Mrs. Matilda Briener Nyswaner, aged 76 years and 8 months, passed away Wednesday evening at 8:30 after suffering from heart trouble for many months.

Both funerals were held on Friday. The Garvin funeral services at 2 o'clock took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bruin and the interment in Wagner Creek cemetery. At 4 o'clock the funeral services of Bud Fisher jumped the old-time rut when he invented Jeff and Mutt. For years, with that amusing pair, he's chased away the people's care, and made them laugh and throw their hats, and cackle till they broke their slats. The tired, the sad, the weak, the worn, have laughed with Bud, and ceased to mourn; the lame, the halt, the blind, the deaf, have whooped with glee o'er Mutt and Jeff. Where does he find the joyous jests which break the buttons from our vests? You'd think the fount would have to fail, but never once has he been stale. When he sits down to hatch a plot in which his heroes will be caught, he lights his pipe, and soon a joke emerges from Tuxedo smoke. He swears by "Tux" and so will you, when you have tried a jar or two.

BUD FISHER

Famous Cartoonist, says:

"Tuxedo has made a pipe my favorite form of smoking. Its coolness and mildness make pipe-smoking a real pleasure."

Bud Fisher

Mrs. Nyswaner were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Budgeon and the interment in the Phoenix cemetery. The Rev. Blackstone of Ashland and the pallbearers and singers, consisting of Mrs. Jay Terrill, Mrs. I. C. Williams, Mr. Matheson and Mr. G. W. Ager, officiated at both funerals.

Mrs. Emma Garvin was born in Virginia in 1840. In 1867 she was united in marriage to the late John Garvin at Clarkville, Mo. Five children, who survive them are: James L. Garvin of Milwaukie, Ore.; Mrs. Minnie A. Netherland of Portland; Mrs. Hattie B. Bruin of Talent; Clifford Garvin and Walter Garvin, both of Talent. In 1876 the Garvins came to the Rogue River valley in a prairie schooner, and have lived here ever since.

Mrs. Matilda Briener was born May 2, 1840, in Indiana. She was united in marriage to Riley Nyswaner January 9, 1859, in Iowa. In 1866 she and her husband crossed the plains in a wagon and for six months lived in northern California, until they moved to Phoenix, where they lived for many years. Two children survive her, Mr. John Nyswaner of Talent and Mrs. Belle Fisher of Camasville, Cal.

Mrs. Garvin and Mrs. Nyswaner had been friends for some forty years and were respected and beloved by all who knew them.

Impressions of Santa Cruz Man

George W. Stone of the editorial staff of the Santa Cruz Sentinel recently passed through Ashland while on a tour of the coast. He tells of the impressions which he received during the twenty minutes his train was here, in an article in the Santa Cruz Sentinel as follows: (Too bad Mr. Stone was not whisked up through Lithia Park and over the drive while his train was here.)

"Almost everyone is familiar, more or less, with the scenery along the way home from Portland, so I will not devote much space to that, but there are one or two places that seem to call for notice. Leaving Portland at night brings the traveler somewhere about Grants Pass and the beautiful Rogue River valley in the morning. Passing through this valley we reached Ashland about noon. This place has developed a new spirit during the past few years. Ashland is admirably located, and must have a soil that is productive, or it could not produce such delicious fruit as that brought to the passing trains. Near the station the enterprising inhabitants of the town, or city, have piped the waters from two springs that are in the vicinity, and the thirsty are bidden to drink without money and without price. Impressions made during a stop of only twenty minutes are not by any means conclusive, but they were of enough importance to awaken a desire to know more about this beautiful place. The scenery is pleasing, and probably the climate is attractive, for southern Oregon is not in the "webfoot" country, but comes nearer to the California climate, if the sources of my information are reliable. Ashland is about twenty-four hours from San Francisco, and it looks a coming resort city which should draw visitors from all over the country. eastern states not excepted. The coast will fill up faster with population when everybody works for the coast as a whole, first, and for their immediate locality afterwards. Ashland may have just what some of our eastern friends are looking for. We ought to do all we can to start the procession this way. I looked for some literature about the place, but the building containing the show products seemed to be intended only to permit folks to peep in the windows. There was some sort of a celebration going on that day, and maybe the commercial body needed its forces elsewhere. The ride from Ashland up the Slakiyou mountains is very enjoyable. A fine view of the valley in which Ashland is situated may be seen as the train winds slowly up the heavy grades."

Out of Tangle of Litigation

A new corporation has just been formed for the operation of the Alameda mine near Galice, the affairs of the big mine having been at last brought out of the tangle of litigation that has hindered its development for a number of years past. Papers have been filed with the county clerk showing the transfer of the property from the receiver, Thomas Burley, to the Alameda Mines Company, Nat P. Ellis and C. M. Huddle acting as trustees for the creditors. The deed shows the transaction to have involved $224,812.88, and the deed carries revenue stamps to the amount of $225 as the tribute which the deal has to pay to the federal government.

The settlement of the affairs of the Alameda has been pending for a long time, and the new company, which is composed of the stockholders who have been represented in the transaction by Messrs. Ellis and Huddle, announces that the mine will be placed in full operation as early a date as possible. All the claims against the old company have been cleared up in the reorganization, and for the first time in many years this property with a proven body of rich ore will be able to operate without the handicap of litigation and unpaid indebtedness.—Grants Pass Courier.
