"Stung!" —From Puck.

One Country.

After all,
One country, brethren! We must rise or fall
With the supreme republic. We must be
The makers of her immortality—
Her freedom, fame,
Her glory or her shame,
Liesmen to God and fathers of the free!

After all—
Hark! From the heights the clean, strong clarion call
And the command imperious: "Stand forth
Sons of the South and brothers of the North!
Stand forth and be
As an roll and sea—
Your country's honor more than empire's worth!"

After all,
"The Freedom wears the loveliest coronal
Her brow is to the morning; in the sod
She breathes the breath of patriots; every cloud
Answers her call
And rises like a wall
Against the foes of liberty and God!
—Frank L. Stanton.

MILITARY RANK GIVEN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Distinguished college rank has been bestowed on Oregon Agricultural college the third time by the U. S. war department. This is granted for excellency in military science and drill. This high honor is accorded only 10 colleges in the United States.

The Science of Being Useful

Business is the state of being busy. American business is the entire American people in the business of providing itself with a living.

Only through the usefulness of all can everything be done which must be done, and everyone rewarded who does it.

Swift & Company, with other great American businesses, interprets its mission as more than the mere Science of Making Money.

It realizes the surest way to make money is to prove its usefulness; that the more useful a business is the more successful it must be because it is a greater benefit to mankind.

Today's success of Swift & Company is a measure of the quantity and quality of its usefulness—of the number of people it helps, and the number of ways and the degrees in which it benefits them.

Let us send you a Swift "Dollar". It will interest you. Address Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill.

Farm Journal Tells Story of The Silo

Oregon Agricultural College, June 27.—Erection of 1200 new silos in Oregon this season has prompted the Oregon Countryman, published by the students of agriculture and home economics at the agricultural college, to tell in the July issue the story of the progress in silo construction and use of silage in this state.

"Silage is fed by many successful dairymen wherever green pasture fails for any part of the year," says C. J. McIntosh of the department of industrial journalism, who will edit the summer vacation numbers. "Silos are called pastures under cover, available at all time and in any amounts needed."

"Long regarded as a winter and early spring feed, silage is now used to prolong the summer succulent season. Such crops as vetch and oats, put down with plenty of water, are fed thru fall as needed. Later, corn and other standard silages are fed thru the winter and early spring till grass comes. Spring is the best milk season, but the silo has brought near-spring to thousands of Oregon dairy cows."

"Silage is also largely used as beef cattle and sheep feeds in Oregon. Some of the state's most successful cattle and sheep men have become the biggest silo boosters, and the story of their use of silage will be told in the Oregon Countryman by E. L. Potter, professor of animal husbandry, for the benefit of other livestockmen and farmers."

LAND PLASTER HELPS CLOVER AT O. A. C.

Land plaster, 75 pounds per acre, greatly increased the vigor and stand of clover in a series of cultural trials on the agricultural college station farms at Corvallis, Ore. This advantage from use of land plaster held good either with or without nurse-crops.

I GET THE BEARD BUT LEAVE THE ROOTS

I'm not after the "pound of flesh"—I leave the roots to continue their growth.
