NORTHWEST TO RECEIVE MILLIONS FOR ROADS

With a grand total of $37,549,970 as the Northwest's slice of federal and state, dollar for dollar, funds to build roads, within the next two working seasons, there ought to be work for everyone and good highways should become common instead of a novelty. Oregon's total will amount to $9,186,888, most of it available within 10 days.

The "dirt will start to fly" within the 90 days, according to District Engineer L. I. Hewes, in charge of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, District No. 1, which includes Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho.

Upon receiving word that the post-office appropriation had been agreed upon by the senate and house conferences at Washington, Hewes estimated the Northwest's share of the federal appropriation by means of a chart received from Washington.

"From the government Oregon will receive about $4,593,444; Washington, $3,971,782; Idaho, $3,555,357; and Montana, $5,490,771. The states, by the terms of the act will have to match these sums, bringing the total up to $34,297,708 which this district office will have at its disposal," said Hewes.

"Another source of funds for road expenditure which goes to make up the grand total is an annual appropriation of $3,000,000 for national forest roads which it is proposed to add to the $1,000,000 already appropriated for this purpose. Oregon's share has heretofore been $132,000, but will now be more than $500,000 annually.

"The total for this district amounts to $3,252,262 for forest road construction. Really, I believe this is about the best thing that ever happened to the Northwest. We can now see what an important area this is. It will surely be a big item in bringing about the readjustment of affairs following the war.

"Already I have 50 applications for engineering work for former soldiers and they will be given the first consideration in allotting the work," was the promise of Mr. Hewes.

So far as heard from, the publishers of school geographies have raised no objection to the extensive changes in the map proposed by the peace conference, which will necessitate new textbooks for all the schools.

Fancy Dress Party.

Ashland dressed in its best bib and tucker of all the periods from a century ago up to the present time was in evidence at the fancy dress party given by the Wednesday Afternoon club at their annual Washington's Birthday observance. This event was staged in Memorial hall and was largely attended by an appreciative audience, many of whom were dressed in a costume dating back to ancient times. The room was beautifully decorated with national colors and greens and flower baskets, while the quaint garb of Quaker and Pilgrim mingled with the elaborate dress of the court days when Martha Washington reigned as "First Lady of the Land." A musical program opened the evening's entertainment with orchestral selections by Dr. Woods and family, followed by several most beautifully rendered violin solos by Leonard Pettit. E. W. Hunter, the genial metropolitan insurance man, captivated the audience with his Irish monologue and topical Irish songs. The leading event of the evening followed, the fancy dress show, which was staged on the platform. A rhymed history of the times represented by the different periods of dress was read by Mrs. C. F. Koehler, portraying many interesting and amusing events in the history of fashions. The fancy dress show was closed by a grand march of all the costumed people present, led by Uncle Sam and Miss Columbia, and George and Martha Washington. Refreshments followed and the guests remained until a late hour enjoying the hospitality of the Wednesday club.

Eastern Star Met.

As a tribute to Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Whited, who have been faithful and energetic members of the Eastern Star chapter during their residence in Ashland, the local chapter incorporated a social function with the regular meeting last Tuesday night as a farewell offering to them before their leaving this city to seek a new home elsewhere. A very pleasing musical program was presented, with vocal solos by Mrs. Julia Hockett, accompanied by Mrs. Marie Stock, piano solos by Mrs. N. B. Reynolds, and violin solos by Leonard Pettit. An interchange of friendly sentiment, led by Rev. P. K. Hammond, followed, in which the expressions of deep regret were expressed in losing these estimable citizens from this city.

Trinity Guild Card Party.

Trinity Guild members gave a handsomely appointed card party in the Parish House last Tuesday afternoon which was largely attended by the Ashland women, as well as a number of guests from Medford. The rooms were beautifully decorated with laurestina and tables were arranged to accommodate all who wished to play. When the final scores were counted it was found that Mrs. Bowman of Medford had made the highest and received a handsome flowering plant as a reward for her proficiency. Elegant refreshments rounded out a delightful afternoon, and were served by the hostesses, Mesdames Frank Dean, Carl Nims, Donald Whitney, George Rose, Clark Bush, and George Nile.

Nazarene Church.

Have you heard Rev. O. B. Ong, the Quaker Evangelist? He is a man of God with a wonderful message. You will like him. Two weeks is a short time. He will soon be gone. This church is doing its best to bring the strongest preachers obtainable to get the Gospel to the people of Ashland. Don't miss your share because of what somebody has said. Meetings are as follows: Every afternoon with the exception of Mondays and Saturdays at 2:30. Every evening at 7:30. Sunday morning services at 11. "The Spirit and the bride say, Come." DORMAN D. EDWARDS, Pastor.

Entertained Music Pupils.

Mrs. J. R. Robertson entertained her younger music pupils Thursday evening of last week at a teaparty in honor of Marjorie Whited, who has been a member of her class for a number of years, and who expects to leave Ashland with her parents in the near future. Music and games were the forms of amusement until tea was served in the dining room. The little ladies composed the following guest list: Marjorie Whited, Margaret McCoy, Virginia and Patricia Summers, Elbert Greer, Louise Hansen, Genevieve Swedenburg, Fern and Frances Freeman, Laura Prescott, Noia Gasaway, Mary Galey, Gertrude Brown and Norma Williams.

