The law of "try again" is as potent in want advertising as in any other effort or enterprise.

The University of Oregon will play basketball again this year after abandoning the game as far as intercollegiate games were concerned last year and centering upon intramural athletics. Aid Society Needs Your Help America! The word itself evokes a host of ideals, worthy aspirations, noble impulses. It conjures up fair lands and vigorous cities where man may live and work successfully. It breathes freedom and opportunity—opportunity available to all. It spells justice—justice socially, economically, educationally. It goes further than merely to call forth pictures. It instills in one the desire to make real these pictures, to put these ideals into practice. And where better than in promoting the welfare of the less fortunate child? Since the degree of development and culture of any society or civilization is proportionate to the care expended upon the child of that group, the highest form of Americanism must be achieved through affording to each child the opportunity to become an intelligent, responsive and independent citizen.

For the child which is born and brought up in wholesome environment where the influences are normal and advantageous to his growth, the prospects for fulfilling the ideal of Americanism are very happy, but not so with the child who is the victim of the social maladjustment which death, debertion and divorce entail. For him the people who would substantiate the ideal must provide an adequate substitute. Such a substitute the state of Oregon has had for the past thirty-one years in the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society.

The function of the Society.

The society provides for the needs of dependent, neglected and abused children over three years of age throughout the state. It receives, cares for and places in family homes children committed by the county courts. It aids children in temporary distress. It receives crippled children whose deformities can be corrected, but would not be without the assistance of this organization. It employs three field workers who devote their entire time to visiting wards, placing children in family homes, and to investigating prospective homes. In addition, they co-operate with county officials in the interest of dependent children in the respective communities.

General Supervision.

The board of trustees is composed of W. G. Gilbert, president; F. E. Beach, secretary; William F. Woodward, treasurer; C. E. Wolverton, Robert S. Bean, Mrs. B. Blumauer, Mrs. W. H. Skene, Robert S. Farrell, F. I. Fuller and Rev. T. L. Elliot.

An advisory board composed of Mrs. C. R. Templeton, Mrs. A. L. Veazle, Mrs. A. G. Barker, Mrs. R. C. Coffey and Mrs. Frank Gilbert makes frequent visits to the Receiving Home, keeping in close touch with the actual life of the home. A medical staff, which includes some nine leading physicians and specialists, supplies the medical and surgical needs of the children. The work is also under the supervision of the state board of health. None of the foregoing receives remuneration for his or her services.

The superintendent has direct charge of the operations of the society. He is assisted by a staff of eight workers in the Receiving Home and three in the field.

Sources of Income.

The society is maintained by free-will offerings of public spirited citizens and school children, by state appropriation which amounts to about one-fourth of the necessary income, and by the interest of a small endowment fund.

United States National Bank is the depository.

Pressing Need For Immediate Aid.

The decided increase of the work, together with the depreciation of property and last year's decrease in gifts, has lowered the income of the society so much that, according to the last quarterly report of the auditor, the excess of expenditure over income amounted to $1,085.05 for three months.

Books audited quarterly by Whitfield, Whitcomb & Co., certified public accountants.

Needs of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society.

Five thousand dollars cash in gifts to current expense fund for immediate use, also supplies as follows: Five thousand quarts of canned fruit, 350 bushels of potatoes, 300 boxes of apples, vegetables, clothing, etc.

Please send all donations to Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Oregon, East 29th and Irving streets, Portland, Ore.

R. E. ARNE, Superintendent.

Note—Railroads ship donations free of charge from November 15 to December 31, 1916. Please notify society by letter when fruit, vegetables, etc., are shipped.

Grants Pass Courier: Douglas Wood is shipping out the last car of apples to the London market, this being the twenty-fourth sent through his agency to the English and New York markets. The last car of mixed varieties, largely Newtowns, cleans up most of the local supply for shipment. The last report from the London shipments was the receipt of a check to cover a carload of Newtowns, the 660 boxes in the load selling in London for $2,100. The net returns to the grower at Grants Pass were about $1.40 per box.

Portland—The public employment bureau found jobs for 4,408 in October.

Yreka News: Leo Johnson, aged 22 years, and Miss Fern Phillips, aged 16 years, both of Applegate, Ore., were refused marriage license last Saturday by County Clerk Nelson for the reason that the young lady was not of age. The girl gave her age as 16 years but she looked to be about 13. In applying for the license they stated that the girl's father had given his permission, but they could give no written evidence to that effect, hence Mr. Nelson advised that they go back to Jackson county for their license to wed.
