TO FIX UP CEMETERY

Talent Odd Fellows Celebrate Anniversary by Improving Necropolis Purchase.

The Talent Odd Fellows, who recently purchased a tract for a cemetery adjoining the village cemetery, decided to observe the anniversary of the order Saturday by fixing up the new acquisition rather than by attending the county celebration at Gold Hill. About 25 of the members gathered early Saturday and, arrayed in their working togs, proceeded to the cemetery armed with the working tools of their vocation and proceeded to install a fine lawn fence across the front and a substantial fence around the other three sides. Two handsome wagon gates were placed, one at each end of the front, with a small gate in the center. Others went to work clearing the grounds and leveling them.

At noon the Rebekahs appeared on the scene laden with baskets and a picnic dinner was served to the laborers. A very pleasant day was spent and much good was done.

COURTS INVESTIGATION.

Baseball Magnate Denies There is Trust.

New York, April 23.—"If a congressional investigation committee is appointed to look into the affairs of organization baseball," declared W. H. Locke, the new president of the Philadelphia National League, "the interesting fact will be made public that 50 per cent of the major league clubs and 75 per cent of the minor leagues lost money last season. This was due to the high salaries paid to the players and the heavy traveling expenses, coupled with the big money spent in rebuilding ball parks.

"The major leagues have contracted to pay nearly $1,000,000 in salaries this season. Under the provisions of the national agreements the players must receive every dollar, no matter how much the clubs may lose. Each club stands on its own bottom. There is no syndicate ownership and neither the National nor American League is incorporated. As for the so-called reserve rule, professional baseball would become chaotic without it.

"It prevents the clubs in the larger cities from enticing away valuable players from the smaller and weaker clubs. If the clubs should outbid one another for stars every year it would not be long before New York and Chicago would control the best men in the market. I will venture to say that more than 90 per cent of the major league players of today are well satisfied with existing conditions and would oppose any attempt to wreck the foundations of organized baseball. I hope that congress will turn on the searchlight to show that the cry against organized baseball is unwarranted."

BRITISH CRITICISE BRYAN.

Shy at Dinner Where Wine is Missing.

London, April 25.—Sarcasmic comment on Secretary of State Bryan's new famous "grape-juice" dinner to British Ambassador James Bryce and other foreign diplomats in Washington was voiced in today's London newspapers.

"Official life in Washington under the Wilson-Bryan regime," says the Pall Mall Gazette, "holds little prospect for gaiety. We fear the capital of the great republic is destined to be known as 'wisy Washington.'"

Commenting seriously on the dinner, the London Express says that Bryan, as secretary of state, has no right to enforce his abstemious ideas on his guests. The Express maintains that the diplomats had no choice but to attend the dinner, because the secretary's invitation would have involved them in a suspicion of international discourtesy.

Washington, April 25.—Discussing the comment in London newspapers on Secretary of State Bryan's "grape-juice dinner" to the representatives of foreign countries here, Mrs. Belya Lockwood, the famous equal suffragist, said today:

"Grape-juice gaiety is safe and sane. It doesn't leave a 'head' the next morning. Washington is gay under President Wilson. We should worry about London's criticism of grape-juice diplomacy. It is much more preferable to dollar diplomacy."

"President Wilson and Secretary Bryan are to be congratulated on their grape-juice doctrine. Men having the responsibilities of running a great government should retire early and rise early and attend to their duties with clear heads."

Congressman Bartholdt of Missouri today took a hand in the grape-juice controversy.

"I deeply regret," he said, "that the question whether a man shall drink wine at dinner has become a state matter. It is a question all gentlemen should decide for themselves. Why, it is hospitality with a string tied to it—that's the American way. Secretary Bryan is forcing his own personal views when he is entertaining as secretary of state."

"That is improper. No host should force his own private opinions on his guests. The diplomats he entertained could not criticise him, but I will bet they had peculiar thoughts. They come from a station in life where gentlemen drink wine with dinner."

It is stated here that Secretary Bryan's attitude will not affect President Wilson, who considers the wishes of his guests are paramount. He intends to serve the usual wines, and his guests may take them or not as they please.

DIGNITY IS AT STAKE

California's Pride is Involved in Anti-Allen Legislation in the Last Statement.

Sacramento, April 24.—Not the dignity of Japan, but the dignity of California, is at stake in the controversy over the anti-alien land law, according to Governor Johnson, and if the plans of the majority party here give offense to the Tokio government, the California executive absolves the state from blame on the ground of federal statutes, which long since drew the line which the state now seeks to apply.

In a statement issued today Governor Johnson denied the position of the legislative majority in the matter, trusting that Secretary Bryan might learn thereby the attitude of California toward the law barring from land ownership in this state aliens who are barred from citizenship in the nation.

That this restriction applies to the subjects of Japan or any other nation is not the fault of California, according to the view of the governor. Such a law will be that which will be presented to Secretary Bryan when he arrives here. The law will apply solely to members of the foreign races that are described under the federal law as ineligible to citizenship.

