Date of Picnic To Be Changed

The business men's picnic, originally scheduled to be held in Litchia park on Wednesday, July 17, is to be deferred one day, or the afternoon of Thursday, July 18.

The Medford-Ashland choral societies will give the opening concert of the Southern Oregon Chautauqua on Thursday evening, July 18. As it would be difficult and inconvenient for some of the Medford people who are to be in the concert to come up to the picnic on Wednesday and to the Chautauqua on Thursday, at the request of Mr. Andrews, leader of the Choral society, and with the approval of the Medford association, it has been decided to change the date so the picnic may be well attended. After the picnic all who wish to stay for the Chautauqua will no doubt be well repaid in so doing for they will get to hear the best array of talent the Rogue River valley produces.

Plans for the picnic are rapidly taking shape. Mrs. H. J. Whitford, Mrs. H. G. Enders, Jr., and Mrs. Hal McNair have been appointed as a committee to arrange the program and entertainment for the wives of the visiting merchants. Ernest Minuth and Chas. Robertson, committee on athletics and sports. H. P. Holmes, L. S. Brown, and Will Loomis, committee on refreshments. There will be speaking by prominent men. War conditions have brought many new problems and discussion of these problems is one of the best ways in which to seek and find remedies for them.

The sports committee are sure to have a number of things that will give everyone a chance to enjoy themselves until the big basket supper will be the climax of the first merchants' convention held in Jackson county.

Douglas Fairbanks At Vining Theatre

Douglas Fairbanks, athletic comedian who has been devoting his time these days to the oversubscribing of the third Liberty loan, comes back to the Vining theatre Wednesday and Thursday in his latest Aircraft production, "Mr. Fix-It."

This is the picture in which the famous Doug sports a dress suit for the first time in many appearances, it's a general "fixer" of human hearts, and as such is surrounded by three attractive girls—three leading women. They are Wanda Hawley, who was Wanda Petit in the Fox days, and Marjorie Daw and Catherine MacDonal, who have been with Doug in other pictures.

HAS KEPT TOUCH WITH PAST

Old Tarrytown on the Hudson Refuses to Become Part of Modern Hustle and Bustle.

Safely aloof from the rush and scramble which typifies Long Island today lies Tarrytown on the Hudson. The solidarity and leisurely prosperity of Tarrytown have kept it from being swept along with the stream of worldly progress. It has tarried.

It has kept its legends and traditions, its landmarks and historic buildings. It still likes to look at the monument marking the spot where Andre, the spy, was captured. It likes to recall with thrills of local pride "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," until it sees again the headless horseman pursuing the luckless Ichabod.

There are other specters of which the locality can boast, notably that of Andre, also on horseback, who can be heard at night riding at high speed up the road on which he was captured. At the fatal spot the sound of hoofs ceases, naturally enough, leaving the chance hearer to scuttle home with unseemly haste.

Night is an excellent time to go sight-seeing in Tarrytown. There is the Sleepy Hollow graveyard, which no visitor would wish to miss, and which has an additional charm when viewed by moonlight. There is always the possibility that some illustrious resident of the place may come forth to take the air and wander once again to his old home or to the market place.

Swore Just Like a Native.

Lieut.-Col. Oliver Dockery, in charge of training of the 166th Depot brigade, at Camp Carter, Mich., is from the South and has something of the characteristic Southern accent. The other day when 2000 negro recruits arrived from Alabama Colonel Dockery ran across a negro sergeant who was marching a group of the new men along in the rain and reproved the sergeant for taking his men out in such weather and ordered them back in the barracks. Just as they disappeared in the doorway one of the shivering little negroes from the South turned around and said, "Dat sholy am a kind-hearted man. He cusses like he come from down home. Dat boss make me so homesick dat I believe I is goin' to cry." Boo-hoo! Boo-hoo!

Duty That Lies Near.

If only it could be impressed upon each and every one of us that we must do our duty, whatever that duty may be and wherever it may be, just as well as we possibly can, what a tremendous thing it would be.

