In the Social Realm

Miss Ruth Turner spent her weekend in the city with her mother, Mrs. J. H. Turner.

Miss Alene Bomar and Horace Reno officiated as orchestra at a dance given in Hill Saturday night.

A dance is being planned for Thursday night at the parish house, by several girls of the younger set.

Miss Vivian Greer entertained a number of her friends Friday evening at a little social party. A light lunch of oyster stew and coffee was served. Those present were the Misses Claire Johnson, Helen Scott, Margaret Siemantel, Ruby Palmer and Esther Whited.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Peil entertained Friday evening at a 7 o'clock dinner. The table was beautiful in its appointments and the dinner was most excellent. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. McGowan and Miss Lydia McCall.

Mr. Horace Reeser, a well-known rancher of the Dead Indian country, and Miss Elsie Grubb of this city were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Grubb, on A street, last Thursday afternoon by Rev. H. A. Carnahan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. They will make their home on the Reeser ranch.

Friday evening the freshmen and sophomores held a little dance at the parish house on Second street. The affair was very informal, and as a result everybody had a most enjoyable time. Most of those present were good dancers, as the lower classmen are good along this line, but some of course were just learning and everybody lent their aid toward helping the unskilled to perfect the terpsichorean art. No refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Elna Bailey, Dorothy Stevens, Dorothy Edwards, Gladys Good, Reta Gard, Alice Poor, Margaret Gordon and Dorothy Payne, and the Messrs. Oscar Silver, Meredith Beaver, Mora Bailey, Reed Harrell, Harold Frohbach, Alberta Bryant, Fay Phillips, Darrell Minkler and Sutton. Mrs. Harrell and daughter Ramona, with Miss Madeline Silver, acted as chaperons.

THE CLUB

To the Clubs.

The Tidings asks all of the clubs to co-operate with it for the betterment of the club column. This can be done by each appointing press representatives. The majority of the clubs have done so already, but there are still some card clubs and community societies that have not thus made one of their members a press correspondent. This is done so nothing can escape the attention of the editor. Hand in all items written on just one side of the paper, otherwise the back side must be recycled, which takes a good deal of time and expense.

If you know about a social item, write it up or phone it in, even if the affair did not happen at your home.

The Pleasant Hour Club will meet with Mrs. W. E. Glendenning, 324 Liberty street, on Thursday. The gentlemen's night has been postponed until some time in November.

The Only Dogs in America That Perform on Wheels

Dogs that ride tricycles around the stage at full speed backwards and forwards, and with one foot, better than many human beings can do. They perform the most comic and marvelous tricks possible for a dog to do. Never a dull moment. At the Vining Theatre tonight, Tuesday matinee and Tuesday night.

The Wednesday Afternoon Club will be entertained this week by Mrs. Dr. Parson, assisted by Mrs. F. H. Johnson and Miss Carnahan. Strangers as well as members are cordially invited.

The Merly Circle of the Baptist church will hold their next meeting on Wednesday, November 4, instead of Wednesday of this week as originally announced. The Merly Circle is the social organization of the Baptist Ladies' Aid Society.

Trinity Guild will give their first card party of the season at the parish house Tuesday evening, October 27. Hostesses, Mrs. J. M. Wagner, Mrs. George W. Loosley, Mrs. P. B. Whitney, Mrs. Edward Hill, assisted by Mrs. Joseph G. Hurt and Mrs. Fred D. Wagner. Eight o'clock.

The women's missionary societies of all the different churches have joined ranks, and under the leadership of Mrs. Emma Jack are taking up the study of "The Child in the Midst." Thursday they met at the home of Mrs. Van Sant on Oak street and Mrs. Ferguson discussed child life in China, Japan, India and Persia, which discussion proved very interesting and beneficial. Mrs. Ferguson is particularly well informed, having traveled through all the countries in Europe and Asia. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. W. Caldwell on North Main, the afternoon of November 12.