Musical Fantasy Tonight.

Much interest is being manifested in the musical fantasy that is being staged in the Vining theatre tonight by the high school students, under the management of J. T. Pendegast. The production is of Mr. Pendegast's composition, and is entitled "Jack, the Giant Killer." It will present many charming musical features and dances, and will be one of the most attractive entertainments ever shown here. The orchestra under the direction of Sumner Parker will also be an attractive feature.

Civic Improvement Club.

At the meeting of the Civic Improvement Club this afternoon Miss Neil, domestic science teacher, will give a demonstration of desserts which will be of especial interest to all housewives who are urged to be present. The question of purchasing the Crater Lake painting for the library will also be settled at this meeting, which will be held in Auxiliary Hall at 2:30 o'clock this (Tuesday) afternoon.

Gave Dinner to Returned Soldiers.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McWilliams, who reside in Portland, wrote to Ashland friends last week that they had the extreme pleasure of entertaining at dinner Harold Simpson, Elbert Farlow and Earl Beigel, members of the 65th regiment, during their short sojourn in that city.

Attended College Club.

Among the Ashland members of the Rogue River College Club to attend the regular meeting held in Medford last Saturday afternoon were Mrs. F. H. Johnson, Mrs. G. O. Jarvis, Mrs. V. V. Mills, Mrs. G. H. Billings, Mrs. Ralph Billings, F. D. Wagner and Mrs. M. C. Reed. The club met at the home of Miss Grace Mitchell of Geneva street.

Elks Entertained Officer.

Ashland lodge of Elks had as their guest at the regular meeting Saturday night District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Charles H. Burggraf of Albany. A social session followed their regular business meeting, with a fine supper prepared by Caterer C. E. Lane.

Trinity Episcopal Church.

Vicar the Rev. P. K. Hammond Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m. Sunday School at 9:45. Morning service and sermon at 11. Evening service and sermon, 7:30. Strangers and visitors cordially welcomed.

Red Cross Workers Wanted.

It is earnestly requested that as many ladies as possible meet at the Red Cross rooms Wednesday and Friday afternoons of this week. There is a large amount of sewing to be done.

Entertained Friends.

Lieut. and Mrs. V. V. Mills entertained a few of their friends with cards and dancing at their home on East Main street Thursday evening

"EGG SOCIETY" TO BE ESTABLISHED IN CITY

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Farm Bureau held at Talent the suggestions formulated by John H. Dill of Ashland for the establishment of an Egg Society were adopted, and the appointment of an Egg Day was set for Thursday, February 27. This important date will be observed by a meeting in the city hall at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time regulations will be worked out for the society and committees appointed to serve on the various boards.

The object of this Egg Society is to establish uniform conditions in the production of eggs in this immediate vicinity. The society will embrace the Bellevue, Neil Creek, Ashland, Valley View and Talent districts. Saturday has been set as "Egg Day," and the Ashland Fruit Association assigned as headquarters. Here all eggs are to be accumulated where they will be candied, and nothing but the best put on the market.

All egg producers in these districts are urged to be at this meeting on Thursday to get a full understanding of the project and assist in its final formation.

Soap and washing powder can be had now at less than wholesale cost, at Ashland Trading Co.

The Fighting Roosevelts

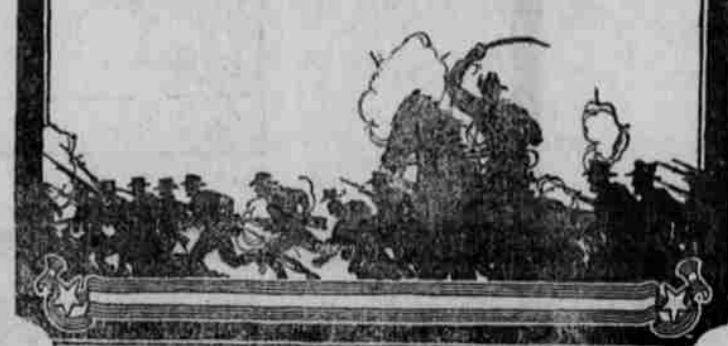

An Authorized Film Version of the Life of Theodore Roosevelt From the Cradle to the White House

Real comedy, drama, pathos and tragedy enrich the picture and make of it a splendid evening's entertainment as well as an inspiration in Americanism.

All profits whatsoever accruing to me personally until all the men are returned to their homes from the war, from the production of this scenario, will be given by me to the Red Cross and possibly other war organizations.—Theodore Roosevelt.

TRAINED DAIRYMEN WILL BOOST DAIRY INTERESTS

"Trained butter and cheese makers help the dairy business by improving the quality and lowering the cost of dairy products," declared P. S. Lucas of the dairy department in announcing that every man who has finished the O. A. C. short course has been gobbled up by the creameries and cheese factories. With a single exception the men took employment in Oregon, one going to Idaho. "By substituting tests and technic for rule-of-thumb practices more and better work can be done," Mr. Lucas asserted. "Dairy factory men appreciate this and we have more calls right now for trained dairymen than we are able to fill.

"Altho some of these men were inexperienced the class as a whole was above the average and kept on the hop, skip and jump to do the practical work required. But they did it, and most of them have successfully taken the State teachers' examination.
