Treaty to be Enforced Settlement Of Land Is a Vital Problem

treaty, declares that they mean the ruin of Germany if they are enforced.

A note on territorial questions protests particularly against the Saar Valley arrangement and the transfer of the Malmedy, Moreanet and Eupen districts to Belgium, as well as the forced evacuation of a part of Schleswig.

A note on reparation does not protest against the payment by Germany for the devastation wrought in Belgium and Northern France, which it says Germany is ready to do willingly. It is added, however, that Germany will not pay reparation for this damage on the principle that she was responsible for the war.

The note on the question of prisoners says:

"The German peace delegation notes with satisfaction that the project recognizes the principle of the return of prisoners of war and civilians with the least possible delay. The delegation deems that all the details of the execution of this measure ought to be submitted to a special commission.

"Direct oral discussions between the commission and nearly all the belligerents concerning prisoners of war have been considered, even during hostilities, as the surest means of solving the difficulties. It ought today to be all the easier to reconcile the different viewpoints and clear up certain obscurities still existing on certain details of the problem.

"For instance, as a result of the diversity of viewpoint of the law in the different countries interested, the German delegation considers it indispensable that prisoners of war and the civilians undergoing penalties for other infractions than those of discipline should be in a group that ought to be repatriated unconditionally. Germany has recognized this principle regarding prisoners of war and civilians of the allied and associated powers in its custody.

"The German delegation deems it necessary for reasons of equity to accord certain improvements in the treatment of prisoners, military and civilians pending the time when they may return to their own country."

Settlement Of Land Is a Vital Problem

At the meeting of the state land settlement commission held in Portland Monday Charles L. Wheeler made the statement that next to the construction of good roads the greatest need of this state is the settlement of its lands. According to Mr. Wheeler there are 2,500,000 acres of logged-off land in Oregon in addition to the vast areas which may be reclaimed by drainage and irrigation, and all of it can be made productive.

"Heretofore lumbermen have been interested only in cutting and marketing their timber," continued Mr. Wheeler, "but they are now waking up to the fact that the land needs attention after the timber is exhausted. They are realizing that burning slashings and setting logged-off lands is a protection against forest fires. By leaving slashings on the ground, the cost of clearing each year thereafter will be increased $6 per acre, due to the heavy undergrowth which starts.

"In my opinion this land should be burned over as soon as the timber is cut, then it should be classified by land experts and seeded to grasses and the logging roads should be turned into wagon roads. This would partly develop the land for settlement. Then the land should be handled on the same basis as the reclamation of arid land thru irrigation. Settlers should be given tracts of 40 acres or more on easy payments and at a price fixed by some should be given assistance in clearing five to ten acres of ground. With five acres of ground cleared and in cultivation, a cow, horses, pigs, chickens and a house, a farmer in the logged-off land may be considered over the top and if he has 10 acres in cultivation, he is able to lay aside some money. The land is extremely fertile and will raise tremendous crops.

"If a man goes alone into the logged-off land, it will cost him about $125 an acre to clear the soil and he will just about get a farm started during his life. With several working together co-operatively and with a stump puller, the clearing can be done for less than $50 an acre. By adopting some sort of plan whereby the work of clearing five or ten acres on each tract will be at small cost to the settler, it would not be long before our logged-off areas would be covered with farms. The big thing in this line is proper supervision, and to me it appears that this is one of the things the land settlement commission should undertake."

Plans for installing a number of farm settlement units in various sections of the state were discussed. Five such projects will be launched, one of which will be near Independence, one in Central Oregon, one in Eastern Oregon, one in Southern Oregon and another in the coast territory. The commission has only $50,000 for these units, but should the state reconstruction bonds carry, $637,000 will be available for the work, and should the proposed federal land settlement appropriation of $500,000,000 be made, a much larger sum will be placed at the disposal of the commission.

Important National Parks.
Yellowstone national park was constituted by congress many years ago. This public playground of the whole people, now an object of interest to every tourist who visits the West, includes the famous geyser district of the Yellowstone valley and hundreds of other interesting phenomena and beauties of nature. The park has an area of 2,142,720 acres, making it by far the largest as well as the first of the national parks of the nation. Other important national parks in the United States are the Yosemite in California, the Glacier in Montana, the Mt. Rainier in Washington, the Sequoia in California, the Crater lake in Oregon, the Wind Cave in South Dakota, the Platt in Oklahoma and the Mesa Verde in Colorado.

