SUBMARINE CHASERS TOOK PART IN NAVAL WARFARE

Lee Hall of the Ford Garage is in receipt of a letter from his son, Orville, who is chief mechanic on board submarine chaser No. 210. Orville has had many thrilling experiences while after U-boats, not the least of which has been his latest, when he crossed the ocean in a boat 110 feet long and 14 feet wide in the widest place. They were ten days in crossing with nothing to eat but hardtack and corn and wet to the skin all the time.

"We are now at the entrance of the Mediterranean sea in the Strait of Gibraltar," Mr. Hall wrote. "We were sent here to keep 17 German U-boats from coming out after Austria had given up, and we didn't let them out either. We and the destroyers sank seven, then the word came to stop fighting, so we came here and are waiting for sailing orders. I have a nice letter from the British admiral on the good work of the 210. We came across and got here at 3 p. m., one day and got gas and oil but no eats, and were back out fighting subs at 8 a. m. the next day. There were 18 submarine chasers started from New London, but only seven got here in time to get in the fray, and the old 210 was one of them. That is why I got the letter."

Mr. Hall says he expects to take the southern route home which will be by way of the West Indies, then to Brazil, S. A., then to Key West and on up the coast to New London, where, he thinks, the submarine chasers will go out of commission, he hopes, as he claims he never wants to see a boat or the sea again.

BURTON WINNE RETURNED TO NEW YORK FROM ENGLAND

The household of C. W. Winne on Sherman street was made particularly happy this Christmas by a telegram reaching them from Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Winne's only son who went overseas last spring with the 65th artillery, that he had landed in New York. This was unusually glad tidings, as this young man had been sick nearly the whole of his stay in England where he was landed in a hospital and left while the rest of the regiment went to France. Several months ago Mr. and Mrs. Winne were notified that their son had recovered sufficiently to leave the hospital and was sent to a rest camp near Liverpool, England, where he has remained until sailing for home. "It won't be long until we get the boy home now," Mr. Winne remarked with a beaming face. It is expected that Burton will be discharged from the army soon.

U. OF O. FACULTY TO GIVE CREDIT FOR ARMY WORK

Men who made officers' commissions or who did two-thirds of the work necessary to obtain commissions in any of the American training camps, will receive credit for one term of work in the University of Oregon, should they register in this institution. Such was the decision of the faculty of the University in the regular December meeting.
Another decision reached was to go back to the old requirement of the full 15 units of high school work instead of the 13 to which reduction was made for S. A. T. C. men at the opening of the last term.
University credit will be allowed for military work done by non-commissioned officers in the S. A. T. C. at the order of superiors, which kept several of the con-coms from handling their academic work satisfactorily. The equivalent in credits thus lost will be given, it is ruled, but they will not count in the subjects missed.

DEMobilIZATION MAY TAKE TWO MORE YEARS

According to a statement made by Secretary Daniels, at least a year, and more probably two years, will be required before the nation can return to normal peace conditions, and "we will be fortunate if conditions abroad make demobilization possible at so early a date." The navy must be increased to enable us to help maintain our international policy by force but he hopes to see the peace conference put an end to competitive big navy building.

WHAT THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE IS DOING

Helps Reduce Insecticide Prices

Chemical advice has been given by the United States Department of Agriculture to the Food Administration, and much valuable data have been supplied to it relative to manufacturers engaged in making certain types of insecticides and the importance or nonimportance of various insecticidal materials. A representative of the Insecticide and Fungicide Board has attended several conferences between the Food Administration and manufacturers and has been able to supply data of value. As a result of the activities of the Food Administration, assisted by the Department, the price of arsenic asked by the producer has been reduced from 12 to 16 cents to 9 cents for carload lots and 9½ cents for shipments less than a carload. This presumably will lead to a reduction in the price of Paris green, lead arsenate and other arsenical insecticides to the consumer.

