Valley View School.

The Valley View school, which is situated two and one-half miles east of Ashland and taught by Mrs. H. R. Reichart, gave a very interesting program at the school house last Saturday evening. The entertainment was about one and one-half hours long and was of rather unusual merit, considering that there are only six pupils in school, and shows the result of very careful training on the part of the teacher. About forty people of the neighborhood were in attendance. The program was as follows:

Vacation Song School
Johnny's History Lesson School
Song of Summer Arthur Hill
The Bear Story (Riley) School
..... Leona Lennox
When the Teacher Gets Cross
..... Freida Hanson
Solo, I Throw a Kiss to Papa
..... Rosina Gallatin
Dialogue, The Awakening of Spring
A Little Boy's Troubles School
..... Georgia Low
The Drum Song School
The Spelling Match
..... Elizabeth Lennox
Song, History Dates School
The Moo Cow Moo Rosina Gallatin
Operetta, Under the Ground School

Georgia Low
This school is planning on a "Go to School Day" on May 17, at which time the patrons and others will have an opportunity to see the work the school is doing, and if there are outside visitors they will have a chance to hear some of the foregoing selections reproduced. Not only has the Valley View school done the regular school work this year, but the teacher has taught the pupils vocal music so that the singing is excellent. The warm lunch has been another feature of this interesting school and the story is here appended in the words of Miss Elizabeth Lennox:

"We saw in the Normal Instructor that a country school in Nebraska was having warm lunches. One day it was suggested that we have them. The first thing that we had was potato soup. That was a success. We each brought something so we kept on having warm lunches. One day we had mashed potatoes, another day boiled beans and so on. We had these warm lunches until about March 17. Our stove is not suitable to cook on as it has a rounding top. But we propped the kettle on with rocks. I hope that other schools will try warm lunches and get as much fun out of it as we did."

"Roaring Camp."

Gold Hill will stage an entertainment and celebration which they have named "Roaring Camp" in '52," on next Saturday afternoon. The affair is being handled by the Greater Gold Hill Club and will be a reproduction of the mining camp of the '50s. Gambling joints, saloons, dance halls and many other features are planned, all under the direction of prominent citizens, and a uproarious evening is anticipated. Special "gold nugget" currency will be issued and will be good anywhere in the camp. The celebration has many unique features and will no doubt draw big crowds.

Union Social.

Some two hundred and sixty young folks took possession of the Moose hall Friday evening, being invited by the social committee of the City Union, and from the sounds of mirth and music which floated out upon the still night air it may safely be inferred that they were enjoying a mighty good time. The guests were first tagged and bunched according to their native states, after which they took turns in giving yells and songs, each group endeavoring to prove the superiority of their section by making the loudest and liveliest demonstration. Next came laughable bottle and egg races, Prof. Moore getting away with the latter and a quiet of Oregon webfooters winning the former. At 10 o'clock the dining room was filled with high school students and served with cake, coffee, salad, sandwiches and olives, the tables being decorated with roses and pansies. The tables reserved for the seniors was tastefully decorated with the class colors. With J. O. Riggs acting as umpire, Audry Redifer responded to the toast, "The Purpose;" Leith Abbott, "The High School;" S. A. Peters, "The Church;" E. O. Smith, "The Social." The last speaker said that the purpose of such socials as the one which they were then enjoying was to show how church people could have as good a time together as anybody, disproving the old idea that religious folks are a sober, long-faced lot. The speeches were brief and to the point, eliciting hearty applause. While the first division was enjoying physical and intellectual refreshments, the remaining guests were playing games and listening to piano and violin music from the skillful fingers of Fern Upton and Marie Holmes. After all had eaten and played and visited to their heart's content, the remainder of the food was gathered up and taken to the Fourth Street Mission. The singing of several high school songs with the boundless enthusiasm of youth added much to the gaiety of the occasion. The affair was successfully managed by Miss Silva Brown, assisted by capable lieutenants from all the leading churches of the city.

Entertain Neighborhood Friends.

Last Wednesday evening Mrs. Ferguson, assisted by Mrs. Jack, gave a very delightful party to some of their neighborhood friends. The evening was spent in playing unique and enjoyable games and story telling, after which ice cream and cake were served. The invited guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Hays, P. L. Ashcraft, J. W. Burner, E. Finley, Charles Ganiere, J. Younker, Carey, Mr. Charles Ramsey, Mr. T. H. Hudson, Mrs. Hadfield, Misses Alice Finley and Amy Ramsey.

