Club Girl Works for State Fair Prize

Following is the story of a 15-year-old member of a boys' and girls' club conducted under the direction of the United States Department of Agriculture and proves what one girl can do others may do also:

"I was born and raised in Salt Lake City. When I was 8 years old my father moved to his farm in Pleasant Green near Utah Copper Mills and Garfield Smelter, Salt Lake County, Utah. It was covered with sage brush and rock, which had to be removed.

"The following spring we cleared a part of the land and planted 1,500 fruit trees. We also engaged in truck farming that season. I, the oldest girl of a very large family, assisted my father in every way I could. He always enjoyed instructing me, and he explained every little question I asked him. He taught me how to plant small seeds by mixing them with sand, scattering it along the trench, and covering with a hoe. Also he taught me to plant vegetables and how to cultivate. We raised an abundance of tomatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, peppers, egg plant, and also 1,600 bushels of carrots and 200 bushels of potatoes.

"The next year I assisted again, and the following year—I was then 11 years old—he gave me a small space of my own, which he plowed for me. He made me plant everything for myself, also do the weeding and hoeing. I raised an amount of garden truck and took it to town and sold it. The next year—at the age of 12—I was attending school in Hunter when they started a boys' and girls' club. When I joined my father said I would have to learn to plow, so he bought me an 8-inch plow. I plowed about half an acre, then he allowed me to drive three horses with a sulky plow. I plowed 20 acres for him that year and mowed 33 acres of alfalfa hay. My sister raked it, and we all bunched it and I helped stack it. I raised 9 different kinds of tomatoes, 6 different kinds of peppers, cauliflower, cabbage, and peanuts, and 72 different kinds of flowers. I took first prize at the grade school and first prize at the high school and second prize at the State fair.

"Last year I plowed, leveled, and harrowed 30 acres and cut all father's hay, put up 300 quarts of fruit and vegetables, and had a war garden. This year I plowed 60 acres all myself, harrowed and leveled it—wheat, alfalfa, and beets—and helped father plant and cut and irrigate. I put up my fruit and vegetables—600 quarts—besides drying vegetables and fruit, and have baked the bread, and on Saturday and after school I will have to plow until the ground freezes up, and finish in the spring, 1919. I am going to take the first prize away from the boys in gardening in the Utah State fair.

"I attend the Cypress High school. When I finish there I am going to go to the Utah Agricultural College.

"I also raised 100 chickens this year. I joined the Soldiers of the Soil, and with $15 I borrowed in June I bought 105 baby chickens and raised 100 of them. In June, 1919, I will pay off my note. I am going to market all my roosters and keep the pullets. I could pay the note now, but I am going to lend it to Uncle Sam on the Fourth Liberty bond for our boys over there. I have found time to knit socks for some of my cousins over on the firing line.

"I would like to have the boys and girls join the Utah boys' and girls' club. If they only knew how much they could learn they would all join."

During a fire at Petaluna, Calif., the crowds greatly hindered the firemen until the Boy Scouts began to guard the fire lines. Steps have been taken to have Scouts guard the hose lines at every fire hereafter.

Woodland Profitable Investment in Future

The various demands which the war made upon the farm woodlands in the way of wood fuel, walnut for gunstocks and airplane propellers, locust for tree-nails, oak and hickory for vehicle construction and other purposes, to say nothing of the numerous lesser demands, have brought woodlands more directly to the attention of farmers than ever before. During the next month or so, before the spring planting season begins, farmers should decide definitely what land is to be kept in woods and what is to be cleared for farm purposes. On many farms there are small areas unprofitable for farm purposes which should be reforested as soon as the price of nursery stock and labor become normal. Now is the time to make plans for the future, laying out with the assistance of the county agent a program of woodland improvement which shall have for its object the growing on the land available the greatest possible amount of the most valuable or most rapid growing trees. Then, as time and labor become available, the plans can be carried out. The poorer species of trees should be gradually eliminated and openings in the woodland filled in just as the farmer replants the failed place in his cornfield. A few days spent now in carefully considering these subjects will bring ample returns in the future.

Taxes on Luxuries Goes Into Effect

Signing of the revenue bill by President Wilson enroute to Washington puts into operation machinery for collecting six billions of taxes this year.

Higher taxes have gone into effect on liquor and soft drinks, including near beer, grape juice, soda water and mineral waters and on tobacco and on so-called luxuries. Anticipating imposition of new taxes, thousands of gallons of whiskey had been withdrawn from government bonded warehouses within the last week, with tax paid at the old rate of $3.20 a gallon, to escape the higher rate of $6.40 a gallon now effective.

Articles in the "luxury" class on which new taxes went into effect include automobiles and motor accessories, pianos, sporting goods, chewing gum, cameras, candy, firearms, slot machines, toilet soaps and art goods. The tax is paid by the manufacturer.
