FILL VACANCY ON COUNCIL OF TALENT.

WORK ON PUMPHOUSE TO BEGIN

Council at Regular Meeting Granted Use of Vacant Rooms in Building to Talent Athletic Club.

The city council met in regular session Monday evening. One of the principal duties devolving upon the council was to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of John Robinson to qualify. Talent, as one of the most progressive towns of progressive Oregon, could be no less than up to the times. It was the first town in Oregon to elect a woman for recorder and it kept its lead by choosing Mrs. Minnie Vogeli as councilman. Mrs. Vogeli has been prominent in civic and other activities of Talent and will without doubt make good in the councils of the town fathers and mothers.

The council also granted to the Talent Athletic Club the use of two unoccupied rooms in the town hall building, formerly the school building. The Athletic Club will install a first-class gymnasium, putting in a shower bath and adding as much athletic apparatus as their means will permit.

The work of constructing a pump house for the municipal waterworks will commence soon. The work will be done by the day, the city furnishing the material. It is reported that J. G. Hart has been secured to take charge of the work.

It is expected that work will begin on the mains in a few days, now that the weather has apparently settled, and that it will not be very long before the waterworks system will be complete and Talent can assume metropolitan airs.

Regarding School Supervision.

Chimax, Jan. 27.

To the Editor: I have just been reading the controversy between Judge Tou Velle and the county educational board and would like to say this on the subject:

I have been serving on the board of directors of our district for the last four years, and have done all I could to increase the efficiency of our district school, and I thought that the new supervisors would be a great help to districts such as ours, but I have been disillusioned this last summer. During our six months' term from April to September we received but two visits from the supervisor, and they were "hurry-ups." Late during the term we received a long communication from the superintendent, Mr. Wells, in regard to standardization of rural schools; also information that the supervisor would be out and go over it with us and let us know what part of the new instructions we would be called upon to fulfill. That was the last we ever heard of it, and the supervision did not materialize.

Another matter is the library books which each district is supposed to buy each year. We ordered them and never got them. They are always left somewhere for us to call for them, and as we have to earn our "salaries" by sticking to the ranch pretty close, we don't get the books. These are small matters but of a good deal more importance than having a picket off the fence or a broken window light. We have no fence at all, so that was not our district.

In conclusion, I do not think the supervision the rural districts have received justifies the expense, and I am for the judge.

ED M. WHITE,
"Unrejuvenated" School District No. 13.

Talent, Feb. 1, 1913.
Editor Ashland Tidings.

Dear Sir: I see the controversy still goes on in regard to supervision of public schools. When we had but one supervisor our schools got as much attention as they do now. I am satisfied that one supervisor with an office deputy can give more efficient service than three of them can by running to the different schools two or three times each term, then give the balance of the money to the schools, so they may have more efficient teachers. No one will kick about taxes for maintaining the schools, but what is the use of paying half as much for supervision as for maintaining? What

TO DEVELOP STERLING MINE.

New York Capitalists Will Expend $200,000.

Medford, Feb. 4.—After formulating plans for the development of the Sterling mine, probably the most famous placer mine in Southern Oregon high line ditch and other development $200,000, S. S. Bullis, a capitalist of New York city, has left for the east, leaving his son in charge of the work here. Mr. Bullis will return soon as active development work is to start March 1.

The outlay of $200,000 is deemed necessary for the construction of a high line ditch and other development work in order that the high ground lying above the present scene of operations may be properly mined. It is planned to work this ground, said to be very rich, to the top of the divide.

Harry E. Foster of this city is in charge of the engineering work in connection with the mine and is now preparing profiles and estimates for the construction of the high line ditch.

Mr. Bullis before his departure stated that he believed the Sterling mine capable of producing far more than it had in the past, which runs into large figures, and that he would spare no expense in putting his faith in the mine to a test.

WANT PANAMA EXHIBIT.

Lobbyists Visit Salem in Behalf of One.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 4.—All Oregon seems to be a unit in the desire for a suitable appropriation by the legislature to make a good showing at the two California expositions celebrating the opening of the Panama canal. The solons gathered at Salem were visited the past week by delegations representing about every part of the state.

Commercial bodies and business men generally expressed the belief that Oregon will benefit largely from these expositions and should make a strong showing, both at San Francisco and San Diego. The subject is being carefully considered at Salem. Meanwhile, plans are being outlined whereby the state will be given suitable exploitation at the California expositions.

MISSING MAN FOUND.

Medford Man Missing Four Years Located in Hospital.

Medford Sun: Four years of anguish and heartaches ended for the family of L. W. Fansher last Thursday when word was received that the father and husband who mysteriously disappeared from Medford November 23, 1908, had been located in a hospital in San Leandro, Cal. He is expected to return to Medford Tuesday night, accompanied by his son, Wilbur. The disappearance created a stir at the time. Fansher was well known and took an active interest in civic affairs.

A few days before his disappearance Mr. Fansher acted peculiarly, but aside from members of his family no one noticed it. Mrs. Fansher has exhausted every means to locate her mate during the last four years, and the conclusion is a great burden off her mind. Mr. Fansher was a man of education, having held the position of school superintendent of Pacific county, Washington.

Mrs. Fansher said Monday afternoon that she feared that her husband would not live long after his return, as her son reports that he is in a serious condition.

"We were very happy together," said she, "and with our five children had an ideal home. There were no financial worries and the disappearance has always been a complete mystery to me. My only hope now is that my husband will retain his reason and live long enough to be at home once more and will take the place that has been so long vacant in the family. We had mourned for him as dead, and now it seems a strange provision of fate that he should return only to leave us forever. I have not given up hope, but I might as well face the truth."

Tests by French naval officers have indicated that the waves in wireless telegraphy travel at a rate of nearly 200,000 miles a second.
