WHAT CAUSES CRYSTALS?

An Obscure Process That Plays a Large Part in Nature.

In answer to the question, "Will a sudden jar ever cause crystals to appear in a supersaturated solution, or can this be produced only by the introduction of one of the crystals?" Edgar Lucien Larkin in the New York American says:

"Supersaturation and crystal formation are obscure phenomena. Let water dissolve salts until it is supersaturated when perfectly still; then let the containing vessel be suddenly moved, tapped or disturbed; then crystals of the dissolved substances will instantly form. Pure water, distilled, may be put into a closed container and a thermometer placed below the surface.

"Keep the whole very still and the water may be cooled a number of degrees below the freezing—that is, crystallizing—point without crystallizing. Suddenly strike the vessel and the liquid will crystallize. Many solutions of supersaturation will thus behave. "This little understood process underlying the fascinating mathematical science of crystal forming plays a highly important part in nature in the building of solids, of crystalline rocks and general structure of our house—the earth."

A man can never do anything at variance with his own nature. He carries with him the germ of his most exceptional action.—George Eliot.

French Soups.

Lettuce Soup With Stock.—Take one head of lettuce and cut fine strips. This may be done with the kitchen shears or with a knife. Cook until tender in three or four tablespoonfuls of butter, seasoning with salt and pepper. Have one and one-half quarts of veal or chicken stock heating, and to this add one cupful of cream. Thicken with the beaten yolks of two eggs, seasoning with salt and pepper and a tiny dash of grated nutmeg. Add the lettuce to this, blend thoroughly and serve very hot with toast.

Dainty and Nourishing.

Lettuce Purée.—Take about a dozen lettuces (if you have a garden, you can use those which are going to seed), pick apart, cleanse and throw into boiling salted water till they are quite tender. Then drain carefully and pass through a sieve. Dissolve in an enameled lined saucepan two ounces of fresh butter; stir into it one ounce of flour without letting it color. Then by degrees add the puree of lettuce and stir very slowly while cooking for about twenty minutes. Dilute by degrees with good, rich stock till of the right thickness. Season with red pepper and salt and serve with fried croutons of bread.

Season Well.

Plain Lettuce Soup.—Take four heads of lettuce, wash thoroughly and place in boiling salted water. Boil, uncovered, for ten minutes; drain and throw into a dish of cold water. Allow it to remain a few minutes, then drain, chop fine and rub through sieve. Have one quart of hot milk; rub one tablespoonful of butter and two of flour to a paste; add to the hot milk and stir until it thickens. Mix a few spoonfuls of this with the lettuce pulp, stir until blended, and add to the soup. Season to taste with salt and pepper, let simmer about five minutes, uncover and serve with croutons.
