It is announced that A. S. Rosenbaum of Medford has been appointed claim agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad company and will have headquarters at Portland. Three thousand dollars a year and expenses constitute the remuneration to the man holding this position. Mr. Rosenbaum was for many years the station agent for the company at Medford and has served the company for over 20 years. His promotion is well earned and comes as the legitimate reward of good service.

Mrs. Simons will have her first showing of fall hats Saturday, September 7. 1t*

The Presbyterian Sunday school of Ashland had a picnic near the Nell Creek school house last Friday. About sixty were present. They had a good picnic dinner and a fine time generally. In the crowd were children and grown people of nearly all ages. The trip out and back in automobiles supplied great sport for the children. There was no program, but games of all sorts were enjoyed. The party spent a pretty full day, going out at 9:30 a. m. and returning about 5 p. m.

Major L. F. Knapp, quartermaster of the Oregon National Guard, is making a trip to the armories of the state for the purpose of listing the property in use by the National Guard, which, under the new militia bill, is to become the property of the government. This equipment virtually has been the property of the government all along, but thus far has been under the control of the state. The major's stops include Eugene, Cottage Grove, Roseburg, Medford and Ashland in the western part of the state.

J. C. Talbot and wife, with Mrs. Talbot's sister and daughter, passed through Ashland Wednesday by automobile on their return to Portland. They had just come in from two or three days in the Dead Indian country, where Mr. Talbot shot two fine four-point bucks almost side by side and within a few minutes of each other. The antlers he had fastened as decorations to the hood of his machine. The party had been as far south as Dunsmuir, having stopped in the park on their way south. Mr. Talbot's home is at Wyeth, near Portland, where he is in the employ of the Bell Telephone Company.

H. Mattern is over from his mines in Siskiyou county, spending a week or more at his home in Ashland. He is operating two mines and the work at present is several hundred feet into the earth. He says occasionally they have samples of ore equal to a magnificent specimen exhibited by him some years ago. This came from northern California. It was a white quartz about the size and shape of two hands with the palms placed together, and the free gold stuck out in chunks all over it, making up perhaps a fifth or more of more of the entire surface. It was shown at the old Bank of Ashland and subsequently sent to Portland and put on display in one of the big jewelry store windows.

Miss Pearl Crowson left Sunday for Yreka to stay with her aunt, Mrs. Charles T. Jones, and attend high school.

Mrs. Alta O'Neil and children left Friday morning for Corvallis, where they expect to spend a month visiting friends and relatives.

Miss Nellie Perry has returned home from a two weeks' visit with friends and relatives in Central Point, Medford and vicinity.

R. L. Lofland and family were Sunday guests of Mesdames Roberts and Van Wegen. Mr. Lofland has had Mrs. Roberts' Griffin creek ranch, lying between Medford and Jacksonville, leased for four years and expects to live there several years longer.

Miss Grace Raypholtz of Medford spent a few days last week visiting her aunt, Mrs. L. O. Van Wegen. Miss Raypholtz has been a teacher for several years, also an Ashland normal and business college graduate, and now a student at Chico normal, California. She started for that city Saturday morning to resume her studies.

L. B. Baketel of Portland, elsewhere mentioned in the Tidings today, was seen by a reporter after the first interview. "I went to your park," said Mr. Baketel, "and then I went again. It is one of the things that God just drops in a few places—a rarity." He added that he is going to try to come to Ashland next year for a stay of two weeks.

The last section of the train carrying the third Oregon regiment to the mobilization grounds at Clackamas passed through Ashland Wednesday morning. The troops were here for some time, and this gave the boys a chance to look around town, as many of them did. R. H. Stanley was at the depot during the stop of the train and overheard the following conversation as he passed a bunch of soldiers: "Say, fellows, did you go and see the park?" "No," replied one. "Well, you have lost one of the finest sights of your life. Oh, it is good, good—the most beautiful sight I ever saw."

George Kramer, local agent of the Southern Pacific, had Captain Henry Hockenyo and Lieutenant Spaulding of the third Oregon over the parks, the high drive and all over the city Wednesday in an automobile. Captain Hockenyo was with the Oregon boys in the Philippines and is acquainted with Ed Thornton and many of the others who were on the islands during the war with Spain. The captain was born and raised in Jacksonville and used to haul wheat to the old Ashland flouring mills adjoining the plaza. He looked for the old mill and mill race and was surprised to see the extent of the improvements in recent years. Hockenyo is captain and quarter

William F. Herrin of San Francisco, vice-president and general counsel of the Southern Pacific Railroad; David C. Herrin of Portland, general agent of the Columbian National Life Insurance Company, and Edward W. Herrin of Hammondton, Cal., in charge of some of the largest gold dredges in the world, all arrived in Ashland the latter part of last week to be with their father, who is lying ill at his home on North Main street. William F. Herrin came in Friday and, his father rallying, returned to San Francisco the next day. The other two brothers are still here.

Thomas F. Ryan, mentioned in the last Tidings as having passed through Ashland in his private car "Oakridge," is a New York financier among the top notchers. His middle name is Fortune and he was born in Virginia. Mr. Ryan has been on the coast at least once before since the first of the year. He started in business fifty years ago as keeper of a dry goods store, was later successful on the New York Stock Exchange and was prominently identified with the operation of street car lines and is said to have been the originator of the plan to extend street railway lines to new residence tracts as a part of the development scheme.

Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Bowersox of Monmouth arrived in Ashland Monday by automobile and left yesterday for Grants Pass. From there they will go to the coast and as far south as Eureka, Cal., where they will visit relatives for four or five days before returning to their home in Monmouth. Dr. Bowersox left Ashland about eight years ago, spent about a year with his family at Newport, then went to Monmouth, where he has had a drug store ever since, having discontinued the active practice of his profession. While in Ashland he was one of the leading physicians, enjoying a good practice. The doctor and family have many friends among the people who lived in Ashland at the time they were residents here.
