The Boating Club gave one of its delightful dancing parties in the hall above the No. 2 engine house last night. A large and gay crowd was in attendance. A cakewalk with all its attending diversions was carried through to the delight of all.

The Astorian begs pardon of Rev. I. Peart, for the mistake in the notices for the evening services tonight at the Methodist church. The subject of the sermon will be: "A Strange Scene, a Vast City and not a man in it." There will be a sacred song service before the sermon, of thirty minutes duration—an anthem by the choir, a solo by Mrs. Maddock, also a solo by Mr. Johnson will be features of the song service. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these services.

"A Romance of Coon Hollow," which appears at Fisher's opera house next Wednesday evening, comes direct from the Marquam Grand, Portland, where they play tomorrow and Tuesday evenings. "A Romance of Coon Hollow" is one of the largest dramatic organizations on the road. Besides a magnificent equipment of scenery, calcium and electric effects, and a strong acting company, the troupe carries a band of colored boy and girl buck dancers and two quartettes. It has been before the public five successful seasons and has made a strong success in New York and all the larger cities, from Boston to San Francisco. The production here will be a duplicate of the original presentation at the Fourteenth Street Theater, New York, as all the scenery is carried, no house stuff being used. Seats on sale Tuesday morning at Griffin & Reed's.

NOTICE TO ELKS.

All members of Quinlin lodge 130 B. P. O. E. Elks are requested to meet at their hall on Monday at 12:30 o'clock to attend the funeral of our late Brother, Dr. A. L. Fulton.
JOHN FOX, Exalted Ruler.
J. CARNEY, Secy.

STRUCK AN ICEBERG.

The Steamer Dora Meets With an Accident in the Northern Waters.

PORT TOWNSEND, Nov. 11.—The steamer Alki from Alaska brings news of the collision of the steamer Dora on the night of Nov. 4 while on her way from Valdez to Juneau, with an iceberg in Cross sound.

When she struck she began to fill so rapidly that she was at once headed for shore and beached, but not before the men in the fire room were standing waist deep in water.
She was beached at high tide and patched when the tide went out so that she was able to reach Juneau, where she is undergoing repairs.
