FRUIT and FARM

Oregon Fruit Crop Saved By Station. Corvallis, Ore., January 16.—If it had not been for the bulletins, demonstrations and instructions given on spraying for codling moth, the apple crop of the state of Oregon, worth $5,000,000 last year, would not have been worth 50 cents, because it would have been absolutely eaten up by the worms. If it had not been for the information furnished on spraying for San Jose scale, there would not be an apple tree left today in the state.—E. H. Shepherd, editor Better Fruit, Hood River, Ore.

Anthraxnose is a disease that made sad havoc in Oregon orchards until it was controlled by formulas worked out by Dean Cordley, now director of the experiment station at Oregon Agricultural College. The editor has seen orchards since they were saved, loaded with fruit. The method has saved orchards in other parts of the state and is generally used for this disease throughout the entire world.—F. H. Shepherd, editor Better Fruit, Hood River, Ore.

The fungus disease known as apple crab was at first controlled by Bordeaux, which prevented the apples from being scabby, but in wet conditions caused them to be so badly rusted that they are unmarketable. Again the Agricultural College shines as a savior of the fruit industry, as Dean Cordley, through several years of experiment work, developed a treatment of lime sulphur that protects the fruit from the disease without injuring it.—E. H. Shepherd, editor Better Fruit, Hood River, Ore.

High Cost of Good Meat.

According to the Breeders' Gazette, "An agitated press and emotional women's clubs should fall more vigorously than ever to beating the tomtoms. The grand champion steer at the international, California Favorite, sold for $1.75 a pound, and the millionaire automobile makers in Detroit, to which city the bullock went for holiday beef, will not be able to buy prize-winning rib roasts and porterhouse at the old-time price of 25 cents a pound. Therefore summer grand juries, spend thousands of dollars in putting a horde of spec-

Fight for Closed River on At Salem

(Portland Telegram.)
Salem, Jan. 15.—Fish legislation promises to be one of the features of this year's session of the legislature and the opening gun of the battle will probably be sounded tomorrow when it is planned by the combined Southern Oregon delegation, led by Representative C. M. Thomas of Medford, to introduce a bill providing for the closing of the Rogue river to commercial fishing. This bill will later be supplemented by bills closing the Willamette river and the upper Columbia river to commercial fishing.

In past sessions this has been one of the big fights and thousands of dollars have been spent in lobbying by the commercial fishermen in their struggle against the anglers.

District Attorney C. H. Buffington, of Curry county, and the Medford Sportmen's club will participate in the struggle to secure the passage of the impending bill controlling fishing in the Rogue. The Southern Oregon delegation in the senate and the house will hold an informal meeting tonight to map out the campaign in behalf of the proposed measure.

"Within the last two days," wrote Mr. Buffington to Mr. Thomas, "I have prepared a petition to the legislature asking that seines and set nets be done away with and copies of this petition are being circulated by volunteer workers and will be presented to the legislature."

Roderick Macleay and his forces enforced by Frank Seufert, of the upper Columbia, are expected here tonight to take up the biennial campaign against the proposed legislation. In sessions gone by Macleay has waged a vigorous fight against any legislation which might close the Rogue river to fishing, which he secured by purchased from the estate of the late R. D. Hume.

The Rogue river measure to be introduced by the consolidated Southern Oregon delegation will prohibit the use of seines, set nets and fish wheels in the Rogue.

The Multnomah and Clackamas county sportsmen, backed by their respective clubs, will introduce this week a similar bill closing the Willamette to commercial fishing. It is claimed by these interests that commercial fishermen come to the Willamette for a period of six weeks, clear the river of salmon, and then ship the catch to the lower Columbia investigators in the field, and watch two-year-old steers grow in a minute—not!

"The prices of $1.75 a pound on foot for a steer, and $28 a hundred for the champion carload, are merely symptoms. Not every layman can interpret them aright, nor can the wild-eyed, leather-junged bellower for boycotts and embargoes prescribe a sane remedy. Those knowing the trade conditions understand what it all means. And even they were scarcely prepared to see the record of the first international, set at $1.50 a pound in an enthusiasm which sought to encourage the firm establishment of the show, so far surpassed. It was an altogether worthy object on which this stimulating price was lavished, the young white-face steer from the Golden Gate. Not the least of the lessons emphasized is that prime beef can be made from barley, oats and bran. More significantly this coast triumph, winning a champion and reserve with bullocks bred and fed in the college herd, illustrates how faithfully these educational institutions are striving to lead the industry into lines of profitable production."

Shifting Farm Machinery Credits.

