

Children's Industrial Fair Premiums, 1914

The fair will be held during the first week of September, 1914, at some convenient point to be determined upon by the committee. The purpose of the fair is to exhibit the work done by the young people of Ashland. It is hoped that the parents and the citizens will give this movement their heartiest support. To make this work a success the co-operation of all parties is desired.

For the product to be eligible in the competition it must be the work of the children, not the grownups. So those in charge are asking that parents and guardians lend their hearty support to the movement and that they insist on the work being done by those competing, otherwise the whole effort is of no service.

PRIZES OFFERED.

- Any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 19 is eligible to contest in the ten state projects. Rules and regulations for these contests may be found in pamphlet issued for the Industrial Clubs by the Oregon Agricultural College. The winner of any of these contests will earn a trip to the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915, all expenses paid for one week. Value about $125.
- Any boy may win a free trip to the State Fair at Salem by being highest in any two of the state contests. Rules and regulations in pamphlet published by Oregon Agricultural College.
- Contests in agricultural, manual training and domestic arts will be made at the County Fair in Medford for such prizes as are offered.
- There will be a large premium list open to all boys and girls of Ashland at the Ashland exhibit in September, 1914.
  - Class A exhibitors include all persons between the ages of 14 and 19.
  - Class B exhibitors include all exhibitors between the ages of 6 and 14.
  - Class C exhibitors for state contests only include those persons who have had more than five months' training in sewing, cooking and manual training. (This does not apply to the fair in Ashland and for it there will be no Class C.)

Rules.

- All persons who are not 19 years old by October 1, 1914, may enter these contests.
- All persons entering the state contests must belong to an Industrial Club.
- All persons entering the fair at Ashland must apply for admission to contest through the schools, preferably the teachers, or committee of fair.
- The agricultural contests must be under the supervision of a committee appointed by the School Board and the presidents of the two Parent-Teacher Associations. This committee shall be judge of the home garden contests and decide whether the regulations of the contest have been observed.
- In Class A the contestant must do all the work. In Class B he must do all the work after the ground has been prepared for seeding. Fertilizer may be used in any quantity satisfactory to the contestant.
- Each contestant in any project must keep a complete record of the work done, including cost and manner of procedure. The record will count not less than 10 per cent in the final award.
- The projects must be open to inspection by members of the managing committee at all times.
- The school garden contests will be under the management of the School Board alone.
- In the garden contests the

BLUEBERRY DESSERTS.

- DINNER MENU.
- Chicken Broth With Rice.
  - Chicken Stew With Egg Sauce.
  - Mashed Potatoes. Asparagus.
  - Coleslaw.
  - Molded Blueberries. Cake.
  - Coffee.

HOT blueberry sauce poured over hot baking powder biscuit or slices of cold bread and butter and put in hot oven for a few minutes till heated through and served with whipped cream makes a very delicious dessert and very easily prepared.

Berries and Cereals.

Rice Pudding With Blueberries.—Make the rice pudding in the usual way, omitting raisins and substituting blueberries.

Molded Blueberries.—To each quart of blueberries add a cupful of sugar and one of water. Stew until every berry is broken, then stir in a box of gelatin which has been soaked in a little water and then melted over hot water. Pour into cups or a mold and serve with whipped cream.

Cake or Pudding.

Baked Blueberry Pudding.—Sift together two cupfuls of flour, half a cupful of sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt, two heaped teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Work into the mixture two tablespoonfuls of soft butter, then add a well beaten egg and a cupful of sweet milk. Beat together then stir in carefully three-fourths of a cupful of blueberries that have been floured so they won't fall to the bottom of the mixture. Bake about thirty minutes.

The above makes a very good pudding. Serve it hot with a hot sweet sauce, or hot blueberry sauce can be poured over it.

With Hot Sauce.

Steamed Blueberry Pudding.—Rub a tablespoonful of butter to a cream. Work it into a cupful of sugar and, adding three beaten eggs, beat light. Sift two cupfuls of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt; add to the sugar and eggs alternately with a cupful of milk until all has been used, then stir in lightly to prevent them breaking two cupfuls of floured blueberries. Turn the mixture into a mold and steam for one and a half hours, then place in the oven for a few minutes to dry off. Serve with a hot sauce.

SOME BYGONE JOYS.

Such as Ash Hoppers, Greased Boots and Attic Bedrooms.

Suet and soapmaking! Also ash hoppers! Alas and alack, that venerable institution is no more. The modern prospectus for rural habitations and accessories provides no place in the landscape for that once indispensable adjunct to farm life and its blessedness.

Dye mind the ash hopper in the back of the house, just around the pulling fence? An inverted pyramid it was, into which the debris from the great fireplace was poured, with buckets of water thrown on the latter or else left to the sweet rains from heaven. Then the lye caught in the old iron kettle with the piece broken out of one side—it was once used for making apple butter. After that, the soap boiling—then the soap. Fine stuff, that soap—the dirt out, all right, and removed the hide, too, if you weren't careful.

But the ash hopper has gone, along with the roller towel, the mackerel kit, hog jowl, red apples and winter turnips. The open fireplace, too, has passed, before which you used to fry on one side, while icicles formed on the other. Nor is there any attic room under the shingles where the boys slept, with pap's old cavalry saddle in one corner and a sickly geranium roosting precariously on the window sill. Nor do we see the old time boots, slicked up with a mixture of mutton tallow and beeswax, which, however, didn't prevent a need for the services of four blacksmiths and a plumber to get 'em off o' nights when the boot-jack failed. And the boot-jack itself—say, when you come to think of it, a department bulletin has got more real sentiment and "insides" between its covers than can be found in Kipling's "Soldiers Three" or than Rossetti ever dreamed of in his visions of Blessed Damozels and that sort of thing. O, you modern housewives!—Washington Post.

committee for that work may adopt its own regulations, which shall be final except when in conflict with these regulations.

- The superintendent of schools suggests that the Ashland boys and girls undertake at least two of the following projects for the state contests:
- Potato growing. Class A 55x100 feet, Class B 50x55 feet.
  - Corn growing. Class A 55x100 feet, Class B 50x55 feet.
  - Manual arts. Any article.
  - Sewing contests. Any article having both hand and machine work. Classes B and C.
  - Canning contest. Class A 10 varieties, Class B 5 varieties, Class C 15 varieties.
  - Garden contest. Classes A and B. Size of plot 25x50 feet.
  - Cooking and baking contest.
- Two only of the ten projects are necessary for competition at the County Fair.