Mrs. Emma Jack, leader of the Union Missionary Society, at the former meeting at Mrs. McCoy's, requested the class to give answers to the following question: "If you were conducting six mothers' meetings in foreign mission work, what subjects would you take?" The following six are selected from many intelligent answers: Motherhood; Child Training; Evil of Child Marriage; Vain Superstitions; Care of Sick; Cleanliness. Mrs. W. H. Smith was chairman of the committee to make the selections. The other members of the selection committee were Mrs. J. K. Van Sant and Mrs. C. S. Harris.

Summer Residents Leave for South

A. B. Gardner, accompanied by his brother-in-law, C. E. Shaul, of Los Angeles, left for the family home at Santa Ana, Cal., last Friday, in his touring car. Mrs. Gardner and daughter Ruth, also Mrs. Anna Pendleton, left by train Saturday. The family have been living in the Tozer premises on Laurel street the past summer. They came here on account of health considerations and are delighted with conditions around Ashland and intend to return another season. Mr. Gardner is a lumberman of Santa Ana, also vice-president of the Orange County Savings & Trust Company.

Milestones a Play Of Charm, Critic

After enjoying a prosperous engagement of two weeks at the Columbia Theatre, San Francisco, Milestones, the Arnold Bennett-Edward Knoblauch play, comes to the Vining Theatre next Saturday, October 31, for one night. Walter Anthony, dramatic critic of the San Francisco Chronicle, spoke of the play as follows:

"Milestones has withstood the tempestuous usages of three seasons, and is likely to last three times three seasons and still remain young as its last act.

"The Knoblauch-Bennett play was repeated last night at the Columbia Theatre after no longer an absence than the time that has elapsed since last February, when the English company first brought the delicacy in drama to San Francisco. I was not among those who were fortunate enough to have seen the first production of the early year and can attempt no comparative estimate of the worth of the two casts. It is perfectly safe to say that if February's cast was any better than October's it assuredly must have been fabulous.

"Milestones is not a play. It teaches no moral, it establishes no pet theory. It is just a story of constructive vehement youth turning into conservative, stubborn age—it is the story of life wherein each generation comes upon the stage of life's activities to make over and over again the mistakes of previous generations. Dear Gertrude says it all in the second act: 'Oh, what's the use?' sighs the spinster who has become a cheated maid. At the end of the last act old Grandfather John, the impetuous, prophetic inventor in the first act, now turned into a title-loving, conservative old man, says: 'We live and learn.'

"Those are the two themes of Milestones, 'What's the use?' and 'We live and learn.'

"Between these two extremes you have benefited by the charming acquaintance of dear, genuine folk in untheatrical scenes of unforced effectiveness and you will long remember Miss Florence Born, first as the blooming girl cheated of her happiness, then as the spinster and then as the aged woman tottering cane in hand to the rescue of the third generation's happiness. You will recall with no less pleasure Mary Goulden's metamorphosis as Rose Rhead; Rupert Harvey's three ages of John Rhead, and so on through the whole cast of thrice-drawn portraits each more tender and perhaps more true than the last.

"See Milestones, not as a play but as a mirror, wherein perhaps you may glimpse your own face and learn from Knoblauch and Bennett's personified abstractions that there isn't anything of much avail but love and faith."

Booth Will Speak Wednesday Night

Obituary.

Frank Clinton Roberts died at Ashland, Ore., October 22, 1914, of pneumonia, after an illness of nine days, aged 36 years, 4 months and 13 days. He was born near Folsom, Cal., but came with his parents to Jackson county when he was nine years old, but for the last six years has made his home in eastern Oregon, and it was while returning home for a visit he contracted the cold which caused his death. All that loving hearts and willing hands could do was done for him, but the Lord had called him and he had to go. Besides a mother he leaves a brother, E. G. Roberts of Medford, and two sisters, Mrs. E. E. Gall and Mrs. L. O. Van Wegen, both of Ashland, to mourn his loss.

—Miss Calkins is giving a course in story-telling and gymnasium for the children of our city. All are invited. Classes are held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the East Side school; Saturday, 3 p. m., West Side school. Anyone wishing instruction in public speaking and physical training, phone 9-F-2. 39-1f
