Baker Herald—the state legislature has a few problems worth considering. If they handle these as they should the public will allow them to pass up the others. Baker has organized a county humane society.

STRUCT REGULATIONS TO PROTECT FARMERS

Rigid regulations for commission merchants are prescribed in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Blanchard of Josephine county. The bill amends the present law relating to commission merchants and provides for the transfer of jurisdiction over them from the state railroad commission to the secretary of state. Provision is made that before a commission merchant can engage in business he must obtain a license and give a bond that he will faithfully report to all persons consigning horticultural, agricultural and viticultural produce and farm products to him, and promptly pay to each the proceeds of all sales after deducting a commission of not more than 5 per cent on carload lots, and 10 per cent on smaller lots, and actual disbursements connected with the sale of the produce. Further it is provided that immediately upon the receipt of a consignment of any article a commission merchant shall make a detailed report to the consignee of its condition, and the market price, and that he shall submit such reports until it reaches the retailer. The license fee is fixed at $10, and the secretary of state may increase the bond whenever he sees fit. If a commission merchant fails to make these reports his license may be revoked, and if the consignee has sustained a loss he may recover on the bond. In addition the commission merchant may be convicted of a misdemeanor. For any licensed commission merchant to receive any produce knowing that he is insolvent is made a felony, and the penalty is a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment in the penitentiary not exceeding two years, or both.

City Owns Houses On Boulevard

Chairman Ware of a special committee consisting of Ware, Biegel and Cornelius reported at the council meeting upon the matter of the two houses on the Boulevard which have recently become the property of the city. The places in question lie, one at the flatiron at the corner of Iowa street and the Boulevard where the voting place for the district was formerly, the other directly back of it and facing on the Boulevard. The owners were unable to pay the pavement assessment and the property reverted to the city. Mr. Ware recommended that $300 insurance be placed upon the smaller building and $1,200 upon the larger. He also said that while the larger was at present renting for $5 per month and would continue to bring in this amount if about $100 were spent in repairs, that if about $700 were spent the house could be modernized and made into an attractive residence which should rent for between $12 and $15 per month. The house would then sell for $2,500 or $3,000 under ordinary conditions. This proposition was favorably received by the council and will be definitely decided at the next meeting.

WANTS OLD PETITIONS IN VAULTS DESTROYED

A resolution giving the secretary of state authority to destroy all initiative and referendum petitions on file in his office relating to measures which have been submitted to the people and defeated, and also all petitions for the nomination of candidates, who have been defeated, was introduced in the house by Representative Davey of Harney county. The reason for the introduction of the resolution is that there are many of these documents stored in the state house and taking up much space which could be used for other purposes.

SCHUMANN-HEINK WILL REST FOR ONE YEAR

Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the singer, is at her home in Grossmont, near San Diego, to remain, she says, at least a year. Her tour for this season was canceled owing to a threatened attack of pneumonia.

Doctors Perform Delicate Surgery

Within the last week there have been a number of very intricate and critical surgical operations performed at the Jarvis & Boslough Sanitarium in Ashland—some of them of a nature seldom attempted. Chief among them was the case of A. W. Stone of Medford, on whom the doctors performed a gastroenterostomy on Monday of this week. Literally, this operation is the making of a new passageway from the stomach. Mrs. A. E. Whitney, an Ashland resident for the past year, underwent an operation on Sunday for cancer of the stomach in which part of that organ was removed. Mrs. A. W. Redifer is in the Sanitarium awaiting a serious brain operation. This Wednesday Miss Beasie Way of Sacramento will undergo a minor operation and Mrs. Charles Boynton of Hill one for appendicitis—these two receiving only spinal anaesthesia, no general anaesthesia being employed.

LIVESTOCK SANITARY BOARD HAS ENEMIES

The abolition of the State Livestock Sanitary Board is contemplated in a bill introduced by Representative Olds of Yamhill county. This board was created at the 1913 session of the legislature, a bill creating it being passed over the veto of Governor West. It consists of seven members, and they are empowered to appoint a veterinarian. Law creating it carried a continuing annual appropriation of $25,000.

ECONOMY PLEDGES IN HOUSE ARE SET ASIDE

The Oregon house after nearly two days of discussion forgot the pledges of economy made before the session opened and threw the doors wide open by allowing each member of the house to appoint a clerk or stenographer. While independent members put up a hard battle for the Eaton plan and at times it appeared as though the whole house intended to redeem the pledges made for economy, a majority of the members finally lined up with the senate organization and adopted the senate plan. This came after the house in committee of the whole had adopted the Eaton plan of hiring clerks and stenographers for groups of members, thereby reducing the number used far below those of the past. But Eaton, after winning that victory, threw it away by introducing other amendments to the report of the committee on rules, and the organization forces rallied their men, and in the final vote the rule was adopted, giving each member a clerk or a stenographer. President Sellag supported Eaton's measure, saying that he believed the amendment was in favor of economy, and the house should begin its program of economy at home.