Democratic members of both houses have conceived the idea of calling a conference of the governors of Oregon, Washington, Nevada and Arizona to meet Secretary Bryan and Governor Johnson next week with the view of bringing about concerted action on the alien land question and in resolutions to be introduced in both houses tomorrow directing the invitation to be telegraphed to the executives of these states.

There is little sympathy for this plan among the majority who, having asserted the right of the state to act, now declare such a conference will only serve to cloud the issue. They expect to kill the resolution when it comes to a vote.

Washington, April 24.—Secretary Bryan left Washington this evening for Sacramento, where Monday he will begin consultation with Governor Johnson and members of the California legislature in an effort to frame anti-alien land laws that will not conflict with treaty obligations of the United States with Japan.

Sacramento, Cal., April 24.—Anti-alien land legislation is at a standstill in the California legislature today and will remain so until the arrival of Secretary of State Bryan here late next Monday.

Although amendments to Senator Birdsall's anti-alien land bill are being prepared and discussed in caucus, no action will be taken on the floor of the senate on either the senate or assembly bills until Bryan's arrival, according to floor leaders.

SICKLES CASE DROPPED.

New York Not Likely to Press Claim for Missing Funds.

Albany, N. Y., April 24.—New York state probably will take no further action to recover $23,000 unaccounted for by General Daniel E. Sickles as chairman of the New York Monument Commission. Attorney-General Carmody said tonight that General Sickles had failed to meet the judgment obtained by the state for the recovery of the money.

"Although numerous offers were made to aid General Sickles at the time the state began an action against him for the recovery of the $23,000," said Attorney-General Carmody, "not a dollar has yet been turned over to the state authorities for this purpose. If we are satisfied that General Sickles has no assets and that we cannot recover this money, we will not press the body execution the state obtained to satisfy the judgment."

WASTE CANS GIVEN TO CITY.

Corvallis Women Buy 36 Sanitary Garbage Receptacles.

Corvallis, Ore., April 24.—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Commercial Club, which has conducted a "clean-up" day each year, has decided to vary the proceedings by the presentation of 36 sanitary garbage cans for street use. The women have the money on hand and at today's meeting decided to spend it for the more or less permanent improvement rather than on a single day's effort.

They have purchased metal cans three feet in height in the rear, two feet in front, and with a lid, this style being less liable to serve as roosting places for chronic idlers.

DEER SWIMS INTO CITY

Animal Puts into Lumber Yard in Spokane After Long Swim Down Rapid River.

Spokane, Wash., April 26.—Taking advantage of the high water in the Spokane river, which greatly facilitated progress down stream, a full grown "mule" deer gaily put into port in the yards of a lumber company at the edge of the Spokane business district.

After shaking his downy tail the animal proceeded to cast about for a breakfast appropriate to the conclusion of so perilous and difficult a journey. Whether it was instinct or the fact that his keen hearing warned him of danger ahead, something impelled the deer to leave the stream at the lumber mill. Had he kept on 400 yards down stream he would have been dashed to death on the rocks below the biggest cataract in the west.

Workmen at the mill discovered the unusual visitor, and, after a chase among the lumber piles, finally ran him into a blind alley and caught him.

The animal was presented to the park board and has joined the zoo lodge at Manito park. He has been given the name of John P. Reardon, in honor of the man who effected the capture, and who is undoubtedly the first human being to get within speaking distance of the deer.

The deer is of the "mule" variety and is different from any of those now in the Manito park zoo. It is a cross between the black and white tails, and has unusually long ears, which fact has given rise to the name by which the species, a native variety, is known.

The animal has a deep cut on the neck, caused probably by contact with a rock in one of the rapids above the city, but the wound is not at all serious.

How far the deer traveled in the icy river is a matter of conjecture, but it is believed his trip began in the neighborhood of Coeur d'Alene lake, 30 miles from Spokane.

YREKA BOY KILLED.

Children of Prominent Families Are Seriously Injured.

Summit Lookout: Earl Long dead, Miss Dorothy Hooper internally injured, Mildred Miniaker suffering from a fractured wrist and Donald Abshire with a broken leg, all high school students, is the result of an auto accident that happened near Montague Saturday afternoon.

Fortunately Albert C. Haight, a farmer of Little Shasta valley, appeared on the scene about fifteen minutes after the mishap. Not being able to do anything by himself, he hurried on to Montague three miles away to secure help.

Earl Long, most deservingly injured of all, was hurried to Yreka, but died before arriving at Mt. Shasta hospital.

Miss Hooper was taken to her home. Unless the internal injuries develop something more serious she will recover.

Miss Miniaker's fractured wrist, while not serious, is necessarily very painful.

Donald Abshire is able to be out on crutches. The funeral of Earl Long was held in Yreka Monday and was the largest ever held at that place. The high school faculty and students attended in a body.
