Attend Rogue River Meet.
Miss Blanche Hicks and Mrs. W. W. Usher, members of the executive committee of the Southern Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, went to Rogue River Tuesday morning to attend a meeting of the committee and returned late in the afternoon. Members of the committee from the towns all along the line were present and, including the Rogue River ladies, made a company of about forty. The members from Ashland report a most enjoyable time and say that the Rogue River ladies entertained the visitors with a splendid luncheon. The committee decided that the federation will meet next April at Grants Pass.

Japanese Importations Growing Daily More Popular Are These Japanese Lunch Cloths, Scarfs, Bed-Spreads and Kimonas.

THOROUGHLY fast in color and original in design, the Japanese lunch cloths are displacing the old table oilcloth and the white or colored linen on the breakfast table. They come in three sizes—the 72x72 being used also for bedspreads.

The hand embroidered Japanese kimonas are extremely attractive and, considering the amount of hand work on them, they are reasonably priced at

Sunday school at 9:45—not at 9:47. Unusual preparations are being made for our big rally day one week from next Sunday. A few pleasant surprises are in store for you the coming Sunday.

Dr. Myron B. Haynes, formerly of Chicago, gave two strong addresses last Sunday.

Miss Theresa Meikle Wins Honors.
The following from a college paper published at Berkeley, Cal., refers to Miss Theresa Meikle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Meikle, formerly of Ashland:

"T. G. Chamberlain, '15, was chosen president of the Law Association at their meeting held Friday in room 217, Chemistry building. Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Theresa Meikle, '15; secretary, W. G. Witter, '17; treasurer, R. H. Linforth, '16."

There are three hundred students in the Boat School of Law. This is the first time that a woman has held this office. Miss Meikle graduated from the Ashland high school in 1911, and expects to finish a six-year law course in May, when she will receive the degree of Juris Doctor.

The many Ashland friends of this particularly bright young lady and her family will be pleased to hear of the recognition shown her.

Former Schoolmates Picnic.
In Lithia park on Sunday, the 24th, W. J. Dean called together his former students, whom he taught at the Wagner Creek school thirty-two years ago. The object of this meeting was to get together the members of the old class, who for various reasons could not attend the picnic given in the park on Sunday, the 10th, when the old class was reorganized. After dinner a few toasts were given and an interesting letter from an absent member was read. Mr. Dean delivered a short address on mental science, pointing out the importance of always looking on the bright side of life. Then a few old school songs, such as "Old Dog Tray," were sung. About eighty were present, including twenty-two of the old scholars and their families and neighbors, thus proving love for Mr. Dean and the appreciation of his earnest work.

Men's Meeting.
M. C. Reed and Ben Sheldon were the principal speakers at the regular meeting of the Men's Social League at the Methodist church Tuesday evening. The former argued convincingly for the defeat of the proposed brewers' amendment and then, after iterating and reiterating that he was a republican, stated that he was going to vote for Hanly and Landrith, for the purpose of helping make it an object for the old parties to endorse prohibition. Mr. Reed predicted that Hanly would poll a million votes this fall and that as a result both old parties would put a prohibition plank in their platforms in 1920.

Ben Sheldon gave a clear and comprehensive statement of the normal school situation, showing how it was the duty of southern Oregon voters to support the Pendleton normal bill, because this will convince the legislators and other people of the state that we are interested in Oregon normal schools in general, as well as our own normal school in particular, thus making it easier to secure the reopening of the Southern Oregon Normal, either by legislative enactment or by again submitting the question to the voters of the state. Mr. Sheldon said that during the past few years the people of Oregon had come to think more favorably of normal schools, since they were beginning to realize that only by the location of such institutions in different parts of the state can our teachers secure adequate training for their work. Those who heard Mr. Sheldon Tuesday evening for the first time were impressed with his logical, forceful manner of speaking, high ideals, earnestness and honesty of purpose.

Clark Bush, Henry Enders, V. O. N. Smith and Mr. Carson gave several much appreciated selections on their wind instruments, making a musical quartet hard to beat, and Dr. Tilton sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold" in his best manner.

