A Few Facts About Mexico

An idea of the magnitude of the task that will be undertaken if an occupation of Mexico is attempted may be gained from a glance at the map of the country and by reference to a topographical description of the country. All varieties of climate that are found in the temperate and tropic zones may be found in Mexico. The country is traversed northwest to northeast by rugged mountain ranges, with many cross-ranges, affording in themselves great difficulties to the progress of an invading army. The narrow strip of lowland along each coast is infested with fever, and the high plateaus of the interior are very arid, so that one of the great disadvantages to an invading force would be lack of water. When Torreón was recently taken by the rebels one of the captures told of in the press dispatches was that of several trainloads of water.

It is about 500 miles on an air line from the Rio Grande to the capital, Mexico City, and about 800 miles by rail. In the map, railroads show that the country is reasonably well covered in this regard.

Both Vera Cruz and Tampico are about 200 miles, air line, from the capital. By rail from Vera Cruz it is a little farther than this, and by rail from Tampico to Mexico City it is at least 500 miles. From Manzanillo, a port of the west coast, where troops might be landed if the country were to be invaded, it is about 500 miles by rail to Mexico City. Huerta is said to be taking pains to keep this line open for his own use in case he wishes to flee the country.

The western Mexican states have been but little disturbed by the civil war that has torn other parts of the country. Huerta's government has been accepted by the people of these states without serious protest.

Northern Mexico, and particularly those states south of the Rio Grande, has been the scene of the greatest revolutionary disturbances. The recent capture of Torreón by Villa extended the zone of revolutionary, or constitutional, control for a great distance south of that place.

One of the most persistent plagues of the Mexican dictator has been a leader named Zapata, who operates in the country immediately south of Mexico City, his marauding bands sometimes coming within 15 miles of the capital.

The great oil district, over the possession of which many believe the war is being waged, Huerta being backed by one group of capitalists and the constitutionalists by another, lies along the Gulf of Mexico in the states of Tamaulipas and Vera Cruz. Here are said to be the richest oil fields in the world.

The population of Mexico is 15,600,000. The population of Mexico City in 1910 was 470,659.

Chihuahua, capital of the state of the same name, is the headquarters of General Carranza, constitutionalist governor of the state and chief of the constitutionalist armies, although Villa, who took Torreón, is acting independently of Carranza to a great extent, and is the real fighting head of the constitutionalist forces.

Lived Fifty Years In Jackson County

John Adam Schmidt, aged 84 years, for 50 years a resident of Jacksonville, one of the best known and beloved of Jackson county pioneers, called "Papa" by scores, died suddenly of heart failure in the county seat Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Last August Mr. Schmidt celebrated his golden wedding day, and sent tokens and received congratulations from hundreds.

Before the last summons Mr. Schmidt partook of a hearty dinner, and as was his custom went uptown. Upon his return he took a seat in the yard, where he was found dead by his wife. The news was a shock to his friends. Mr. Schmidt was of a friendly and fatherly nature, kind and fond of children, who loved him. He was among the best known men in southern Oregon.

He is survived by a wife, Amelia, and two daughters, Mrs. Louisa Sutton of Port Orford, Ore., Mrs. Bert Haney of Medford and a son, Julius Schmidt, of Cortland, Cal. The funeral arrangements will be made later.

The wedding of the Schmidts was one of the romances of pioneer history. The sorrow of the community rose with the news of the end.

Mr. Schmidt was born at Wurnes, Germany, and came to America when 16. He was a member of the I. O. R. M. No. 1, Jacksonville and Pochontas, of this city, who will conduct the services, and the A. O. U. W.

Freckles

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

IS THERE ANY REASON

We think there are good reasons why we should, and we are going to tell you some things that may sound to you like a breath of hot air. If this is so, get the idea out of your system, for there is nothing HOT about them. They are COLD FACTS.

Fact No. 1. Properties are being TAKEN OFF the market every day.

Fact No. 2. Property owners who have had their property listed at sacrifice prices are coming in and calling for a new listing at an ADVANCED PRICE.

This is as it should be. The real estate men, as well as business men in all lines, enjoy having a SATISFIED buyer, but there is little satisfaction in selling homes at GREAT SACRIFICE, even to satisfy the buyer. What is REALLY DESIRABLE is for the buyer to get the VALUE of his investment, and the seller to feel that he has not worked a number of years for nothing.

We do not advise a reckless advance on all properties, but we feel safe in advising our clients, or anyone's clients, to put aside sacrifice prices, for we have arrived at a period where sacrifice prices may be happily forgotten.

All this means that we are soon to greet

The Silver Lining

Why we should not make public the real estate situation as we see it at present?

Total Registration Reached 7,500

Registration closed Saturday night with a total of 7,330, but according to County Clerk Gardner the reports from outlying districts will bring the final total to 7,500.

The total voting strength is estimated at 12,000, which means that one-third of the voters have not registered. The proportion of two to one between the men's and women's vote still holds good, but the past week marks a new record for registration, 1,000 voters qualifying in the six days. One woman also registered as a populist.

Sick Headache.
Mrs. A. L. Luekle, East Rochester, N. Y., was a victim of sick headache and dependency, caused by a badly weakened and debilitated condition of her stomach, when she began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. She says: "I found them pleasant to take, also mild and effective. In a few weeks' time I was restored to my former good health." For sale by all dealers.

A Lawyer on "Doing" Her.
Elthu Root was talking about the corporation lawyer.
"He isn't so much abused as he once was," said Senator Root. "A reaction in his favor has set in. In the past a corporation lawyer couldn't attend a public dinner without having some such story as that of Lawlance thrown at him."
"Lawlance—Prof. Lawlance—taught corporation law in a famous school. He had a reputation for wit. He was always making funny cracks at modern life and society."
"A student, in answer to one of Lawlance's questions, said grandiloquently:
"A lawyer's first, his sole duty, is to see that, though the heavens fall, justice is done."
"That justice is done," repeated Lawlance thoughtfully. "It's, yes, exactly. And my experience has been that the lawyer who does justice oftenest is the one who first achieves a white palace in Fifth avenue overlooking the park."
