EXPERTS CHOSEN TO JUDGE APPLES

Bateham, Hamilton and Thornber Will Pick Winners at Annual Spokane Show.

The committee of judges for the seventh National Apple Show to be held in Spokane the week of November 16, has been announced as follows: A. P. Bateham, former president of the Oregon Horticultural society, senior judge; Charles Hamilton, of North Yakima, chief inspector for the North Pacific Fruit Distributors, and W. S. Thornber, former head of the department of horticulture of the Washington State College.

All members of the committee are thoroughly familiar with the apple industry of the northwest and the varieties that will be entered in competition. A new departure in judging will be put in practice this year. All ribbons will be up, if possible, after the second day of the show, and for the first time in the history of the show the score cards as made up by the judges will be tacked up with the competing exhibits for public examination. This feature of the work, it is believed by the trustees of the show, will add materially to the educational value of the competitions, and exhibitors as well as the general public will be given an opportunity of seeing where the blue ribbon winners excel.

COLLEGE MEN WILL TALK TO GROWERS

Agricultural Schools of Northwest Plan Work at National Apple Show.

The four northwestern agricultural colleges will have extensive exhibits at the seventh National Apple Show which will be held in Spokane November 16 to 21.

Reservations have been made by the horticultural departments of Washington State College, University of Idaho, Oregon Agricultural College and University of Montana.

Manager Gordon C. Corbaley has extended special privileges to these schools, and their exhibits will be located at the left of the main entrance to the big show. They will utilize over 3,000 square feet of space with graphic illustrations of the horticultural work done by their respective institutions.

Each school will have special representatives on the ground to explain exhibits and answer questions of the growers. Many of the men in charge will take part in the discussions of the fruit products congress, furnishing lectures and special talks on different orchard problems.

SEEK CHAMPION MAKERS OF PIES

Three Big Contests Planned by National Apple Show.

Fortunate maids and matrons who are able to make delicious apple pies are being eagerly sought by the trustees of the seventh National Apple Show which will be held in Spokane the week of November 16.

A considerable sum of money is offered as prizes for the best apple pies exhibited at the show. This year there are three apple pie contests open to housewives, high school students and a special for women outside of Spokane county.

In each of the three classes there will be three lots, with first prize of $5 for the winner, $2.50 for second, $1.50 for third and $1 for fourth honors. The lots include the best apple pie made from fresh apples; the best pie made from canned apples and the best pie made from dried apples.

In each entry the recipe must accompany and be a part of the exhibit, and the prize winning recipes will be published in the Apple Annual which the show will issue for distribution throughout the United States and Canada. Every baker of a prize pie will be given credit for her prowess in this publication.

APPLES ARE RICH IN FOOD VALUES

This Will Be Shown At The National Apple Show.

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away."
"Apples contain as great food values as meat."
"Health's best way—eat an apple every day."
"School children should eat more apples and less glucose."
These and other facts will be brought out clearly and emphasized at the seventh National Apple Show to be held at Spokane the week of November 16, as a part of the educational side of the show.

A SOLAR ECLIPSE

When Totality Occurs Nature Takes on an Awesome Aspect.

A total eclipse of the sun is a wonderful sight. Where the eclipse is but partial the disk of the moon will creep across the face of the sun little by little, but will never completely obscure the orb. But where "totality" occurs the sun at a given moment will be entirely obliterated and the inhabitants of the regions across which the black band will stretch will perceive the most wonderful phenomenon known to astronomers—the display of the "corona" of the sun.

Great waves of incandescent gas hundreds of thousands of miles long, reaching out from the sun into the ether, will be perceived. The countryside will take on a sinister, night gray color, and tints of nature will pale and deepen as at twilight, the temperature will diminish sensibly, the birds, believing night has come, will cease their song and seek their nests. A person who has never seen this strange manifestation of nature cannot form any idea of its awesome aspect.

This eclipse is a recurring phenomenon. At the end of every period of eighteen years and eleven days the moon comes between the earth and the sun at just such an angle that the sun's light is completely shut off from a portion of the world and partially shut off from a much larger part.—New York World.

A BILLION DOLLARS.

The Time It Would Take an Expert to Count Them Singly.

I wonder if we realize when we talk of a billion dollars what an enormous sum of money it means?

We all know how rapidly an expert counter of coins will manipulate them. You can scarcely follow the motion of his fingers as he shifts the coins from one pile to another and counts them. The treasury experts will count 4,000 silver dollars in an hour and keep it up all day long, but that is their limit.

Working eight hours a day, then, an expert counter of coins will count 32,000 silver dollars in a day, but how long will it take him at that rate to count $1,000,000? Thirty-one days.

But that is only the beginning of the measurements of great figures, for if this same man were to go on counting silver dollars at the same rate of speed for ten years he would find that he had only counted 100,000,000 of them and that to count 1,000,000,000 would require 102 years of steady work at the rate of eight hours a day during every working day of every one of the 102 years.—O. P. Austin, Former Chief of Bureau of Statistics.

Wind and the Sun.

Wind does not always go down with the sun, but may blow from high to low after sunset. If wind starts to fill up a low pressure area before sunset it is liable to keep pouring in until it is filled and equilibrium restored. If wind stops exactly at instant of sunset one may rest assured that the area of barometrical depression is filled. If it does the cause is that at sunrise the sun's radiant energy heats the land more than it does the water. The land warms the air, increases its rarity, and it rises, producing a lower pressure area, and cooler air from over the ocean rushes in to fill it. After sunset land cools in less time than the water, and the direction of flow is reversed. But this may not always occur. Local causes, as fog, saturation of air, electrical conditions and others may prevent.—New York Journal.

Sometimes Happens So.

The family had gone off for their holiday in a taxi. Twenty minutes later the taxi snorted back up the road.

"Forgotten the tickets?" cried a neighbor.

"No," said the irate householder, "but my wife's just remembered that she's left a kettle boiling on the gas stove."

He dived into the house and came back the next moment with a ghastly calm on his face.

"All right now?" said the neighbor cheerily.

"Right! I'd forgotten that I'd turned the gas off at the meter, and now we've two hours and a half to wait for the next train."—Glasgow Dispatch.

Father of the Dreadnought.

To the late Admiral Cuniberti, member of the Italian naval engineering staff, is due the credit of having suggested the modern Dreadnought. It was he, also, who suggested the modern type of scout, and he was one of the first to study the question of the application of liquid fuel to marine boilers. It was his influence which led to the adoption of this fuel in the Italian torpedo boat service.

Making Sure of Her Sleep.

"I knew you were coming tonight to call on my sister," said dear little Jimmy.

"How did you know?" inquired Mr. Neverdo.

"Because sis has been asleep all the afternoon."

Encouraging.
