Miss Mary E. Browns, president of the Washington State W. C. T. Miss Browns has had many years' experience in police work, and has had an opportunity of studying human nature in a way not open to all people. Home environment and training are the things that count in a man's career which if he has misused in his youth, no government can make up to him.

WESTERN COAL MAY BE SENT TO THE EAST

Fuel, coal particularly, that now looks to Oregon and Washington for markets will undoubtedly be diverted east in an effort to overcome to a degree the estimated national $5,000,000 ton deficiency.

This is the opinion of Fuel Administrator Holmes of Oregon, based on information from Washington and his knowledge of local conditions.

The recent visit of national fuel administration officials to the Pacific northwest presages the enforcement of a "fuel ration" order. This is indicated by the fact that Holmes already is making a survey of the state to ascertain the needs of the various districts. In this regard, Holmes states that he plans to allow householders to order fuel, both wood and coal, in unlimited quantities just so long as possible.

When necessity demands, however, he will curtail supplies, holding that national needs are superior to those of individuals or of industry not essential to winning the war.

MORE THAN 700,000 AMERICANS IN FRANCE

More than 700,000 American soldiers have gone overseas to carry back to France the encouragement and assistance which Lafayette and Rochambeau brought to America. Secretary Baker told the Alpine Chassurs in bidding them farewell at the base of the Washington monument. The war secretary's last announcement, some week ago, concerning the size of the American forces abroad, was that 500,000 men had sailed for the battle front.

Attending the exercises were M. Jusserand, the French ambassador, representatives of the French high commission, and many government officials.
