LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Call and see that Star cut glass at Holmes' grocery.

Many automobile owners have already filed their applications for 1917 licenses, thus "shopping early" and avoiding the rush.

Eat at the Lithia Bakery and Restaurant, where the eats are good.

The storeroom in the Holmes building next to the grocery is now occupied by E. F. Greenman and his rug-weaving establishment.

There is nothing nicer for a Christmas present than a box of those large red Spitzenburg apples at Holmes' grocery.

Mrs. A. D. Abbott and daughter Julia returned to their home at Grants Pass Monday after several days spent visiting in this city.

Get our prices on Christmas candies before buying elsewhere.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Club will meet next Monday night at the Auxiliary hall. The hostesses are Miss Lydia McCall, Mrs. William Myer and Mrs. Hosley.

Wah Chung, popular Chinese merchant, made his yearly round last week, distributing Chinese lily bulbs to his merchant friends. The bulbs are supposed to have the peculiar property of bringing happiness and prosperity to those under whose care they bloom.

During this week I wish to show you the new silverware for the table. The highest quality makes—you know them. We have some odd pieces in discontinued patterns at material reductions. Just as good as the others and lots cheaper. H. L. Whited. 58-2t

The Mattern family received a visit last week from Ed Harris and Ben Stalman, old friends, who are now located in Alaska on the headwaters of the Yukon, where they have been located for eight years, and the trip to this vicinity was the first time they had been outside of the territory within that period.

"The Winning of Barbara Worth" at the Vining Tuesday pleased a fair-sized audience, the comedy especially being well enjoyed. A sand storm in the prologue was rather too realistic for the orchestra at any rate, the draft blowing the sawdust sand pretty well all over the house.

George Spencer and wife have returned to Ashland after an extensive stay in Idaho.

Dutch Parker is spending the winter in Mill Creek canyon looking after the power lines of the California-Oregon Power Company. Francis Murphy is stationed in the Siskiyou car for the lines of the Pacific Telephone & Telephone Company while danger from heavy snow threatens.

The last word in fountain pens is the Sheaffer. Perfection in action. Permanently guaranteed. Whited's.

The Armenian Yelief committee will have a sale of home baking, home-made candy and fancy work, Saturday, December 16, at the Plaza grocery. Contributions in the line of food, candy or fancy work will be gratefully received. Gifts of money will also be very acceptable. Don't forget the time and place.

Deitz Delite lanterns at Ashland Trading Co. Just a little better than anything else on the market. 1t

Word comes from Honolulu of the appointment of James L. Coke as third circuit judge of the island of Honolulu. Judge Coke was a visitor in Ashland last year, stopping off for several days at the auto camp here while on an automobile tour of the coast. Judge Coke is a brother of John L. Coke of Coos Bay.

If you want something good to eat, get it at the Lithia Bakery and Restaurant. 59-tf
