

Some New $1.50 Waists that are Really Worth More

—Yes, judged by all prevailing Waist standards these Waists are WORTH MORE; worth more than the modest price at which we're going to sell them and worth more than other Waists obtainable at the same price. Figure it out for yourself, with cotton materials costing anywhere from TWO to THREE TIMES what they used to and labor costs way up in the air just what an achievement it is to be able to sell a really good, worth-while, serviceable Waist for this small sum. Our very intimate co-operation with the makers, which cuts out every possible avoidable expense explains.

Every Waist here illustrated bears the Wirthmor label, the makers' assurance as well as our own of the very ultimate in value giving and of style correctness. These Waists are made and sold under the economy-effecting Wirthmor Plan, a plan of merchandising which, irrespective of conditions insures the greatest possible values in popular priced Waists.

Wirthmor Waists can be sold in just one good store in every city, and they are sold here only.

Class Surprised Their Teacher.

The members of Mrs. J. B. Wick's Sunday school class of the Presbyterian church surprised their teacher Tuesday evening by going in a body to her home on North Main street, where a most delightful evening was spent. About fourteen were present and enjoyed the hospitality of the hostess with games, after which a picnic lunch was served.

Celebrated Birthday.

A jolly company gathered at the home of Mrs. H. G. Eastman on Scenic Drive Saturday night, where a "tacky" party was held, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of the hostess. The costumes of the participants were particularly ludicrous, and each arrival elicited gales of merriment as they made an appearance. After an evening spent in playing 500 luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Georgie Coffee, who also celebrated her birthday anniversary at the same time.

Rebekahs Install.

Hope Lodge No. 14, Daughters of Rebekah, installed officers at their meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall last Tuesday evening. With the exception of the vice grand elect, Mabel Roberts, who was absent, the following officers were inducted into office: Noble Grand, Mary Walker; recording secretary, Amy R. Moore; financial secretary, Edith Phipps; treasurer, Rowena Roberts; warden, Dora Hubbard; conductor, Pearl Wilshire; chaplain, Harriet Gowdy; R. S. N. G., Louise Perozzi; L. S. N. G., Maud Hawley; R. S. V. P., Anna Long; L. S. V. P., Minnie Casebeer; inside guard, Elizabeth Ketchum; outside guard, Anna Walker. Amy Moore acted as installing officer. Following the regular lodge session an oyster supper was served.

Wednesday Afternoon Club.

The members of the Wednesday Afternoon Club of the Presbyterian church were pleasantly entertained at the home of Miss Jessie Mathes on North Main street last Wednesday afternoon. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. H. G. Mathes and Mrs. C. F. Koehler. The women in attendance spent a portion of the afternoon making aprons for the canteen workers, after which a business meeting was held, when the annual Washington's Birthday observance was planned. The entertainment this year will take the form of a fancy dress party, and will be held Friday evening, February 21, instead of the 22nd. Committees on plans and arrangements were appointed and details will be announced later. A social period was held later, after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

AGED ASHLAND RESIDENT ANSWERS LAST SUMMONS

Joshua Young, one of the well known aged residents of Ashland, departed this life Sunday evening at the age of 85 years. Mr. Young had been sick for several years and his death at this time was not unexpected. Hardening of the arteries was the immediate cause of his demise.

Mr. Young was a native of Solville, Ohio, where he lived for many years and conducted a successful mercantile business, and for which his friendliness and remarkable geniality particularly fitted him. He was afflicted with asthma, however, in that eastern state, and in 1881 moved to Kansas, where on account of health conditions he followed farming for a time. A recurrence of the trouble in 1903 led to his coming to the Pacific coast where he spent some time in Oregon and California. His wife died in the latter state about 14 years ago.

Ten years ago Mr. Young and his daughter Mary came to Ashland to reside, and during his entire residence here he was never affected with an attack of the asthmatic trouble that brought him west. He joined the Methodist church during the 'teen age, and for many years was a class leader and Sunday school superintendent in the local churches where he made his home. During his sojourn in Ashland he had served for several years as janitor of the Methodist church.

Funeral services will be held this (Tuesday) afternoon from the Methodist church, conducted by District Superintendent J. H. Van Fossen and Rev. C. A. Edwards, and interment made in Mountain View cemetery. Mr. Young is survived by two sons, Osmund H. and Joshua D. Young of Johnson county, Kansas, and one daughter, Miss Mary Young of Ashland.

FARM BUREAU CAMPAIGN OUTLINED AT MEETING

Thirty-four men and women from various parts of the county braved the storm Friday morning to attend the organization school conducted in Medford in the interests of the newly formed Jackson county Farm Bureau. This is the first county in the state to adopt the Government plan with a paid membership of $1.00 per year. The eyes of all Oregon are watching the development of this venture with a great deal of interest. Following our initiative two other counties have started to launch a campaign for Federal Farm Bureaus.

Plans were developed and outlined by the farmers and fruitgrowers for the launching of a county wide membership drive, and a program of work for each community. The representatives attending the meeting pledged themselves to take charge of the membership drive and to carry the Farm Bureau organization to every nook and corner of the county. Thru the Farm Bureau each community will adopt a program of work adapted to its particular needs. The whole object of the Farm Bureau is to upbuild the communities thru effective organization and to bring into closer co-operation all forces which make for better community welfare.

The projects outlined deal with the three phases of rural life, the farm, the home, and the child. Any community may take advantage of the work which the Farm Bureau offers.

FORMER RESIDENTS RETAIN INTEREST IN ASHLAND

Pamplin, Va., Jan. 15, 1919. The Tidings, Ashland, Oregon. Gentlemen:

Greetings and our very best wishes from the Old Dominion. Think I am slightly in arrears with our subscription to The Tidings and am sending a check for $2.00 herewith to put us in good standing for the current year. We retain an active interest in the people, their joys and sorrows, of Ashland and community and like to keep somewhat in touch with them thru the medium of your paper as we are too busy to write letters to individual friends, much as we should like to do so.

Life on the farm here is rather strenuous and we find it necessary to "jump high and turn short" quite frequently.

With all good wishes to many friends I remain, Sincerely yours, C. W. KENNARD.

J. R. Casey underwent an operation for cataract last Friday at a local hospital. He returned home Sunday and from last reports is getting along nicely and his many friends hope with him that he may recover his eyesight.

EASTERN SUPPLY COMPANY MOVED INTO NEW QUARTERS

The Eastern Supply Company is now nicely located in its new room on Main Street next to Swenson & McRaes furniture store. It has always enjoyed a fine trade, but in its new location there is better opportunity to display its stock. The shoe repairing department is always overcrowded and Ashland people find the Eastern Supply Company an economical place to trade. adv-3-1
