"The Busher" is possessed of as zippy a curve you ever saw. Lots of speed—but no control. He's dead from the neck up. Until—but that's when he ceases being a busher. This yarn leads to the league, we'll say.

Ray surely puts a big laugh right over the home plate in this baseball photoplay story. The women will be able to understand it without a diagram.

Gave Dinner for Bishop.
Honoring the visit of Bishop Matt S. Hughes, who visited Ashland and preached in the Methodist church Sunday morning, Rev. and Mrs. Charles A. Edwards gave a dinner at the parsonage Saturday evening. Those present were Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Van Fossen, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Fuller, Mrs. M. C. Reed and Dr. G. W. Gregg. Mr. Fuller was a fraternity man from the same university as Bishop Hughes.

Luncheon for Mrs. Thompson.
Colonel George P. Mims of Medford entertained at luncheon Friday in honor of Mrs. Alexander Thompson, representative to the legislature from Hood River, who has been visiting in this section during the past week. Mrs. John H. Dill of Ashland and Mrs. J. R. Crews of Medford were invited to meet Mrs. Thompson at the luncheon.

Charming Home Wedding.

A pretty home wedding took place at noon today, Tuesday, August 19, when Miss Allie B. Shinn became the bride of Howard J. Barrett at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Shinn, on Oak street. Only relatives and close friends of the bride and groom witnessed the ceremony which was read by Rev. C. F. Koehler, pastor of the Presbyterian church. An informal reception followed the ceremony, after which luncheon was served. The house was attractive with greenery and flowers, and the dining table decorations were carried out in pink and white. Guests at the wedding beside the bride's father and mother were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Barrett, the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kincaid, R. P. Campbell and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Paulserud, Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Koehler, and Neil Shinn. Both Mr. and Mrs. Barrett are well known and popular young people of Ashland, and the wedding of today is one of much interest to their hosts of friends. Although quiet and informal as the ceremony was, the best wishes and heartiest congratulations are showered upon them at this time. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shinn, and is a graduate of the Ashland high school of the class of 1913. She is a charming and winsome young woman with a faculty of making and keeping friends, whom she counts by the score in this city and elsewhere. Mr. Barrett was junior partner of the tailoring firm of Paulserud & Barrett for some time previous to the summer of 1917, when he entered the United States military service with the old Oregon First company. Since his discharge from the service last winter he resumed his former position, and is one of the promising young business men of the city. After the ceremony the young people left for an automobile trip to Crescent City, and possibly farther down the coast. After September 1, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett will make their home in the Boslough bungalow on Vista and Terrace streets.

Cober-Foster Marriage.

Miss Eva Polzy was in Dunsmuir last week where she participated as an attendant in the wedding of her cousin, Miss Bernice Foster, who was married to Benjamin A. Cober. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Foster, Tuesday at 4 p. m.

Rev. U. L. Walker, pastor of the First Methodist church of Dunsmuir reading the service. Miss Polzy and Dr. Mabel Conger were bride attendants and B. B. Bigelow served as best man. Following a wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Cober left for a few weeks' tour of the bay cities and Yellowstone Park.

Bishop as Dinner Guest.

Bishop Matt S. Hughes of Portland was the Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Monroe at their home at Moravia ranch in South Ashland.

Married at Lithia Park.

Oliver F. Olds and Miss Eva May Santae, both of Grants Pass, were married Saturday in Ashland in the presence of a few intimate friends. The ceremony was performed under Rondell-Johnson Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Clayre M. Johnson of this city and Charles Z. Rondell of Pendleton was solemnized in Jacksonville last evening, Monday, August 18. The service was read by Rev. A. H. Gammons, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Jacksonville. The bridal party was accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Burdick and Otis H. Johnson, Jr. They will leave this evening for Pendleton where they will reside. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Johnson, and is one of the popular young women of Ashland where she has spent much of her girlhood. She is an efficient ethnographer and had held positions in Ashland, Medford and other places for two or three years, and later had been located in San Francisco with her sister, Mrs. Pearl Dodge. She had only returned home a few weeks ago to prepare for her marriage. Mr. Rondell is a rising young attorney of Pendleton, and is late of the United States army in which he held the rank of lieutenant. The best wishes of Mrs. Rondell's friends in Ashland go with her and her husband.

TIDINGS OF TEMPERANCE

It is always noon-time somewhere And across the awakening continents From shore to shore. Somewhere our prayers are rising evermore.

The American Train Dispatchers' Association at its Chicago convention unanimously endorsed National Prohibition. Total abstinence is one of their requirements for membership in the association.

Many Labor Unions of States challenge the statement of Mr. Gompers and others that organized labor is opposed to prohibition. The Arizona President of the Labor Federation, promptly resigned on hearing of the resolution at Atlantic City. The working men of America do not need or want beer.

Chicago Physicians, Health Commissioners, Physicians of Cook Co. Hospital, Surgeon Chief of St. Luke's Hospital and others, all agree that a wonderful decrease in death rate and disease will follow National Prohibition.

An amusing cartoon appears in the National Issue. The Police Judge sits asleep at his cobweb covered desk. A policeman drops his club, stretches and yawns—"Oh, Hum, No Beer, No Work" in City government these days.

"World Prohibition by 1925!" Isn't that a splendid challenge? Don't you want a part in the making of a fact? O, you Oregon people, you would not go back to the old days of terror and want and crime, never! But if it is good for our state and for our nation, aren't you anxious that other nations shall be free indeed? If America has been lifted up to be a light to the Nations, to bring hope to the oppressed and liberty to the captive, let America give this larger liberty, the freedom from sin and the curse and bondage of drink to other lands. How is this to be done? Pray, study, give. Help the campaign to send literature, speakers and workers overseas. Many are already gone. We want many more. If you are a world patriot you will do your bit. Ashland citizens were more than 100 per cent loyal in every war undertaking. What a splendid thing it would be if Ashland citizens were equally loyal in the support of World Prohibition. Let us carry on.

HOME LOST BY FIRE

To the Editor:
W. H. Sullivan, formerly a resident of Ashland, and now living at Marcola, Ore., met with a heavy loss Saturday night. He awoke to find their lovely home in flames. He at once aroused his wife, and to their horror pieces of the ceiling in the living room were already falling. Their home was a beautiful nine room bungalow on the banks of the silver Mohawk river where they have resided for six years.

Eighteen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan came to Ashland. With their family of seven little ones, Mr. Sullivan had to be carried to the station, so weakened was his condition from years of inexpressible suffering with asthma. But hearing of a spot called Ashland, far to the west of the titanic Rockies, where any one who breathed its healing air would be permanently cured of that terrible malady, asthma, he gathered together his scanty belongings (as he was just that month discharged from the bankrupt court of the sixth judicial district of Minnesota), and located at Ashland. In a few months, with absolutely no medicine except Ashland's matchless air, and healing water, and the congenial brotherhood of Ashland's people, he found himself a well man and worked twelve years for the Southern Pacific railroad company, never losing a day in all that time by sickness. And stranger still, during that twelve years of labor, the hours of overtime he worked aggregated to eighteen months overtime. Oh! wonderful, beautiful Ashland, with your fountain of health, and sources of wealth, and schools beyond compare. Ashland's climate is an unerring cure for asthma.
