Last Meeting Of Boys' Club

The last meeting of the Boys' Club took place at the Elks building Friday night. George B. Icenhower was the speaker of the evening. He arrived in the city from South America about a month ago. He has been engaged in civil engineering work on the new railway in Bolivia and Brazil, the railway to Potosi. The talk he gave the boys was one of the most interesting of the series. The railroad he has been working on has the distinction of being the highest in the world, being 15,800 feet above sea level. He explained about the country, customs and people he had met in his travels. The people there are Spanish speaking and use almost altogether the metric system. Many word-colored pictures of the trip down and back were presented, his return trip being by way of the Philippine Islands and Hawaii.

Mr. Icenhower told many of the interesting things he saw while in South America. He has Indian relics he found in some old graves that were in the line of the railroad. Some of these are stone knives, and there are also knives of sharpened fish bones. These relics are perhaps many centuries old, as the stone implements show. These were found, he says, on a barren desert, but petrified forests indicate a former timberland. It was indeed interesting to listen to the talk he gave to the boys, and it was very satisfying to those who have the wanderlust.

Professor Vining gave a talk that was exceedingly beneficial and interesting, and he summed up the points the boys should have drawn from the lectures. The coming high jinks at Rogue River was further explained, and the prospects for a great time there are indeed bright. This high jinks will take place a week from Wednesday. The meeting was one of the best of the year and was well attended.

Small Vote Cast In Primary Election

The primary election in Jackson county was marked by utter lack of interest. Little work was done except by the interested friends of the candidates the last few days before the election and no intense feeling was worked up.

In Ashland the primaries pass off without the least interest, not more than one-half the voters going to the polls. The extremely light vote indicates the feeling of indifference of the average voter as to the result.

As the socialists and prohibitionists had no candidates for nomination, the entire fight was for the settlement of the republican and democratic candidates.

The surprise in Ashland was the strong vote polled by F. H. Madden for county court over Joe Smith, the present incumbent. Mr. Madden secured almost three votes to Smith's one.

Singler made a like race against Walker for sheriff. It was generally believed this race would be very close, but the candidacy of Earhart appears to have weakened Walker's vote.

Colvig defeated Cronemiller in the county, but the latter carried Ashland by eight votes.

Ussher won the nomination for coroner over Kellogg by something like 75 votes. The exact number will not be known until the official count.

Mealey and Wagner secured the republican nomination for state representative. The county vote given out Saturday was as follows:

Madden defeated Smith for the republican nomination for county commissioner by nearly 300 votes.

On the democratic ticket, Hittson defeated Summerville by a small vote. Canon carried the county for democratic national committeeman by a two to one vote.

Complete returns from 38 precincts out of 47 give the following totals, the precincts missing being small and not likely to change the result:

- For congressman—Hawley 1,435, Jones 736.
- For representative—Mealey 1,094, Stone 880, Wagner 1,318.
- For county commissioner—Madden 1,256, Smith 987.
- For sheriff—Earhart 373, Singler 1,256, Walker 694.
- For treasurer—Colvig 1,161, Cronemiller 987.
- For coroner—Kellogg 993, Ussher 1,050.
- On the democratic ticket the vote for national committeeman stands: Canon 751, Easterly 453.
- For congressman—Hollister 545, Meredith 420.
- For sheriff—Hittson 562, Summerville 532.

Bellevue Made Fine Showing at Talent

The pupils of the Bellevue school are stepping high these days. Bright and early on May 14 their track team, the pupils of the school and a goodly number of the people from the district drove to Talent to a field meet between the schools of the second and third class of Jackson county. The team of eight did not show up much among the twenty-five or thirty from Gold Hill, or with the teams from Phoenix, Central Point and Talent. The big purple B's did show up, and often in the front rank, when the meet started. The boys went into every event with plenty of ginger and before night no one dared predict the outcome of an event until Bellevue had had her last chance.

Merritt Randles, a boy of but little past 13, made a remarkable record. He made eight feet four inches in the pole vault, and four feet eight inches in the high jump. He has a record in practice of seventeen feet ten inches in the broad jump. Jimmie Howard, who is but 10 years old, made thirteen feet nine inches in the broad jump, while he with Walter Miksch and Marens Kilts took first, second and third for Bellevue in their class, each making three feet ten and one-half inches in the high jump. The other members of the team who helped very materially were Earl Brown, Gates King, Harry Moore, George West, Sac Brant and Walter Miller.

Gold Hill took the cup with a score of 129 points, Bellevue won 65 points, and the other schools came in with around 30 points or less.

Talent surely deserves great credit for so successfully carrying out the meet, which is the first, for schools of the second, and third classes, to be given in the county. The schools all owe Principal Ager a vote of thanks for the very fair treatment the visitors received, for the good time all enjoyed for the very fine trophy furnished, and, above all, for being the pioneer in instituting "Jackson County Day" for schools of the second and third classes.