It has been said that if the American people would save just 10 per cent of what they have formerly spent the war would be won and victory would be assured. The girl in the home can do a tremendous part in the winning of this war—she can save in many ways, she can work in many ways and she does not have to have any special talent for it either.

Character and industry, these are the things that count, these are what make life really worth the living.

Scripture and Profanity Mixed.

The Bible and profanity were strangely intermingled in the congress a few days ago. Senator Overman made the statement that President Wilson "has been criticized in many instances, for not taking senators into his confidence." To which Senator Reed remarked: "Oh hell!" Senator Overman expressed the hope that this expression would go into the Record. Subsequently Senator Overman read into the Record a section of the eighteenth chapter of Exodus, describing how Aaron and Hur sat by the side of Moses and held aloft his hands throughout the day while the conflict between the army of Israel and the army of Amalek was in progress.

Wealth of Forestry.

The coast forests of southern and southeastern Alaska are included in the national forests of Tongass and Chugach, which comprise over ninety-six million acres, a large proportion of which is covered with trees. Of these, Sitka spruce averages about 20 per cent and western hemlock about 75 per cent. The spruce are occasionally six feet in diameter and 150 feet tall. The interior forests are practically all found in the drainage basins of the Yukon and Kuskokwim rivers, and it is estimated that there are forty million acres bearing trees large enough for cordwood and logs.

All Harmonious.

"Yes," said the Judge; "they don't want us men to have a chance to say they couldn't agree."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SUGAR HOARDING WILL MEET WITH PROSECUTION

An appeal to the patriotism of the people of the state as well as a warning as to the consequences to be expected if rules and regulations are not observed is made by the state food administrator, W. B. Ayer, in a statement to the public:

"There are always a few people who display a little impatience with the changing rules of the food administration. They forget that food conditions are constantly changing as well as transportation and shipping conditions.

"At first it was meat, wheat, sugar and fats, but for several months the people of this coast have not had meatless days. Then the wheat situation became alarming and we were asked to go without wheat flour entirely. That situation is improving as we approach the new harvest, so we are returning to the 50-50 rule. Sugar is now the great food problem, arising from the necessity growing out of the fruit canning season, coupled with submarine sinkings over 27,000,000 pounds were lost in June off the Atlantic seaboard and shortage of ships to transport raw supplies.

"The present program is therefore as follows; and should be followed strictly. Any failure to do so in unpatriotic:

"Sugar, for domestic consumption, three pounds a person a month. Dealers are permitted to sell at one time only two pounds to city families and five pounds to rural families.

"Restaurants, hotels, and all public eating houses are permitted to use only three pounds of sugar for every 99 meals served and they must secure a certificate before they can purchase.

"Candy manufacturers and other non-essential industries are limited to 50 per cent of their last year's consumption.

"Wheat flour: Mondays and Wednesdays in every week and the evening meal in every day are wheatless. At all other meals bread must contain not less than 25 per cent of substitutes and pastry, cakes, pies and all other things not less than one-third substitutes.

"The total consumption of wheat flour for all purposes is limited to six pounds per person a month.

"Dealers are only permitted to sell wheat flour by selling at the same time an equal amount of substitutes.

Vaupel's

"Hotels, restaurants and all other public eating places are permitted to use only six pounds of wheat flour to every 99 meals served.

"Do not waste any food.

"Use reasonable foods.

"Do not have in your possession more than you are entitled to. To do so is hoarding and hoarding is breaking the law.

"There have been five convictions for hoarding in the United States courts in this state within the last two weeks. There are more under investigation. If you have more sugar or more flour than you are entitled to, return it to your grocer."

Chancellor von Hertling insists that Russia has not been "dishonored." If the treatment Russia has been subjected to at the hands of Germany contains no element of dishonor, Americans may form a pretty fair conception of what our fate would be were we to fall into their hands, especially if they should mix a little dishonor in their treatment.
