Oscar and Ernest Cooper visited their uncle, William Benedict, at Jacksonville last week. They found "Uncle Bill" picking strawberries for market and telf in glowing terms of the strawberries and cream they enjoyed.

Deputy Game Warden Walker states that the filling of proceedings against the Rogue River Public Service Corporation for blockading the fishway at the Ament dam has started the construction of a temporary fishway around the obstruction.

Practically every business house in Klamath Falls will be closed on Thursday, when Klamath county people will carry out Governor Withycombe's Good Roads day proclamation by putting in a day of volunteer labor on the roads and highways of the county.

The May term of the circuit court will open at Jacksonville next Monday, May 17. There will be a session of the grand jury. Four criminal cases will be called. The term bids fair to be the shortest in the history of Jackson county, there being a short criminal and civil docket.

Sunday was quieter than usual, the autoists who make Ashland their Sabbath day Mecca being kept at home by the threatening weather. A number of parties braved the danger of getting wet, however, and the park was far from deserted. A number of Medford people picnicked in the park during the day.

Ashland streets presented an almost metropolitan appearance Saturday afternoon and traffic congestion was threatened at busy corners several times during the afternoon. The carloads of visiting Ohioans added to the usual number of Saturday out-of-town visitors filled the streets.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Ashland Mineral Springs Natatorium A. H. Pracht was chosen manager for the season which is now about to open. Mr. Pracht has had much experience in the management of business concerns that cater to the public and it is the general opinion that a better selection could hardly have been made.

Several local parties are planning to attend the Applegate picnic the last of the month. A varied program will be given. The entire morning will be spent in field sports for the school children of that section. The afternoon will be taken up with miscellaneous contests for young and old. Governor James Withycombe will be the principal speaker.

Gypsies created a reign of terror in Grants Pass last week. One man was held up by three of the gypsy women and relieved of eight dollars. Part of the same party tried a like stunt on a woman but were bested. Shoplifting and petty thievery seemed to come as second nature to the wanderers. The party will ship their outfit from Grants Pass to South Dakota, according to reports.

Activities Many at Local High School

Tennis Matches.

An unknown resident of the city has offered six tennis rackets and prizes and a tournament will be held on the high school courts, open to any student, this week. The high school contains some first-class tennis players and some hotly contested matches are anticipated.

Typewriting Tests.

Fifteen members of the typewriting class have passed the forty-word test and are qualified for certificates in the department. Miss Brower has passed the sixty-word test. Some of the shorthand students have made good speed records.

Annual Rogue Friday.

The final issue of the high school paper will come off the press Friday. It will be bigger than the preceding numbers and only a limited number of copies will be printed.

Student-Body Officers.

Milton Fraley of the class of 1916 will be student-body president as a result of the election held last week. Leith Abbott was elected senior vice-president, John Finneran junior vice, Percy Blackstone sophomore vice, and Clarence Spencer freshman vice, Margaret Ames secretary, Fern Murphy editor of the annual, and Fred Engle Alumni treasurer.

Second Annual H. S. Day.

The annual high school day was observed in a fitting manner last Friday afternoon. A large attendance of townspeople attended the exercises held in the assembly room of the high school building. The program consisted of selections by the high school orchestra, vocal solos by Miss Nellie Peachey and Percy Blackstone. With appropriate ceremony the senior banner was presented to the junior class by President Ashcraft, President Harris of the lower class receiving the emblem. The exercises ended with the singing of "Where, Oh Where," the old song dear to the heart of every high school graduate, which is sung by the school in farewell to the senior at the end of every school year.

After the exercises an interclass track meet was held on the athletic field, followed by a baseball game between Ashland and Grants Pass.

Worldwide Ball.

The Canadian troops in the European war are playing baseball at every opportunity. Whenever relief from the trenches gives them a chance a ball is hunted up and a game started. Soldiers from other countries pick up the game readily and are enthusiastic over it. Baseball was spread all over the United States by the soldiers returning from the Civil War who had learned the game while at the front. It is quite possible that the great European war may have the same effect.

Ashland High Wins One and Loses One

The Ashland high school baseball team lost to Grants Pass Friday and won Saturday on the local diamond, thus evening up the series, each team having won a game at Grants Pass previously.

On Friday the game was played in an almost continuous drizzle of rain, but despite the wet weather was as fine an exhibition of the national game as has been witnessed in Ashland for some years. Cornell, the Grants Pass pitcher, was the whole show for the visitors, holding the locals to three hits and striking out fifteen men. This lad is some pitcher for a high school team and seems to have almost everything. Harris for the locals struck out twelve men, but the Pass boys bunched their hits at critical moments for their six runs. Ashland got several men on bases but could not touch Cornell in the tight places. Hansen, the visiting catcher, ranks alongside "Gravy" Plymate of the locals as a finished receiver and cut off several attempted steals. The game was comparatively free from errors.