Married in Alaska
The following from a Juneau Alaska paper refers to a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henderson Hash, residents of Oak street in Ashland: "Sunday afternoon, Sept. 17, at the hour of 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. L. Morris, Miss Zella Mae Hash of Ashland, Oregon, was united in marriage with Mr. Frank W. Harris, of Juneau, Alaska, W. W. Bachelier officiating. The ring ceremony was used with a beautiful plain gold band ring made especially for the occasion from Oregon gold dug several years ago. Miss Hash is a charming young lady who recently came to Juneau to consummate a romance began some time ago. Mr. Harris is an industrious and estimable young man employed by the Alaska Juneau Mining company, and is well and favorably known. He has built himself a neat little cottage on the Salmon creek road, where the happy couple will reside. A large circle of friends join in wishing them bon voyage."

Former Ashland Boy Weds
Word comes from Riverside, California, of the marriage of Donald MacAllister, a former Ashland boy, who has been in Los Angeles for the past three years. Mr. MacAllister was a local high school graduate and is remembered by a host of friends in this city. The Riverside Enterprise tells of the happy event as follows. A quiet wedding occurred this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Nellie L. Densmore of 1567 West Seventh street, when Miss Helen E. Gill of Los Angeles, a niece of the late Judge Densmore, became the bride of Donald MacAllister of Hollywood. The severe simplicity of the service lent an added note of solemnity to the happy occasion, which was witnessed only by the very near relatives of the young people. The house was charmingly, though simply decorated in quantities of feathery asparagus fern and pale pink ivy geraniums and asters. The archway between the living room and reception room where the couple stood while Rev. MacAllister of Hollywood, father of the groom, read the short but impressive words of the service, was transformed into a pretty bower with trailing streamers of the asparagus fern combined with pink asters. The bride was charmingly attired in a simple but most becoming gown of white crepe de chene combined with white taffeta. Immediately after the ceremony a tempting ice course was served in the dining room in which the color note of pale pink and white was attractively carried out in the various appointments of the table, which held, besides the bride's cake, an immense bouquet of pink asters and fern.

Mr. and Mrs. MacAllister left this afternoon for Los Angeles where they will make their future home. The bride's traveling dress was a pretty fall suit of dark blue cloth worn with a blouse to match and her hat was one of the early models in felt. Mrs. MacAllister made her home in Riverside until several years ago. She attended the girls high school and was active in church and social circles and has many friends here who will be interested to hear of her marriage. Mr. MacAllister is an assistant in one of the Baker shoe stores in Los Angeles.

Miscellaneous Shower.
One of the happiest of the many pretty affairs which have been inspired by the coming marriage of Miss Vivian Greer, who will become Mrs. Harvey Ling on October 11, was a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Ruby Palmer for the bride-to-be on Tuesday afternoon. A profusion of fall verdure and flowers graced the rooms of the Eggleston residence. The "shower" feature of the affair was conducted in an unique manner, Miss Greer being handed a note which directed her to the hiding place of one of the score of beautiful gifts which her friends showered upon her. Each package contained directions for finding the next, and a merry time was enjoyed by both the recipient and the givers in the hunt which followed. Dainty refreshments were served during the course of the affair. The afternoon slipped away quickly while the guests engaged in the rather prosaic and yet interesting occupation of hemming tea towels which were presented to the guest of honor. The guest list included Misses Vivian Greer, Lucile Barber, Allie Shinn, Gladys Carnahan, Minora Cornelius, Ruth Whitney, Lillian Greer, Edna and Myrtle Dougherty, Hortense Winter, Mesdames Henry Enders, H. O. Purucker, Elmer Ashcraft, O. A. Paulserud, Chester Stevenson, Hal McNair, Mrs. Beaumont DeLosh of Aberdeen, Wash., Mrs. Otto Klum of Medford, Miss Clayre Johnson of Medford and Miss Margaret Siemantel of Canadian, Texas.

Observe Pastor's Birthday.
Under the auspices of the Teacup, Aid and League organizations of the Methodist church a jolly crowd gathered at the church parlors last Friday evening for the announced purpose of welcoming new members. The reception devolved into a birthday surprise for Rev. Douglass when it was learned that his natal day fell on the date. A huge birthday cake was a feature and the more than two hundred members of the church family enjoyed a happy evening with their pastor.
