Recorder's Office Looks Like Bank

The additional counter in the recorder's office in the city hall is now as nearly complete as is possible until the marble slab, etched glass and scroll work arrive. The extension has been made by F. H. Fitch and is a fine piece of work. The office now looks like an up-to-date bank. One taxpayer was heard to remark that this was appropriate as people leave considerable of their money there in the way of taxes, special assessments and water and light payments. It will be some time before Recorder Gillette's private office is ready for occupancy as the new vault, which was constructed of concrete, is very slow to dry at this season of the year. Charley says he hopes to be able to celebrate next Christmas there.

Oregon Teachers in Session. Salem, Ore., Dec. 24.—Members of the western division of the Oregon State Teachers' Association rallied here in force Monday for what promised to be one of the largest and most profitable of the annual meetings held by the organization.
