You Discover the Value of Money When You Need to Borrow.

You find that the greater your financial resources the larger your borrowing capacity. Also that the better your acquaintance at a good bank the easier it is to get accommodation. Banks do not loan to strangers, therefore it is not well to be a stranger at the bank, for all successful people find it necessary at times to use their credit. Becoming a checking depositor is the way to get on a credit footing at this bank. Citizens Banking and Trust Co. "The Bank That Helps the People." ASHLAND, OREGON. FOURTH STREET FIRE

Home Comfort Boarding House Destroyed and Other Buildings Damaged Monday Night.
The "Home Comfort Boarding House," formerly the Throne rooming house, and the Atlas Cleaning Works, occupying a small building adjoining, were totally destroyed by fire Monday evening, the alarm being turned in about 8:30 o'clock. The fire, Mr. Mahan, whose wife ran the boarding house, states, originated in the back room of the cleaning works, which were all ablaze before the inmates of the boarding house knew anything about it. The fire boys responded quickly, but for a me unexplained reason the pressure on one of the two lines of hose used was so poor that it was of little use. The two dwellings adjoining, one on each side of the burned structures, were in great danger for some time and the one to the south was quite badly damaged through the heat and the breaking of windows and throwing water into the house. The boarding house was owned by H. L. White and Mrs. A. G. Barham (formerly Mrs. Annie Gash) and the Atlas Cleaning Works building was owned by E. L. Hackett of this city. The value of the buildings burned is problematical, both being somewhat aged. The boarding house had recently been repainted and fitted up inside and was opened as a boarding house by Mrs. E. J. Mahan March 1, after having been closed for some months. She was just getting a good business started and loses all her furniture, as well as the personal effects of the family. They figure the loss on furniture at about $300, besides the loss of clothes and keepsakes, etc. The Atlas Cleaning Works were owned and run by M. B. Wilson, who with his family resided in the residence just south of the burned structure. They were living in furnished rooms, so their loss at their home is confined mostly to damaged wearing apparel, etc., by being wet, lost or destroyed in removal from the building. There was the usual number of fool stunts in trying to "save" the contents of the house south of the burned structures, furniture being thrown from the upstairs windows, etc. The attention of the crowd was divided a part of the time between the fire and a fight between Jack Bailey and Bill Cottrell, the latter a barber on Fourth street and a member of the fire department. The losses and insurance, so near as can be learned, were as follows: The loss on the Home Comfort Boarding House is about $2,000 on building and $750 on furniture, with an insurance of $1,500 on building and $500 on furniture in the Billings agency. The cleaning works building was uninsured, the policy having expired only a short time ago and was not renewed.

RAILROAD OFFICIAL HERE.

General Passenger Agent Scott Visits Ashland.
J. M. Scott, the genial general passenger agent for the S. P. system, was in Ashland Thursday in the interest of his company and called on the Tidings editor. It is his policy to keep in close touch with life and activity along his lines, studying the needs of the different communities, and to this end he makes frequent visits to the cities within his territory. The attitude of the railroads to the people and the people to the railroads is changing rapidly. As the needs of each become better understood by the other the real rights of each are more fully recognized and the true relation, that relation which ought always to have existed between the railroads and their patrons, is becoming more fully realized and established. No railroad can prosper without the co-operation of the people, and no community develops to its fullness without a railroad.

500 Dead in North Dayton.

Columbus, Ohio, March 26.—The first refugees from Dayton arrived at Phoneton this afternoon, according to a message received this afternoon by the Columbus office of the United Press from Mrs. Rena Eakin, a telegraph operator at Phoneton. The refugees told Mrs. Eakin that 500 persons were believed to be dead on the north side of the river alone. The water, they said, was falling slowly. Forty boats are patrolling Dayton, and St. Elizabeth's Hospital and several other buildings are undermined. Troy, Ohio, Mrs. Eakin wired, is under water and many fatalities are reported there. Many of the residents, she said, are starving.

Omaha Can Take Care of Its Own Situation.

Omaha, March 26.—Six relief stations, each containing doctors, nurses and a disbursing officer, were opened here today to take care of the sufferers from Sunday night's cyclone. The authorities through the newspapers and on the billboards are appealing to the people to give financial aid. Two score of funerals were held here today. There are 128 identified and six unidentified dead, besides 14 missing, in Omaha alone. It is still snowing and the mercury stands 12 above zero. The hundreds housed in the big Auditorium last night suffered greatly from the intense cold. The low temperature is causing intense suffering among the other refugees from the stricken district.

Rains Will Not Stop Today.

Washington, March 26.—The flood waters in Indiana and Ohio will be augmented by continued rains, according to the forecast issued here this afternoon by the government weather bureau. Reports received from Pittsburgh say that the Allegheny river there is rising at an alarming rate.

POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE NOTES.

The new students this week are Ella Parks and Letha Buck of Applegate and Callie Voegli of Talent. The drama is set for Friday evening, April 4, at the high school gymnasium. The new students this week took up the work in the commercial department and in that of stenography. Miss Farnham was called Wednesday to do some extra work in the Citizens' bank. Next week more students will enter the teachers' review. By the courtesy of Superintendent Briscoe the young ladies of the teachers' course have the privilege of observation in the class work of the grades of the city schools. They are gathering many good things from the actual teaching by the efficient corps of city teachers. The boys of the college have come out this week with their new hats representing the school colors. Manufacturers are seeking a substitute for glass which will not be brittle. In 1910 there were 100,969 children born in Ohio.