Canon Defeated for Committeeman

Returns from 27 of the 33 counties of the state, including Multnomah, place Withycombe and Smith in the lead for the republican and democratic nominations for governor.

Outstanding counties and precincts yet to be heard from are not likely to change the result.

George Brown has apparently been nominated for attorney-general over Frank Grant by a wide margin.

The four republican nominees for supreme judge are McBride, Harris, McNary and Benson. Bean is running fifth.

McArthur has won the republican nomination for congress from Lafferty, incumbent, in the Third district.

Hawley has been nominated by two to one in the First district, and Sinnott had no opposition for the nomination in the Second district.

For supreme judge, Cleeton, who ran well in Multnomah, fell down on the outside, whereas McNary picked up enough in Multnomah to make him safe, apparently, and the same situation applies to Harris.

Brown received 8,100 votes outside of Multnomah, and Grant 3,423. In Multnomah Brown received 5,116 and Grant 8,464.

Ackerson, for republican national committeeman, carried Baker, Clackamas, Columbia, Crook, Grant, Jackson, Josephine and Willamette.

Williams, who has been nominated, carried Benton, Clatsop, Douglas, Hood River, Lane, Lincoln, Linn, Marion, Morrow, Sherman, Tillamook, Union and Wasco.

Esterly, for democratic national committeeman, carried all counties, with the exception of Jackson, the home of his opponent, Canon, and Sherman. This was one of the bitterest contests in the democratic ranks, and a large amount of money was spent for advertising.

Esterly ran as a Wilson man, and while Canon raised a large campaign fund for Wilson, the slogan of Esterly was effective. Esterly was backed by the federal political machine of the state and by practically every democratic postmaster and the applicants for postmaster.

Williams received 8,476 in the outside counties and Ackerson 8,230. Williams' lead in Multnomah was tremendous. Esterly received 3,573 and Canon 2,311, in addition to their vote in Multnomah.

POLAR RESEARCH.

Arctic and Antarctic Problems That Still Remain Unsolved.

The era of pole hunting is now happily over, and the best result of Peary's and Amundsen's athletic feats in the north and south is that the really important problems of the circumpolar regions can henceforth be attacked with a single mind. From a scientific standpoint enough work remains to be done in these regions to last for several generations.

The antarctic has only been scratched, so to speak. Owing to the diverse scales used in school geographies the average man goes through life with badly warped ideas concerning the relative sizes of various parts of the earth's surface, and so probably few people realize that the antarctic continent is very much larger than Europe—in fact, about as large as Europe and Australia combined. Of this huge continent we do not know even the shape and location of the coast line, except for one long stretch south of Australia and a few widely scattered points elsewhere, while the whole interior, apart from a narrow wedge between Ross sea and the pole, is virtually blank on our maps.

In the arctic a patch of a million square miles is still absolutely untouched. So much for mere surface geography; but, of course, modern polar research includes a wide range of nongeographical problems pertaining to such diverse subjects as geology, glaciology, meteorology, terrestrial magnetism, seismology, oceanography, zoology, botany, physiology, ethnology and archaeology.—Review of Reviews.

Sure to Return.

One morning a merchant whose goods did not very strongly substantiate his advertising claims put out a new sign. He was pleased to see that a great many people stopped to read it, but directly he was puzzled and angered to notice that they all went on, laughing. There was nothing funny about the sign. It merely read:

If You Buy Here Once You Will Come Again.

The merchant went outside in a casual sort of way and glanced at his sign to see what was the matter. Some one, no doubt a former customer, had added another line. It now read:

If You Buy Here Once You Will Come Again To Bring It Back.

How Many Years Will Your Car Last?

Pilgrims at Benares.

Benares, an Indian holy city, is the victim of pilgrimages. Many of the pilgrims are in the last stages of illness and find their way to the city to have their remains cremated on the banks of the Ganges. A large number of hospitals have to be provided for the reception of the sick, and the distinction of being a holy magnet is not greatly appreciated by the residents of the city.—Exchange.

Soft.

"Should a man shave up or down?" asked a youthful clerk, and the barber replied with a grin:

"That depends. When I shave you, for instance, I always shave down."

Why, Indeed?

Very Sweet Words.

"Are there any sweeter words in the English language," musingly inquired Professor Swiggs, "than 'I love you'?" "Well," grimly remarked the pessimistic hearer, "I understand that some authorities regard 'There's that money I owe you' as about the epitome of satisfactory sentences."—New York Globe.

Chinese Cabbage Seed.

Rape seed is termed by the Chinese trade "cabbage seed," while Chinese farmers style it "cabbage oil seed." As grown in Loongwah district, near Shanghai, it yields 200 catties (equal to 1,500 pounds) an acre where the soil is favorable.

Social Scale.

"Pa," said Freddy, "what is a social scale?" "Generally speaking," replied pa, "it's a place where they weigh money."
