Will Finish Towels.

The members of the Wednesday Afternoon Club met at the home of Mrs. Louis Schwein Tuesday afternoon to complete the tea towels they are making for the 1st company boys at Fort Stevens. A number of women outside of the club were also in attendance and furnished a goodly number of towels already hemmed, which was an acceptable acquisition to the club ladies' efforts. The towels will be completed and ready to send to Fort Stevens Saturday. Mrs. Schwein furnished light refreshments to the workers.

Filled Christmas Boxes.

The Civic Improvement Club have been devoting much time during the past two weeks to packing Christmas boxes for the soldiers in the trenches, and at the last meeting held in their rooms Tuesday they completed 83 packages which will be started immediately to the boys at the front. These packages were artistically wrapped in khaki colored handkerchiefs and contained all manner of good things to eat, besides games and useful articles which will no doubt gladden the hearts of the soldier boys during the Christmas holiday season. The Civic Club has been most assiduous in doing its bit for the comfort of the men in the army, and are ready to lend a hand to all the worthy causes which come before them.

Drove Dull Care Away.

The Ashland Choral Club held a jolly sing and card party at their rooms in the Auxiliary hall last evening which was particularly enjoyed by the large company present. By an unspoken order every one present put away the cares of their daily life and the worries of the nation's crisis and entered into the pleasures of the evening with all the spirit of good fellowship, in marked contrast with the seriousness that accompanies so many meetings, social or otherwise, at the present time. The choicest of refreshments were served.

Visited Neighboring Club.

Mrs. Emma L. Jack and Mrs. Edith McCracken were invited guests to the Talent Community Club Wednesday day afternoon at its regular meeting there. Mrs. Jack gave an address on general topics and helped to plan the next year's program. Mrs. McCracken made timely suggestions in line with the work Miss Anne McCormick is doing in this county. The Talent Community Club is a prosperous one, and set an example for larger clubs by paying the expenses of their delegate, Mrs. J. S. Crawford, to the Grants Pass convention.

The Soldiers' Auxiliary.

The auxiliary meets tonight at 8 o'clock at the library, when final arrangements will be perfected for Thanksgiving. Sergeant Quartermaster Butterfield asked that plenty of apples be sent. The boxes are set out where the boys help themselves, and fresh apple sauce was an appreciated change from dried fruit. The old barracks are being fixed up so 1st company will soon be in warmer quarters.

The Honor Guard girls of Astoria entertained 1st company and one other company last week. The boys report a very enjoyable time.

Loucks-Porter Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Edith Porter, a well-known lady of Ashland, and John D. Loucks took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Caroline Porter, on Second street, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. S. Brett, pastor of the Congregational church, in the presence of a few close friends. After the ceremony a dinner was served. Those present at the wedding were A. D. Porter, a brother of the bride, Mrs. Minnie L. Dean and Mrs. G. S. Brett. The newly wedded couple will spend the winter in Ashland.

New Law Affects

All Registrants

Portland, Ore., Nov. 22.—Let every man who is registered under the selective service law, and that includes all between the ages of 21 and 30 years, inclusive, pay careful heed to the changes that have been ordered by the government in the method of selecting men for military service. The new plan goes into effect on December 15, but on December 1 preparations for putting it into effect will begin all over the United States. At that time all exemptions or discharges from military service under the draft will automatically be canceled.

The basic principle of the new system is that those men are to be taken first who have no persons dependent on them. Under this classification come single men, married men whose wives support them, married men who have habitually failed to support their families, or whose families are independent of them for support. Men in this class will be subject to call first. They will be listed under what will be known as Class I.

The married men and those with persons other than their wives or children immediately dependent on them for support, as well as those whose work is necessary to industries essential to the war, including agriculture, will be listed in other classes. There will be five classes in all. The effect of classification in classes below Class I will be to grant a temporary discharge from the draft, for men in these classes will not be called until the class or classes above theirs has been exhausted.

A questionnaire will be mailed by the local board to each registered man, directed to the address on his registration card or as that address may be changed by notice of change of address filed therewith, within the next two or three weeks. He will have seven days in which to make the required answers and return the questionnaire to the board. Failure to answer will automatically cancel his rights to exemption and will put him in Class I. In order fully to protect the rights of every registered man and to help him make out his questionnaire, lawyers will be at the headquarters of the board to advise and assist him without charge. You will get your questionnaire soon. Watch for it.

Things the War Cannot Destroy

The December Woman's Home Companion says:

"The war, with all its changing effort, and need and sorrow and sacrifice, and massive endeavor, will pass by at last, and new problems will confront us; but the old human glories and immortalities—love, brotherhood, devotion, kindness, understanding, gentle wisdom, self-forgetfulness and high endeavor—these will remain on, permanent and full of promise to the soul. It is these I would ask you not to forget or ignore in planning for your soldiers' Christmas, no, nor in spending your own Christmas here at home; some gift and salutation for the spirit, and some generous spending of our own spirits, some giving, on our own part, of the very things our men have many of them given, for our sakes, and so generously.

"Always I take a look each year at the unchanging Christmas stars; the same through so many, many changing ages, shining like symbols of the lovely things of the spirit that endure; but it seems to me they will mean more to me this Christmas than ever they have meant before, when I shall remember—as how, indeed, could we forget?—the thousands upon thousands of soldiers who under what changed and changing conditions are maintaining the old and lovely things that endure, and who are perhaps looking up at the Christmas stars, also."

Camouflage Class At University

University of Oregon, Eugene, Nov. 22.—A class in the art of camouflage has been started at the university. Under the persistence of three members of the student body, Dr. A. E. Caswell of the department of physics has started an elementary class in the art of "making things not seen when they are seen."

The class is a small one, having but three members so far. However, Dr. Caswell says that the students have made application to be enrolled in the camouflage unit of the American engineering corps. The corps is very small as yet, having but two camps, one at Palo Alto, Cal., and the other at Washington, D. C.

Services will be held at the Brethren church Saturday evening. Sunday services are as follows: Sunday school at 10:30 a. m.; preaching at 11 by Rev. J. S. Jeffers, pastor of the Methodist church of Montague. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock Elder J. G. Gilstrap of the Church of God of Montague will also preach. A basket dinner will be held in the basement of the church.