YEARLY TONNAGE TAX ON MOTOR VEHICLES

An annual tonnage tax on motor vehicles engaged in the transportation of freight, express, passengers and baggage, and limiting the loads to be hauled, is provided for in a measure introduced by Representative Lewis in the house. Further, the bill requires that on registering with the secretary of state the owner shall furnish a statement that the vehicle is not to be operated in the interest of any railroad, street car line or boat line for the purpose of eliminating independent competition with such railroad, street car or boat line. The license fee provided for is based on the carrying capacity of the car. After the necessary incidental expenses are deducted, the fees are to be turned over by the state treasurer to the county clerks and to become a part of the county road fund. Owners of the vehicles covered by the act must also file with the secretary of state a statement showing the points between which they operate and the number of trips to be made weekly. The loads prescribed vary with the size of the tire of the vehicles.

AERIAL TRAIL BREAKING.

Amazing Speed and Endurance of the Wild Swan in Flight. It is impossible for one who has seen only the common mute swans floating about in the artificial lakes of city parks to imagine the grandeur of a flock of the great whistlers in their wild state. In "Wild Life and the Camera" Mr. A. R. Dugmore says the sight is one of the most impressive in nature. As the huge birds rise into the air it seems as if an aerial regatta were being sailed overhead, the swans, each with a wing spread of six or seven feet, moving like yachts under full sail. Once the swans are fairly under way their speed is amazing, nearly a hundred miles an hour, and that, too, with no apparent effort, for the slow wing motion is very deceiving. Their endurance is as surprising as their speed, for they are said to travel a thousand miles without alighting. The flocks are usually led by an old and experienced swan, and it is said that as one becomes tired of leading, or it might be called aerial trail breaking, his place is taken by another whose strength is equal to the task, and so they continue until they reach their destination, the southern feeding grounds of the winter or the northern breeding places of the summer. Occasionally they stop to rest in the region of the great lakes. Not many years ago, while on their way north, a large number stopped above Niagara falls, and more than a hundred were by some extraordinary mischance carried over the falls and killed in the surging waters. Whether the swans prepare in any special way for their southward journey is not known, but before starting north they indulge in the curious habit known as "ballasting"—that is to say, they eat great quantities of sand, for what purpose no one knows. In the faraway Arctic ocean is their breeding place, and it is believed that they mate for life. As with so many of the water birds, the swans protect their eggs with a covering of down scratched from their own breasts, so that when the birds leave the nest the two to six large, yellowish eggs are hidden from the eyes of possible thieves and protected against any sudden changes of temperature. It is many years before the swans are clothed in the feathers of immaculate whiteness that make them such conspicuous objects of beauty. Not, indeed, until the fifth year does all trace of gray disappear. Their first feathers are entirely gray. Gradually they lighten, becoming mottled with white, the neck and head remaining gray until after the body is completely white.

What Shell Fire is Like.

I have read many attempts to describe shell fire in a battle, but not one to equal the easy description of this young officer, who does not pretend to be a stylist. Listen: "You hear a boom miles away, hardly audible in the distance. Then a faint sigh, gradually rising to a scream as the shell whizzes toward you. Then a flash, an immense crash and the air is filled with thousands of bullets and jagged lumps of iron, each making a different sort of shrieking noise. Then phit-phit-phit everywhere as they hit the ground. "This is shrapnel."—London Sketch.

A Regular Gadder.

A lady bought some furniture at an auction sale in Glasgow the other day. On paying the porter she remarked: "Had I known how dirty that furniture was I would not have bought it." "Weel, ma'am," replied the porter, "it wis the dirtiest noose I ever saw; but, there, whit cud ye expect—the misters wis only 'at home' every Tuesday. Ah ken it'er a fac,' cause I read it on a calrd I gat in that drawer there."—Glasgow News.

The Sick Man of the East.

The phrase "the sick man of the east" originated in a speech of Czar Nicholas to the British charge d'affaires at St. Petersburg at the time of the Crimean war. He said: "We have on our hands a sick man, a very sick man. It would be a great misfortune if one of these days he should slip away from us before the necessary arrangements have been made."—Argonaut.

Modern Apartments Are Called For

Several letters have been received by the Commercial Club asking concerning renting modern furnished apartments for the summer. Secretary Seager says that such apartments are mighty few at the present time, but hopes that by summer there will be a larger number. This is an opportunity which should be profitable to someone as we must realize that Ashland will have goodly numbers of visitors of this sort during the coming season.

The loading of the trucks will be done by steam shovels at the expense of Jackson county. The County Court reserves the right to reject any or all bids. G. A. GARDNER, County Clerk. 69-4t

HOME-MADE MEDICINE

Best and Cheapest for Coughs

Most persons neglect a cough or cold for the principal reason that they either don't think it serious enough to go to a doctor, or don't know what good medicine to buy at a drug store, with the result that the cough or cold becomes deep-seated, through this neglect and hangs on the whole winter—which might have otherwise been speedily cured, had Schiffmann's Concentrated Expecto-rant been used promptly. This new remedy is so strongly concentrated that two ounces (50 cents' worth) make a full pint (16 oz.) of excellent cough medicine, by simply mixing it at home with one pint of granulated sugar and 1/2 pint of water. It makes a whole family supply, as much as would ordinarily cost from $2.00 to $3.00 for the same quantity of the old, ordinary, ready-made kind of sticky harmful merit. It is prepared from the most harmless plants and is so pleasant that children like to take it and it can be given them with perfect safety as it positively contains no chloroform, opium, morphine, or other narcotics, as do most cough mixtures. No risk whatever is run in buying this remedy as drug store named below will refund money if it does not give perfect satisfaction or is not found to be the very best remedy you have ever used for stubborn Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough and Hoarseness.
