Here and There

County Agent C. D. Thompson is conducting a farm survey of Josephine county this week. This is a government survey directed by the United States Department of Agriculture and covers the livestock, farm crop and labor situation. The county has been divided up in districts and there is someone in every locality looking after the survey. It is hoped that every farmer in the county may be reached. If toward the end of the week you have not been called on, notify the county agent's office.—Grants Pass Courier.

Marks, professor of the civil engineering course at Stanford University, and Prof. Folsom of the mining department at Standford.—Siskiyou News.

There is a general sentiment throughout Medford and the valley that the district irrigation plan, presented by the directors, will be accepted at the coming election by a large majority. In the creation of the district a 60 per cent vote was required, but in the second and final election a majority alone is needed and it generally is believed that the sentiment for irrigation has increased steadily since the last election.—Medford Sun.

The severe winter in the east is not without its benefits to Roseburg. Inquiries about our climate and for farm lands have recently been far more numerous than usual. Some sales have been made and a large trade is pending today. One family from the central west, after inspecting all of western Oregon, returned home with the avowed intention of disposing of their interests there and moving to Roseburg, while another family writes they will arrive here in April.—Roseburg Review.

A field glass has gone from Cottage Grove to the war department that may see service sighting the periscopes of submarines. The glass is the property of Rev. Joseph Knotts and was given him by friends while he was in missionary work in South America. He noted the appeal of the war department for glasses for use of the navy, and as soon as this one could be packed it was on the way to Washington. He hopes to have it returned after the war with a record attached of the number of periscopes which were sighted by its use.—Cottage Grove Sentinel.

D. C. Jones, who is drilling for oil in Camas valley, is in the city. According to Mr. Jones, a large bit used in drilling operations became detached from the line and dropped into the well. Much difficulty was experienced in removing the tool. However, the task was accomplished and is now at the Roseburg garage undergoing repairs. Mr. Jones stated that work would again be resumed Monday. A crew of five men are now employed. The machinery is all housed and operations can be carried on all winter without interruption from the inclemency of the weather. "We have gone through one strata of coal," said Mr. Jones, "and all indications point to oil in large quantities. We are only down about 35 or 40 feet at present, but I am well pleased with the outlook."—Roseburg News.

City Engineer L. F. Heuperman of Marshfield is searching for his 13-year-old daughter, Justine, who disappeared from home Thursday. She has been seen only once since then, when she took breakfast at a friend's home and said she was on her way to Bandon, where she expected to take a boat for San Francisco, but a close watch kept at Bandon indicates that she did not reach there. A search is being made for the girl.

The Fortnightly Club, a women's organization of Eugene, has been presented with a gavel made from the first cherry tree set out in Eugene. This tree was set out by Eugene Skinner, founder of Eugene, in the '50s, and stood at the corner of Sixth avenue and Lincoln street until about four years ago when Sixth avenue was paved, and as the tree stood out some distance in the street and was in the way it was cut down so the pavement could be laid.

FARMERS CAN GET SUGAR FOR BEES

Corvallis, Ore., Feb. 14.—Oregon beekeepers will be able to get sugar to feed their bees where the supply of honey has run low. The value of honey as a factor in the increased food supply campaign has been recognized by the federal food administrator for Oregon, and W. K. Newell, assistant, writes Prof. A. L. Lovett, entomologist at O. A. C., as follows:

"I think you may safely promise all who have applied to you that permission will be given them to purchase the sugar on application either to this office direct or to their county chairman. We appreciate fully the value of the honey crop and the necessity for feeding of the bees for a short time in the spring."

MUSIC INSPIRES LISTENER TO MATHEMATICAL HEIGHTS

Often when one listens to music his mind wanders into various reveries, poetic and beautiful withal, and some have been known to conceive great works under the sound of a fine composition. The following article taken from Musical America, however, will give some idea of the wandering of the mind of an astronomer or a bank teller listening to music:

"Quite recently, when a well-known pianist was playing a Presto by Mendelssohn, one of the bystanders in a scientific spirit set himself to counting the notes and the time occupied. The pianist played 5,595 notes in four minutes and three seconds.

"Every one of these notes involved certain movements of a finger—at least two—and many notes involved an additional movement laterally as well as those up and down. They also involved repeated movements of the wrists, elbows and arms, altogether probably not less than one movement for each note, therefore there were three distinct movements for each note.