Hand Picked.
The young bride was enthusiastic over her home and its furniture. It had cost exorbitant prices because it was hand made. To agree with it she demanded hand-made curtains, sheets, etc. Then came the end of the honeymoon and the settling down to actual living. One day the bride tripped to market to buy her first chicken. "I want a very good one," she stipulated to the butcher. "I don't care how much it costs if it's only hand picked."

Mrs. Francis A. Murphy of Talent died at a local hospital Tuesday morning where she had been an inmate for several days, after an extended illness. The deceased was 58 years of age and had been sick for several months. Funeral services were held Thursday morning and the body taken to Talent for interment in the Stearns cemetery.

The little three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen McGee was thrown from a moving car yesterday onto the street and sustained quite bad bruises. The little one was standing in the car, and as it rounded a curve in the street on North Main, the child was thrown against the door, which opened and precipitated her into the street. She was taken to a physician where it was found no bones were broken, but she was badly bruised.

LANDOR HAD PROPHETIC EYE

Brilliant Englishman Correctly Fore-saw Dire Events of Which He Vainly Warned His Countrymen.

The pamphlet to Lord Liverpool and the British parliament, written by Walter Savage Landor in 1813, of which two copies only are known to exist, makes highly spirited reading. In it he sets out, with keen concern and much energy of indignation, to criticize the magnanimity with which Europe, and more especially England, showed themselves inclined to treat Napoleon after the battle of Leipzig, Napoleon whom Landor regarded as a criminal, fit only for the gallows. Of Elba, he declared prophetically that it was "a rat trap open at both ends, from which it was impossible that Napoleon should not escape." Was the congress of Vienna, he asked in bitter scorn, with its "well-dressed ambassadors and ingenious state papers," to produce nothing more lasting than another treaty of Utrecht? He called in vain for the temper of Lord Chatham which should deliver the country from a mere "experimental peace." Within a year of Napoleon's banishment to the "rat trap open at both ends," he was back in France, and Europe was once more plunged into war.

Laugh Reveals Much.
There is the man who is always smiling, whose whole person radiates affection and good cheer. His is the frank, open countenance that makes and keeps friends, for he has the true spirit of good-fellowship.

He is the man whom you enjoy going to with good news, and of whose sympathy you can be sure when you are in trouble. He is the friend, always, that everyone admires, trusts and likes, just because he has the smile that spells warmth.

A laugh is a little thing, and apparently to judge a man by his laugh seems like making a mountain out of a molehill. But "straws show which way the wind blows," and psychologists assert that the little things are the real indices to character. So watch out when your friends laugh, and see if they are worth while.—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Information For Oregon Fishermen

These bulletins are issued weekly by the Forest Service and report the fishing conditions for streams in Western Oregon. These reports are based on data furnished by the field men.

Eagle Creek—Good catches of trout are reported on points above the Punchbowl. Reached by Columbia River Highway and Eagle Creek trail, also by railroad to Bonneville or Eagle Creek.

Tanner Creek—Good catches of trout reported at points below the falls. Reached by Columbia River Highway or railroad by way of Bonneville. Fishermen report better catches on Tanner Creek than Eagle Creek.

South Fork Santiam River—Good catches of trout are being made at Cascadia eastward to the Anderson ranch. Reached by the Willamette Valley and Cascade mountain wagon road by way of Lebanon. The catches are now being made by bait fishing. There is considerable snow water still running.

Fish, Clear and Big Lakes—No report of any fishermen reaching these lakes has been received.

North Santiam and Brightenbush Rivers—Small catches of Dollyvarden trout are being made near Detroit. Reached by railroad. Streams still swollen from melting snow.

Rogue River—Small catches of Chinook Salmon are being made at Grants Pass and other points along the river. Reached by railroad and auto roads by way of Grants Pass. River is still too high for fly fishing.

Little River—Good catches of Salmon trout are being made between Glide and the mouth of Cavitt Creek. Reached by auto stage. Salmon trout are biting only in the deep holes. River is too high and cold for mountain trout.

North Umpqua River—Fish are not biting.
Row River—Good catches of speckled and red sides trout are being made at Dorena, Row River and Wildwood. Reached by auto from Cottage Grove.

Sharps Creek and Layng Creek—Water is too high and cold for fishing.

After July 1 the boys will have to consult a spiritualist to find out where the spirits are.
