War Means Fewer Forest Telephones

With bids for furnishing wire to the Forest Service recently advanced 45 per cent, and prices on other equipment considerably increased, material curtailment of the program for telephone line construction on the national forests this summer is said to be in prospect. There are over 20,000 miles of telephone line on the national forests and approximately 2,000 miles of new line was planned for the coming season.

A certain amount of wire is required also for upkeep, since the lines are peculiarly subject to breakage from falling trees and similar causes. Every spring the forest rangers have to get the lines in order in preparation for the fire season, and although, to lessen the effects of accident, the wires are mostly run on swinging insulators suspended from the trees, there are in the aggregate a large number of repairs to be made.

Notwithstanding the number of telephone lines already built, large areas are still without means of communication and consequently lacking in proper equipment for fire protection. Not only are the telephones used by the forest officers, but they are a great convenience to the public. Very often, it is said, they enable isolated settlements to have a means of communication which they could secure in no other way.

Shower Baths For Freight Cars

Shower baths for freight cars may seem a rather startling idea, yet the Southern Pacific Company is actually installing them at San Francisco and Los Angeles. General Superintendent of Motive Power T. W. Heintzelman has hit on this way of testing cars for leaky roofs. He has had great showers built over the freight tracks in the yards and runs the cars under the sprays to see whether they need any repairs for the rainy season. It is hoped by this precaution to better protect shipments of merchandise over the Southern Pacific from wet weather—another "safety first" precaution.