Good Food for Soldiers and Sailors

At the request of the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy the Department of Agriculture has participated in protecting American military and naval forces against unwholesome food, says the Secretary of Agriculture in his annual report. The Federal meat inspection, which for years has safeguarded the civil population of the United States from bad meat in interstate commerce, was extended to include the special supervision of the meat supply of the American Army and Navy. The examination, selection, and handling of meats and fats are in expert hands from the time the live animals are driven to slaughter until the finished product is delivered in good condition to the mess cooks. Inspectors were assigned to the various cantonments, training camps, forts, posts, and other places in the United States where large numbers of troops are assembled, and at the close of the fiscal year there were 69 such experts with the Army and 30 with the Navy.

Fewer Violations of Insecticide Law

Material reduction in the number of violations of the law in respect to certain spray materials, due largely to the activity of the Insecticide and Fungicide Board, has been noted since the law went into effect placing upon the United States Department of Agriculture the responsibility of regulating interstate shipments and importations into the United States of insecticides and fungicides, and also the manufacture and sale of such products in the Territories and the District of Columbia. In 1911-12 the percentage of violations in respect of lead arsenate, paste and dry, was 60; in 1917 this percentage had dropped to 10. From 28 to 12 is the record in Paris green during the same period. In 1911-12, 94 was the percentage for lime sulphur, solution and dry, while in 1917 it was 49. The violations in Bordeaux mixture and Bordeaux mixture combined with insecticides were 98 per cent for 1911-12 and 28 for 1917.

Predatory Animal Association

The county agent of Natrona County, Wyo., has organized the ranchers of his county into a Predatory Animal Association to cooperate with the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture in the control and eradication of coyotes, wolves, and bobcats. A fund of between $6,000 and $8,000 to carry on this work will be secured thru a tax of 2 cents a head on all cattle and sheep in the county. The campaign will be under the supervision of the Biological Survey.

Farm Bureaus Relieve Hay Shortage

A hay shortage in the Cascade Mountains, which seriously threatened the dairy industry in Washington, has been tided over by the county agents of the State working thru their farm bureaus. Committees of the farm bureaus in regions where hay was scarce went into neighboring localities where it was more plentiful and did the actual buying. In this way the county agents of several counties assisted the farmers to purchase as high as 1,500 tons, and thru cooperative buying were able to save the purchaser an average of $4.25 a ton. A large part of the hay was shipped from Yakima, Benton, Kittitas, and Walla Walla Counties.

Weather Warnings Save Sheep

Live-stock warnings from the Weather Bureau, Department of Agriculture, issued for the benefit of the cattle and sheep interests have been reported as of great value, particularly during the lambing and the shearing seasons. One of these warnings issued in April, 1918, from the San Francisco forecast district center resulted in the protection of over 100,000 newborn lambs and in the postponement of the shearing of great numbers of sheep.

AMERICAN WOMAN TELLS OF RED CROSS WORK IN ITALY

Miss Susan S. Cort, a niece of Mrs. Anna McCarthy of North Main St., who is now with the American Red Cross in Italy, was the first American woman to cross the Piave after the Austrian's retreat. In a recent letter to her mother she tells some of her interesting experiences as follows:

"I came out here last Wednesday with a camion full of foodstuffs, and do you know, I am the first American female to cross the Piave after the Austrian's retreat. Such a desolate, stricken country. It would be hard to describe what I have seen, and besides I have only enough paper with me for one sheet. The bombardment of the English and the Italians did a great deal of damage to the towns, and that in addition to the havoc wrought by the Austrians has left a country beyond description. I saw things all along which I never shall forget. The houses are just standing four walls—window sashes and everything movable having been carted off. There was no place, of course, for me to live. I tried to get into the English Military Hospital here, but the nurses only had a cot apiece. Then the priest brought me to an Italian Military Hospital, where I found a nurse who spoke English and they took me right in and I have been most comfortable here. Friday another Red Cross girl came to help me and she has been right with me. We give peas, beans, rice, condensed milk and canned soup to the poor. The people nearly raided us the first day and I had to get two English soldiers to bring order. "The Italian doctors have been just fine to us. I expect to be here two or three weeks, am very well, and so happy to be doing something for these people. Thousands of prisoners are brought down the road every day, and there are constantly groups of Italian liberated prisoners who have been walking back, eight or 10 days now, always on foot. I have lots of Austrian war medals."

