Old Photo Taken
In Year 1866

A very interesting photograph is displayed in the window of Simpson's hardware store. The picture was taken in 1866 by Orville Dodge and is remarkably clear. It shows the H. S. Emery cabinet shop which stood on the bank of Ashland creek back of where the I. O. O. F. building now is. The first sign in Ashland adorned the shop. W. W. Kentnor's wagon shop is shown on one side and J. H. Russell's marble works on the other. A pump log, Ashland's first water system, is in the foreground. La-Grand Hill, H. S. Emery, Nathaniel Meyer and L. D. Whitmore are in the picture.

Two famous brands of socks are the Engineer and Fireman at two pairs for 25c, and the Everwear at 25c straight. Mitchell & Whittle.

New Hotel Man Improves Grill

J. W. Dobbins, who assumed the management of the Hotel Oregon, is fast building up a sterling reputation for the Oregon grill. His many years' experience in the Southern Pacific dining car service has equipped him with a knowledge of grill service and quality which has already made itself markedly manifest in the Oregon's dining room. Mr. Dobbins caters especially to the valley and Ashland people, and not only business men but families are getting the habit of dropping in for dinner.

Today is the anniversary of the birthday of James Whitcomb Riley, one of America's poets who is distinctively American.

Cantine Reports
An Understanding

A great deal of interest was manifested at Monday evening's Commercial Club meeting in the report of the committee on the Billings hill matter. That the matter is one of great importance to Ashland is now fully realized by the people of the city, and the reading of a telegram to the state engineer and the answer was received with marked approbation. According to sentiments expressed by members Monday night, the matter now rests mainly with the county court.

It is believed that the compromise spoken of in the letter from Mr. Cantine is for a sixty-foot span, which in the estimation of members of the Commercial Club committee would be sufficient.

Signed by Mayor Johnson and President Newcombe, the following telegram went to Engineer Cantine Saturday:

"Public sentiment strongly in favor of compromise on sixty-foot span under railroad and immediate construction of grade. Present condition dangerous. Both county and state money available. We urge immediate completion of this necessary unit of the Pacific highway."

In response to this telegram, Engineer Cantine wrote the following letter to Mayor Johnson:

"Your telegram this date in regard to crossing negotiations with the Southern Pacific Company at Ashland hill, beg to advise we have reached a common understanding with the engineer of the railroad company this date, which I believe will be very satisfactory to the county court and the citizens of your city. The railroad people, Mr. H. L. Lull, assistant engineer, have informed us that Superintendent Burkhalter will endeavor to obtain the approval of the executive officers at San Francisco at the earliest possible date. I have given a detailed progress report in a communication to the county court of Jackson county this date, which please refer to for further information and advice."

Fred Wagner, D. D. Norris, M. J. Duryea and Frank Jordan left this noon for Jacksonville, where they will appear in behalf of the early inauguration of the work before the county court.

Sidelights On Official Doings

During the month of September there were thirteen burials in Ashland cemeteries, according to Sexton Walrad's report. Of these three were non-residents. Eight were buried in Mountain View cemetery, two in the Ashland cemetery and three in Har-gadine burial grounds.

The total amount of the time checks on the city for the month of September amounted to slightly more than $1,000.

The council are meeting at 7:30 p. m. this month.

Early in Tuesday's session Councilman Cunningham moved that when the council adjourned it would be to meet on next Wednesday evening, and intimated that some business of importance would be ready for the council's attention at that time.

A lengthy epistle was read Tuesday evening from state health officials regarding an awful peril which threatens the public, that of catching some contagious disease from vagrant germs left on bubbling fountain bulbs by persons in the habit of "biting the cup." Since the Ashland fountains are so scientifically constructed as to eliminate any possibility of the drinker getting his lips around the cup, no action was thought necessary.

Miss Gertrude Biede of the recorder's office has been granted her annual vacation, the leave of absence to take effect October 11. Chief of Police Porter also has been granted a vacation leave of absence to take effect October 7.

Councilman Cornelius was granted permission to be absent from the city until the 13th of the month. He will seek the elusive deer in the company of O. Winter and the Vining brothers.

Mr. Hutton of the Oregon Anti-Saloon League was a visitor at the Tuesday council session and made the acquaintance of the city officials.

During Chief Porter's absence on his annual vacation, Patrolman Wimer will assume the duties of chief of police and Earl Rasor will take Wimer's trick as patrolman.
