Former Ashlander Dies in Montana

A. T. Kyle, who died at Great Falls Montana on January eighteenth was at one time one of the most active business men in Ashland. He came here as a young man more than thirty years ago and acted as operator on the old government telegraph line which was installed in 1873, on account of the Modoc war, to connect Klamath Falls and Forts Klamath and Bidwell with the outside world at Ashland.

In later years Mr. Kyle interested himself in mines and was the man who effected the original sale of the old Ashland Mine to a Portland company represented by Mr. Wilson, who afterward became superintendent of the mine and a resident of Ashland. By putting this deal through, Mr. Kyle earned a substantial commission which put him on "easy street," so to speak.

Mr. Kyle was married here to Miss Hargadine, a sister of George and Charles Hargadine. It was through his agency, later on, that 5000 acres of the old Hargadine tract—lying high on the slopes of Old Grizzly northeast of the city—were sold to Ben Selling, now speaker of the Oregon House, and his friend Joe Simon, former United States senator. They still hold the land—and probably will until the culture of goats in this region becomes much more extensive than at present. In regard to Mr. Kyle's death a Great Falls paper says:

"A. T. Kyle, one of the well-known citizens of Great Falls, and also one of the large property owners, died at his home in this city January eighteenth after a long illness. Mr. Kyle was one of the pioneers of Great Falls, and for years was engaged in the real estate and insurance business. He accumulated considerable property in the business district in the early days, and enjoyed the increase in value that the recent development of the city made. Mr. Kyle's last illness was an attack of dropsy and he had been confined to his home for many weeks. He is survived by his wife."

You ride on Velvet when you ride on Diamonds
 That's true in a double sense

In the first place the records of Diamond Service for 1914 show that more than 99% of the many thousands of Diamond Tires sold lasted much longer—went much farther—than the guarantee called for.

More than 99% of the hundreds of thousands of Diamond Tires in use last year gave more mileage than the purchasers paid for.

Every mile beyond that which the buyer expected was velvet for him.

In addition to the extraordinary mileage and freedom from trouble that you get in Diamond Squeegee Tread Tires, you can now buy them at the following

"FAIR-LIST" PRICES:

Size	Diamond Squeegee	Size	Diamond Squeegee
30 x 3	$ 9.45	34 x 4	$20.35