ASHLAND GIRL CALLED INTO NURSES' TRAINING

Miss Kathleen Silver of Ashland, an instructor in one of the Roseburg schools, last week received notification from the government that she had been assigned to the nurses' course at the Sacred Heart hospital at Medford. It was the original intention of Miss Silver to confine her services to government hospitals alone, but when the call to the civilian hospital came, she decided to accept, inasmuch as the need for nurses in the hospitals in this country is as great as ever.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS TO BE AT DAIRY CONVENTION

When the Oregon Dairy association convenes at Hillsboro, January 14, a number of big men in the dairy and related industries will be on hand to speak. J. A. Kiernan, in charge of tuberculosis in the U. S. department of agriculture, will speak on latest methods of controlling the tubercular menace. Dr. B. T. Simms, veterinarian at O. A. C., will discuss control of contagious abortion. Solomon Fine, instructor in dairy production at the college, will report results of feeding tests with the college herd. And some of Oregon's leading dairy men will deal with their specialties.

LOVE LETTERS

You may write a thousand letters to the maiden you adore and declare in every letter that you love her more and more. You may praise her grace and beauty in a thousand glowing lines and compare her eyes of azure with the brightest star that shines. If you had the pen of Byron you would use it every day in composing written worship to your sweetheart far away. But a letter far more welcome to an older, gentler breast, is the letter to your mother from the boy she loves the best.

Youthful blood is fierce and flaming, and when writing to your love you will rave about your passion, swearing by the stars above, vowing by the moon's white splendor that the maiden you adore is the one that you'll ever cherish as no maid was loved before. You will pen many a promise on those pages white and dumb that you never can live up to in those married years to come. But a letter far more precious, bringing more and deeper bliss, is the letter to your mother from the boy she cannot kiss.

She will read it very often when the lights are soft and when sitting in the same old corner where she held you years ago. And regardless of its diction, or its spelling or its style, altho its composition would provoke a critic's smile, in her old and trembling fingers it becomes a work of art, stained by tears of joy and sadness as she hugs it to her heart. Yes, the letter of all others, loak wherever you may roam, is the letter to your mother from the boy away from home.—From "The Hatchet," printed on board an army transport.

THOUGHTS FOR THE NEW YEAR

If you would have success this year, Have thoughts of love, not hate or fear—
And persevere.

Experience you must obey, Her counsels wise your hand will stay—
Then on, each day.

Be cautious in each act and thought, Some day will come the things you sought—
When?—Question not.

Sweet Hope must be your bright lode-star, With her in front you'll find no bar—
Success to mar.

Perseverance, Experience, Caution, Hope—
When linked to Love, as guiding-rope—
Limitless the scope.

And Faith, we add to these, we must, To keep our treasures free from rust—
"In God we trust."

Mrs. E. Yockey, Ashland, Oregon, December 14th, 1918.

OREGON DAIRY ASSOCIATION TO MEET AT HILLSBORO

The Oregon Dairymen's association will hold its annual meeting next year at Hillsboro, January 14-15, 1919.

Hillsboro was selected, announces the secretary of the association, Prof. P. M. Brandt, head of the College dairy department, because it is the heart of a rapidly growing dairy district of great promise. The farmers of the district desired to have the annual meet at that place.

The annual meeting is said to be an event in the progress of Oregon's vital interests.

SO DECEPTIVE Many Ashland People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

Backache is so deceptive. It comes and goes—keeps you guessing.

Learn the cause—then cure it. Possibly it's weak kidneys. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective.

They're especially for weak or disordered kidneys.

Here's an Ashland case. Mrs. S. C. McDonald, 685 B St., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly today as I did three years ago when I gave my first statement. I have taken Doan's on several occasions for lameness across my kidneys and it has required only a few doses to relieve me of the misery. Doan's Kidney Pills have also proven beneficial to another member of our family who has had considerable kidney trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. McDonald had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
