E. F. Ingles, veteran road foreman of engines for the Southern Pacific, was a visitor with friends in the city last week.

Mrs. Maek of Eugene, who has been a guest at the Nate Bates home for the past month, returned Saturday to her home. She came down for her health and is delighted with the results.

S. McGilvray, who motored down from Condon, Ore., recently and has been spending the past few weeks in Ashland and vicinity, has purchased a new Dodge car from the Murphy agency.

Miss Blanche Hicks, librarian at the Ashland library, went to Grants Pass last week to spend a few days with Miss Maude Barnes, who formerly was assistant at the local library and now is in charge of the Grants Pass institution.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Grieve and Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Bergner returned Friday from a three days' fishing trip on Butte creek and Rogue river, returning by way of Trall. They report catching all the fish they could eat and brought enough home to prove that they had had good success.

It is hoped that the Medford band will be able to play a concert in Ashland park about a week from Sunday. Director Rowland was up from Medford Thursday and states that the Medford organization will be most pleased to come up, but that at present the personnel is weakened by the absence of several of the musicians with the Medford artillery company at Fort Stevens.

Carl Hoots and wife, formerly well-known Ashland residents, have gone from Hornbrook, where he has been employed as fireman on one of the helpers for a number of years, to Klamath Falls, where he will take a run as fireman between Klamath Falls and Kirk.

S. S. Smith of Medford, state central committeeman, who is also a member of the executive and campaign committee of the state for the republican party, is in Portland attending meetings of the committee, and no doubt will bring back more definite word concerning the expected visit of Justice Hughes.

Harry Heth of Seattle is in town gathering data for a state directory being prepared by R. L. Polk & Co. The directory which the company is preparing covers Oregon and Washington and lists all the business firms and corporations. Mr. Heth states that it takes about seven months to gather the data for the publication.

Yreka News: Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Provost came down from Ashland last Friday, Mr. Provost coming on a short business trip and leaving Mrs. Provost to spend this week as the guest of Mrs. James D. Fairchild. Mr. Provost will be down again Saturday with the bunch of Elks who are coming for a smoker with the local Elks.

Medford Sun: A quality of coke is being made from the coal taken from the Sunnyside coal mine, east of this city, that is found to be superior to anything in heating fuel for orchards to prevent damage by frost ever tested in this region. It is cheaper than oil or wood and it is claimed may be used with much less expense and greater safety. It produces a white heat, no flame and little ash. An ordinary smudge pot full of this coke will, it is said, burn steadily for six hours at a cost of one-half cent per pot. It emits no smoke, leaves no cinders and is economically handled. The owners maintain an inexhaustible quantity of coal of this quality is found in the Sunnyside ledge.

W. A. Stacy and family, who have been visiting his sister, Mrs. Embree, also with his niece, Miss Maye Glover, and his step-mother, Mrs. A. E. Stacy, for the past six weeks, left Ashland Thursday, April 20. They intend to stop off for a few days in San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Chicago and Niagara Falls, as they pass through these cities en route to their home in Athol, Mass. Mr. Stacy was very favorably impressed with Ashland and the surrounding country, and hopes to be able to return here at some future time and perhaps may make this his permanent home later. They all feel that they derived much benefit from drinking the mineral waters, especially from the lithia water, which they drank every day of their stay in Ashland.

Medford Tribune: Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Finley of Sprague River Valley, in Klamath county, were in Medford and vicinity several days this week. They had been in Crescent City and other coast towns and were on their return home. Mr. Finley is an extensive stockraiser in Klamath county, but he likes the Rogue River Valley and Medford just a little better than any place he has visited and it is not improbable that he will invest in property here and make this valley his home. Mr. Finley is a forty-years-ago acquaintance of W. W. Watson, the Medford newspaper man, when Mr. Watson carried the mail on horseback between Ashland, Linkville, now Klamath Falls, and Lakeview.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Welch and son of Portland are in the city visiting with relatives. They left Portland last Thursday morning in their auto at 5 o'clock and made their first night stop at Drain, which, according to their opinion, is the noisiest place on the line. They left drain at 8 o'clock and arrived in Ashland at 9 p. m. on Friday. On their trip they consumed seventeen gallons of gasoline, two quarts of oil, and experienced two punctures. They enjoyed their trip down very much and they think that Ashland is a beautiful place to sojourn in. Mr. Welch Sr. took a trip to Ashland butte yesterday and enjoyed it very much. Not having rode a horse for several years, he feels rather sore and stiff. Mrs. Welch is a sister of Mrs. Nell Thornton, Mrs. Thad. Powell, Mrs. E. V. Jones and Alfred, Fred and Will Patton.