On Saturday the locals walloped Ainsworth of the visitors all over the lot and piled up fifteen runs while holding the lower valley team to one run. Cornell went back into the box in the fifth inning but showed the effects of the first game and was unable to stop the onslaught of the home team.

The game was replete with errors and was not a very good exhibition of ball. Harris pitched all of the second game and acquitted himself well, although wobbling a trifle in the eighth. The Ashland team lined up in both games with Plymate behind the bat, Harris pitching, Kirk first base, Finneran second, Riley third, Lilly shortstop, and Morgan, Frame and Fraley in the outfield.

No arrangements have been made for a deciding game, but a date may be set later. Ray Sayles of Ashland officiated in both games.

Fish and Game Men Are Appointed

Governor Withycombe last Thursday announced the appointment of I. N. Fleischer, Portland merchant; Frank M. Warren, prominent fish packer; Marion Jack, farmer of Pendleton, and C. H. Stone of Klamath Falls members of the State Fish and Game Commission, created by an act passed at the recent session of the legislature. The executive is the ex-officio chairman.

It was announced that a meeting of the board would be called in a few days, when an organization will be made and a secretary appointed. The board also will appoint a master fish warden and a state game warden. These officers shall receive salaries of $2,400 each annually. Members of the commission shall receive no compensation for their services except a per diem of $5 each for every day in actual attendance at the meetings of the commission. The commission has full power to enforce all laws respecting the protection, preservation and propagation of fish, game and non-game birds. It is given exclusive power to expend funds as it deems best for the protection of fish and game.

Valley Boy Hitting the Ball.

According to official batting averages, covering games up to May 10, published in the Spokesman-Review, Kenneth Williams of Grants Pass, playing center field for Spokane, leads the Northwestern league both in batting and in extra base clotting. His average of .417 includes five doubles, two triples and three home runs.

Make Many Minor Improvements

Individual improvements have been extensive this spring. E. D. Briggs is making notable changes on his property at 146 Bush street, corner of Almond. An ancient relic of a barn has been eliminated, a garage built and a fine new porch added to the residence which will make it one of the most imposing in town. This home is one of the few city places which has a private tennis court. C. W. Banta is building a porch and making other improvements to his home, 57 Fourth street. Joseph Poley, corner Third and B streets, is following out civic improvement policies with numerous betterments on his home premises. The Plaza confectionery is undergoing substantial repairs and additions which will add much to appearance and convenience.

On the Table Tops.

The following appeared in a recent editorial in the Portland Oregonian: "Chicago's society women, he declares, lead a 'night life' which would put the slums to shame. Drinking, dancing on table tops and smoking are as common as they are among men, while Mr. Neumann hints at other enormities too dreadful to be mentioned in respectable print."

We didn't know that dancing on table tops was a common sport among members of the masculine sex. But then maybe so—maybe so.

Lack of Final Papers Prevents Voting

A great many Oregonians have been disfranchised by the constitutional amendment passed at the last election which provided aliens with first papers may not vote, as formerly. Heretofore, foreigners who had obtained their first papers could vote after one year, but the new law does not permit voting until foreigners are fully naturalized. Locally there are a number of people affected by the law, and while they admit their situation is due largely to carelessness, they are greatly disappointed at the new scheme which puts their final proof off until two years hence. Many have been to all intents and purposes citizens for the past 15 to 20 years, but failed to qualify finally. This carelessness cannot be explained except by the statement that they kept putting off the proofs and now are like any other foreigners, unable to vote or have any say in public affairs, after having taken part in elections for many years.

L. F. Cronmiller succeeds Ralph E. Koozer as managing editor of the Lake County Examiner.

Boys and Girls Can Get Hogs Free

At a meeting of swine breeders at North Portland last Tuesday arrangements were perfected for furnishing the boys and girls of all sections of the state with breeding animals with which to make a start in the raising of pork for market. The plan was inaugurated by the Union Stockyards some weeks ago, but the call for sows was so great that it was found necessary to enlist the aid of professional hog breeders in order to supply the demand. The stockyards will receive orders for sows, already bred, pass them on to the breeders who have agreed to furnish stock, and on receipt of a properly indorsed note from boy or girl, the animal will be shipped direct. The notes will become due and payable at the time the pigs are mature and ready for market. This plan has been given an extensive tryout in eastern Oregon and proved highly successful. Local boys or girls who have the facilities for keeping the pigs should take advantage of this opportunity.

Pendleton and Salem are moving for junior high schools.
