Two good looking young ladies were in the city last week attempting to sell magazine subscriptions, but were met in most instances by gentle rebuffs, some even going so far as to show them receipts given by two young female persons who were through last year on a spurious subscription deal.

E. J. McClanahan, O. A. Foust and C. B. Walker of Eugene spent a short time in Ashland on an auto trip of about a week to southern Oregon points. They camped in Lithia Park. Mr. McClanahan is an old-time resident of Eugene, poultry raiser and incubator manufacturer. In recent years he has added camp stools and other wooden articles to the output of his factory, thus demonstrating that Oregon can manufacture and sell at a profit many of the articles for which the raw material is found in such abundance in this state.

Gold Hill News: Miss Dorothy Smith visited Ashland the past week and was scheduled to play a selection at a meeting of the W. C. T. U. at 10:30. About 10 Miss Smith, with one of the Hodges girls, entered the hall where the meeting was to be held and proceeded to waltz briskly up to the piano at the other end of the room, passing about a dozen ladies on their way. She doffed the piano cover and, seating herself, proceeded to try out the instrument. In a second or two it dawned on Dorothy that all was not right and she questioned her companion, "Say, kid, it looks as if there was a meeting in progress here," and, sure enough, there was. The girls had broken into a full-fledged session of the W. C. T. U. Her exit was made as hurriedly and gracefully as consistent with the occasion, and her ears burn now if the subject is broached.

Halley Simpson left Monday morning for Marshfield. He will drive his car back over and next Monday will go back to the Coos Bay country with Lloyd and Rex Stratton. The former will return after a two weeks' stay, the latter remaining indefinitely. Rex's piano playing has done much to account for the popularity of the Vining Theatre as a picture playhouse and he will be much missed. A player from Portland will probably take his place.

Between 3,000 and 5,000 people are expected to pass through Eugene on the way to Coos Bay during the Railroad Jubilee on August 24-26, according to estimates given Coos Bay people by officials of the Southern Pacific Company, who are preparing to handle these large crowds, says the Eugene Guard. In addition to the special trains that are to be run from Eugene, Salem, Portland and San Francisco, the Southern Pacific Company will have extra trains to handle the crowds that are expected to be gathered from the other towns of the state.

Claim Mystery Mother at Phoenix

There is a report in circulation in Phoenix to the effect that a woman who is supposed to have been the "mystery woman of the Siskiyou" got off the train in Phoenix last Friday, accompanied by a man thought to be her father, and took an auto to Medford. The child was not with them. Rumors to the effect that the woman who was found with a child in the lonely Siskiyou cabin and later disappeared, came from Medford, are prevalent in that city. Nothing can be definitely learned from those who are supposed to be connected with the affair.