The International Harvester Company has advised its agents that the recent ruling of the Federal Reserve Board that notes given by farmers for the purchase of farm tools, agricultural machinery and other farm operating equipment are eligible for discount, provides a means of financing such purchases without disturbing the credit relations with the farmer customer. By discounting such notes at the bank, the agent can get cash for the implements sold and at the same time the farmer can have as much time for payment as when the agent carries him. The International Harvester Company has heretofore been carrying notes of agents and farmers in stupendous amounts. The total in 1913 was $40,173,752, and this rose in 1914 to $42,589,510. It is expected that a considerable part of this huge accommodation will in future be handled by the reserve banks.

river canneries for packing, leaving the Oregon anglers without a supply of fish.

Jackrabbit Skins Worth Real Money

Skins of Klamath county jackrabbits will bring from 15 to 18 cents a pound in St. Louis, according to a letter received this morning by the Klamath Commercial Club from Funston Bros. & Co. There is an outlet for these skins in any amount that can be furnished, says the letter.

The freight to St. Louis is 6 1/2 cents a pound, which would leave a margin of 10 or 11 cents.

The letter from the furriers is printed below in full, that local people may know just what the outlet for jackrabbit skins is:

"Replying to your letter of recent date, beg to say, we shall be glad to receive all the jackrabbit skins you can collect, and will allow you from 15 to 18 cents per pound for them, delivered St. Louis—the price depending upon the quantities that can be furnished and the general condition of the skins.

"It will not be necessary for you to stretch the skins on stretchers—just lay them flat on the floor or on racks to dry, and when they are dry and as fast as you can get a good sized lot bale them up and ship by freight. On receipt of the skins we will promptly remit to cover. The skins may be taken off either cased or open. If there is any other information desired we shall be pleased to hear from you. We are confident you will find it decidedly to your interest to collect these skins, and we have an outlet for all you can ship.

"Under separate cover we are mailing you our trappers' guide and supply catalogue, which will no doubt interest you.

"Awaiting your further favors, and assuring you of our best efforts in your behalf."—Klamath Herald.

Roseburg will ship 150 cars of broccoli this season, also 50 cars to go from Riddle. All go direct to Chicago.

Port Orford mills will ship 20,000 feet of white cedar to the Bremerton navy yards.

Legislative Notes Of County Interest

Attorney General Brown desires the passage of a prohibition law that will not be hard to enforce, and one that will satisfy, as nearly as possible, all the people of the state, and not one that will satisfy some particular faction.

Mrs. Sylvia Thompson, representative from Hood River and Wasco counties, and the only woman member of the legislature, recently admitted before the Portland Ad club that election to the legislature had not fully satisfied her political ambitions. "I am a housewife by profession, a legislator by election, and a United States senator by pre-destination," she declared, and added that "I am right now looking for some one to manage my campaign." Mrs. Thompson is a democrat.

Representative Thomas, who was instrumental in bringing the two speakership candidates together, was offered the chairmanship of the rules and joint rules committee, but declined. Mr. Thomas is a member of three of the important committees as far as Jackson county and Southern Oregon is concerned. He will be a member of the horticulture, manufacturing and revision of laws committees. As such he is in a position to look after the best interests of Southern Oregon in horticultural and manufacturing matters.

A matter which is going to be of importance to Jackson county is the bill which will be introduced pertaining to the lime industry of our state. This bill will be drawn to permit the using of convict labor in exploiting the lime deposits of the state and disposing of the product for fertilizing purposes.

Representative Gore is kept quite busy. As a member of the capital building and grounds committee, that he contemplates some radical changes is a foregone conclusion.

Mr. Gore is a member of a very important committee for Jackson county, that of roads and highways, and having made quite a study along this line, his advice and counsel is much sought after, and he will be one of the leading members in moulding this legislation. Mr. Gore is also a member of the commission on forestry and conservation.

Representative Sheldon of Jackson county is chairman of the house committee on expositions and fairs and a member of the following committees: Education, mining and revision of

Corns Peel Right Off With "Gets-It"

2 Drops, and the Corn is a "Goner!"

When you've got to walk on the sides of your shoe to get away from those awful corn-pains, there's only one common-sense thing to do.

Use "Gets-It" Your Corns Won't Swell in Water. Besides, They'll Shrive! Loosen and Peel Off!

Put 2 or 3 drops of "Gets-It" on the corn right away. Pain and inflammation will disappear, the corn will begin to shrivel from that instant—then it loosens and falls right off. There's no other corn-remover in the world that acts like "Gets-It." No new discovery has been made in corn-removers since "Gets-It" was born. Don't forget that fact. "Gets-It" does away forever with the use of knives that irritate, bandages that make a bundle of your toe, plaster that half do the work, knives and scissors that draw blood. Use "Gets-It"—no more digging or cutting. "Gets-It" is sold everywhere. See a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

laws. He was the only Jackson county representative to draw a chairmanship. Mr. Gore is a member of the following committees: Capitol building and grounds, forestry and conservation, and roads and highways. Thomas is a member of the committee on fisheries, horticulture and manufacturing.
