

Insane Traveler Raises Hubbub

Considerable agitation was caused in local police and railroad circles over the troubles of John Boese, a gentleman of German extraction from Portland whose mental balance is much doubted by the authorities. Boese was put off the train here Friday on account of his ticket being valueless. It came out that he had bought the ticket from some obliging person in San Francisco for the trifling sum of $10, which seemed quite cheap to Boese for a ticket from the California metropolis to Portland. When the ticket was found to be worthless Boese went into all kinds of conniption fits and tore up his bank book and everything belonging to him. Dr. Jarvis, who can speak German as well as the kaiser himself, met the unfortunate man at the station here and with the help of George Kramer the matter was unraveled. Boese has several hundred dollars in a Portland bank and telegraphed for a sufficient amount to cover lodging over night here and his ticket to Portland. He was housed at the Sanitarium, but went down to the depot early Saturday afternoon and began acting in an unaccountable manner. The chief of police was summoned and arrived on the scene on action accompanied by Sheriff Singler, who happened to be in town. They found the man to be apparently insane and upon their arrival he was playing in the middle of the street like a three-year old. He didn't like the looks of Chief Porter's uniform and took pains to make him aware of the fact. The officers brought him uptown, and while they were unlocking the city cooler their victim decided he would rather stay outdoors for a while and made a break up the hill toward the Chautauqua building with the police force at his heels. Sheriff Singler managed to catch him and he was taken to Jacksonville and is now confined in a padded cell in the county jail. An examination will be made and officers will be called from Salem to take charge of the supposedly insane man. The man was entirely rational at times and his true condition was not suspected until his outbreak on Saturday.

MOTHER OF ASHLAND WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Maria Glass, aged 87 years, widow of John Glass, died on Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. J. Cole, in Evans City. On Sunday of last week Mrs. Glass fell and fractured the bone of her hip, from which injury she did not recover. The deceased was born in Canonsburg and after her marriage she moved to the oil country. During the Pithole oil excitement her husband was frightfully burned in a gas explosion and after his recovery the family removed to Chicora, where they conducted the hotel known as the Glass House for several years. Later she came to Butler and conducted a grocery store for a time, but after the death of her husband she made her home with her children. She was a member of the United Presbyterian church and was a faithful Christian. Surviving are three sons, Joseph Glass of Renfrew, George Glass of Chicora and William Glass of Carnegie, and three daughters, Mrs. E. J. Cole of Evans City, Mrs. J. J. Leddecker of Butler and Mrs. C. A. Ellason of Ashland, Ore. Services were conducted by Rev. Edwin McClintock, pastor of the Evans City United Presbyterian church, on Tuesday afternoon and the interment was in North cemetery.

Booster Banquet Friday Evening

Preparations are going forward with a rush for the monster booster banquet planned for Friday evening of this week. A program of short, snappy speeches and good musical numbers is being arranged and a live time is promised. Tickets may be obtained at the Commercial Club from the secretary and all live Ashlanders are requested to get in line. The Civic Improvement Club ladies will turn out in great numbers and it is up to the men of Ashland to get busy and not let the ladies carry the entire load of boosting for Ashland. Friday evening at the Elks Club banquet room in the basement of the Elks building. Be there and bring your friends.

Buy Young Trees For Planting Now

The ladies of the Civic Improvement Club still have about four hundred trees on hand on the west side of the Chautauqua building and urge Ashland people to come and select some for planting along the park rows and in yards. They have on hand 200 mulberry trees about four feet high, which will be sold for 5 cents; 100 hundred elm trees nine and ten feet high, which will be sold for 15 cents apiece, and 100 catalpa trees four feet high for 5 cents apiece.

Must Keep Chickens Closely Pinned Up

The chief of police of the city of Ashland wishes to announce that the ordinance prohibiting the running of chickens at large will be enforced rigidly from now on. The garden season having arrived, it is imperative that chickens be kept pinned up. Chicken owners who fail to keep their fowls out of their neighbors' yards will have to suffer the penalty inflicted by the ordinance.

Obituary.

L. Miksch received a telegram on Sunday afternoon from Iona, telling his of the death of his mother on the farm where she has lived since 1865. She was born in Tuscaranda county, Ohio, on May 7, 1820. She was therefore almost 95 years old at the time of her death. She was the mother of fourteen children, ten of whom survive her.

A Good Advertiser Can Sell Good Property—Any Time, Anywhere

He must keep his ad at work. It must be THERE when the possible buyer looks—and he might not look more than one day out of ten. Of course, he might see and investigate it on its first publication, or, perhaps, the fifth or sixth time it appears. The good advertiser knows that, however persistent a campaign may be required, the cost will be an easily forgettable thing when the sale is made!

1915 Rose Festival Receives Work of Art from Famous Oregon Boy.

Portland's 1915 Rose Festival has a unique poster—the most artistic ever used and it is the work of an Oregon boy, Fred G. Cooper, now one of the world's foremost artists. His father, J. C. Cooper, of McMinnville, Oregon, wrote the winning slogan, "The Whole World Knows the Portland-Rose." At his father's personal request young Cooper donated the poster to incorporate the slogan. Portland has cooperated with Seattle, Tacoma, Walla Walla and Spokane in securing conventions that will bring more than 250,000 visitors to Washington and Oregon.