Music Teachers' Convention.
Mrs. Frank D. Black of Seattle, daughter of Prof. H. G. Gilmore of this city, is to participate in the June convention of the Northwest Music Teachers' Association, to be held at Tacoma June 16-19. From its inception this association has been an inspiration to music teachers of the Pacific northwest. Mrs. Black has been a frequent visitor here. She possesses musical and literary abilities of a high order and a number of sacred and secular solos, anthems and quartets have been placed to her credit as composed. Another of Prof. Gilmore's daughters, Mrs. Mark B. Stevens of Detroit, is a gifted musician, excelling as an accompanist, and in this capacity has appeared with such celebrities as Gadske, Fritz, Kriestler, Madame Holzer, Herr Hartmann and others. Mrs. Black's appearance on the formal program of the Tacoma gathering will be in the role of a pianist in a range of selections embracing her own compositions as well as the work of others.

In Honor of Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Casey entertained at five hundred Thursday evening at their First avenue home. The guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Martin of Portland. Five tables were filled and a delightful succession of games enjoyed. Mr. B. Beach won the first prize, a collection of postcard views of local scenes, Mr. Frank Jordan took consolation honors and received another package of cards, which, however, were of such a comic nature as to relieve any grief which he may have felt. Dainty refreshments were served. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Robert M. Martin, J. R. Casey, B. Beach, C. H. Veghte, Frank Jordan, N. G. Bates, C. H. Hargadine, George Ogg, Mrs. G. H. Coffee, Mrs. F. B. Mix, Miss Georgia Coffee, Miss Helene Casey, Mary Virginia Hargadine, Mr. H. G. Eastman and Mr. Willard Veghte.

Family Reunion.

Mrs. Lou N. Case, mother of Mrs. F. D. Wagner, who resides here with her daughter, and who has been visiting relatives in California for some time past, is about to participate in a family reunion down near Los Angeles before returning home in July. Three of her sisters, Mesdames Johnson, Meek and Crandall of Denver, will join her at Venice, near Long Beach, where they have rented a cottage for the temporary homecoming. Other relatives will also join them there. Mrs. Case visited with her daughter, Mrs. Ida Storch, at Fresno while on the way south.

Entertains Friends.

Miss Rossetta Reames entertained a number of her friends at her home at Ashland Wednesday evening. Those who were present were Misses Gertrude Brien, Gladys Perdian, Mabele Neils, Grace Beckwith, Florence Henders, Edith and Elsie Olson of Medford, Messrs. Carl Tanbold, Ray Carver, Sterling Boone, Willard Foote, Russell Lee, Frank O'Riley and Wallace Danks. The evening was spent in music and games, after which a three-course luncheon was served and all expressed themselves as having had a good time.—Medford Sun.

Teachers and Others.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCoy entertained the teachers of the West Side school and several other invited guests last Wednesday evening at their hospitable home on Almond street. A very jolly evening resulted from the intermingling of the school-ma'ams and those from commoner walks of life. Ghost stories were demanded from each of the guests, but even the most weird tales of murder and spooks failed to dampen the spirits of the party. Delicious refreshments were served.

Governor Sets Good Roads Day

The following proclamation has been issued by Governor Withycombe:

"Whereas, Good roads are one of the prime foundations upon which our prosperity is builded; and,

"Whereas, I am firmly convinced that road improvement is the wisest investment Oregon can make; and,

"Whereas, Better roads are desirable not only because they are beneficial from a commercial standpoint, but also because they promote social community development and increase our civic pride, and, further, as they are the most valuable kind of encouragement and advertising in the eyes of the stranger who travels through the state; and,

"Whereas, It is highly desirable to encourage interest in good roads and to foster in every way possible a statewide enthusiasm for the betterment of our highways;

"Therefore, I do hereby proclaim Thursday, May 29, 1915, as Oregon Good Roads day, and call upon all forward-looking citizens of this state to devote their energies on that day towards personal improvement of the roads in their locality, and to cooperate, one with the other, in working out road betterment plans. And I further suggest that on that day, so far as practicable, the gospel of good roads be spread in all our educational institutions, and that the school children themselves be encouraged to assume their share of highway improvement; and that especially the women of Oregon organize and take a part in the work of the Good Roads day, as their interest and assistance will be vital in making it a notable success."