"As there were 24 notes a second, and each of those notes involved three distinct musical movements, that amounted to 72 movements in each second. Moreover, each of these notes was determined by the will to a chosen place, with a certain force, at a certain time and with a certain duration. Therefore, there were four distinct qualities in each of the 72 movements in each second.

"Such were the transmissions outward. And all those were conditional on consciousness of the position of each hand and each finger before it was moved, and, while moving it, the sound of each note and the force of each touch. Therefore, there were three conscious sensations for each note. There were 72 transmissions a second, 144 to and fro, and those with constant change of quality.

"Then, added to that, all the time the mind was remembering each note in its due time and place, and was exercised in the comparison of it with others that came before. So, according to this, there were 200 transmissions of nerve force to and from the brain outward and inward during each second of the rendition."

Red Cross Activities

Layettees for French Babies.

For the woman who loves "pretty things" and wants to indulge in daintier work than is permitted by the regulations of the "refugee relief" department on older children's garments, the delicate pink and white and blue and white of the infant layettees will hold an appeal. Mrs. J. G. Hurt is in charge of this section of the work. The materials for these layettees are bought by the local Red Cross and the garments are cut out by Mrs. Hurt at headquarters. From there, women who wish to take these baby outfits home to make may get them. It is pretty work, and as 180,000 layettees will be needed within a few months now, it is most necessary work as well.

First Aid.

The first aid class under Dr. Swedenburg held its first session Friday evening with a large attendance. Dr. MacCracken will act as Dr. Swedenburg's assistant in giving this course, and will conduct the examinations.

Who Will Co-operate On This?

Knowing in what dire need our local Red Cross is of lockers for storing work and materials, J. D. McRae has generously offered to make us a fine large locker, free of charge, if someone else will contribute the lumber. Will the "someone else" come forward to co-operate with Mr. McRae in supplying the Red Cross with this much needed improvement? Meantime, other kind friends continue to help us out by loaning dressers. Mrs. Cornelius is the latest one to assist us in this way.

RODENT CONTROL STARTED IN COUNTY

Red Cross membership in Ashland numbers today 1,538. However, in looking over the list of names one is struck by the great preponderance of women. Because the women necessarily do the bulk of the work seems no reason that the men should not help to the extent of their ability by giving their dollar, their name and their influence to the cause.

Dark Colors and Plain Styles.

Mrs. A. H. Pracht, who is in charge of the refugee relief work at headquarters here, asks that the requirements in the way of using dark colors and plain styles in making these garments be emphasized. Do

"Who Will Win This Battle?"

Your kidneys are the filters of the body. If they become inactive and fail to eliminate the waste matter, they are apt to throw the whole mechanism of the body out of order, thus toxic poisons can accumulate in the system and be as deadly as snake venom.

Besides causing the minor ailments of rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago and backache, neglect of the kidneys is apt to develop into more serious diseases, such as diabetes or stone in the bladder.

Rid the body of toxic poisons—clean the bladder and kidneys and cure the twinges of rheumatism with Anuric and you win the battle of life.

Anuric was first discovered by Dr. Pierce, and has benefited thousands of sufferers as well as appeared and eliminated the ravages of the more serious kidney diseases. Now procurable at any good drug store, or send direct to Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for trial package.

Mrs. B. G. COKER says: "When I commenced the treatment of Anuric I was in bad shape. My back ached all the time and oh! how my back would ache at night until I would have to get up. I could never sleep all night. But since I have taken the Anuric Tablets my backache is all gone and I can lie down and sleep good and sound all night. Oh! how much better I do feel—no one knows but myself. My advice to all sufferers of kidney troubles is to give Anuric a trial and they will find relief from their trouble."

not use light or bright colors, and do not trim the little dresses in any way. The materials contributed for making over must be absolutely clean, well washed and pressed, and the name of the donor should appear on the outside of the package.

At the meeting of the Jackson County Agricultural Council held in Medford recently the topic of rodent control came under discussion, and it was planned to carry on a campaign similar to that of last year, but arrangements will be made for more distributing points. A campaign of advertising will be instituted, and large posters will be placed over the county with information relative to this line of work.

The 16 cantonments built for the training of soldiers cost $134,000,000, with a net profit to contractors of 2.98 per cent.
