THE BEST CORSET FOR AMERICAN WOMEN IS

The W. C. C.

They are strictly hand made. They surpass in wearing qualities and fit and equal in finish the best imported corset sold in America.

SOME REASONS why they are better for the American women than the imported corset

BECAUSE they are fitted to American models when manufactured, and consequently fit the American figure. The imported corsets are fitted to the French figure, and consequently do not.

BECAUSE fitting the American figure, they are health-giving, their shape removing the over-tax on the heart, increasing the mental and physical capacity, improving the digestion and assimilation, and giving new life and ambition to the wearer.

BECAUSE they are adapted to any style of dress, for they are made to fit the American figure, and a corset fitting correctly will enable any practical modiste to give the wearer entire satisfaction in the fit of her gown, no matter what the style of her costume may be.

BECAUSE, although superior in every way, they are 50 per cent cheaper in price than the best imported corset sold in America.

THE WEEK IN LONDON.

Political Affairs Are Dormant and the Spirit of War and Imperialism Rampant.

(Copyrighted 1900, Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 14.—Easter eggs this season are decorated with pictures of General Lord Roberts and Union Jacks, with shamrocks and Irish harps interwoven on their grounds. Political affairs are in a dormant state and war and the spirit of imperialism is in the ascendant. Had any one dared to prophesy at this time last year that those things would have come about within a twelve-month, he would have been laughed to scorn.

A spirit of rejoicing pervades the country, which is not at all justified by the progress of British arms in South Africa. Nevertheless, England needs an outlet for the enthusiam over past victories, for the escape of the Prince of Wales and for the prosperous times that have benefited the country; so it is small wonder that an unprecedented flood of excursionists is leaving London over Good Friday and Easter Monday. Every one who can afford it has gone away and holiday making is the rage of the moment.

Next week marks the opening of the Paris exposition. Comparatively few Britishers are likely to attend. Seven months ago thousands were planning to visit Paris; but since the anti-British press in France has become so venemous, almost all interest seems to have been lost in what promised to be one of the greatest expositions of the century.

Punch's cartoon this week represents Punch bowing to Mistress Paris and wishing her good fortune; but this does not represent in the slightest degree popular opinion, for, as the Globe says: "The British people are not going to the show."

Speaking of shows, one of the most ancient occurred this week when the Royal Maundy Money was distributed to old men and women at Westminster Abbey. The ceremony of giving small alms to deserving persons with yeoman of the guard in attendance as usual, attracted large crowds and, according to an evening paper, the red purses containing the queen's small gift were eagerly bought up by American visitors, some of whom offered as much as £5 fo rthem. The number of recipients increases with each year of the queen's life and the eighty-one men and eighty-one women who the other day tottered up to the Abbey Chancel formed a striging, living commentary on the great age of the empire's active sovereign.

Next week will doubtless be marked by scenes of enthusiasm over the arrival of Sir George White. Despite what were alleged to be his mistakes, it is doubtful if any British general except Lord Roberts himself is half so popular as is the defender of Ladysmith. Buckles hearing his photograph are already being generally worn; and in this connection it is interesting to note how what English papers once deride as the "American button fad" has come into popularity in England.

The Outlook relates that while Sir George White stood in the Market Place at Ladysmith immediately after the relief of that place, while cheering throngs surged around him and as the congratulatory message of the queen was being read out, he said, with emotion, "England is very kind to me, who has lost her two regiments."

The simple pathos, readiness to accept blame and pluck of this man have touched the hearts of the people as deeply as if he had won a hundred battles. Moreoevr, he is the friend and pupil of the beloved idol "Bobs."

Curiously enough, the same day Sergeant Patrick Campbell's name appeared on the list of killed in South Africa, the husband of another actress was numbered in the same columns. He was Captain Tennant, who, four years ago, married Maude Millet. Campbell was a well-known sportsman and married before his wife had any idea of going on the stage. He was obliged to seek a living, wandered to South Africa and secured an engagement at a hotel in Beira, by which he was paid and fed in return for his daily services with his gun and the contents of his game bag.

While thus employed his wife went on the London stage, made a hit and begged her husband to return, but he refused to do so until he became independent. Finally he came back, joined his wife and left to go once more to South Africa, this time as a sergeant of yeomanry.

Young Somers Somerset, the son of Lady Henry Somerset, who is well known in America, has been deprived of his chances of becoming Duke of Beaufort by the birth of a son to the present holder of that title. For years young Somerset has been the heir apparent to the dukedom, as hitherto the duke of Beaufort only had two daughters. But now, for the first time in a century and a half, a marquis of Worcester has been born and Somerset, during the life of this young marquis, will never be called His Grace.

Somerset married four years ago, and has a son. Though this unexpected marquis of Worcester, for the duke of Beaufort is an old man, robs Somerset of a dukedom, he comes in for a considerable fortune upon the demise of his father, whose marriage to Lady Henry resulted in such notorious unhappiness and disagreement. Young Somerset is one of the keenest motor car experts in England.

Designer Fife is busy making plans for improving the Shamrock. He has had a testing tank fitted up, various models are being tried and the results are carefully tabled to enable him to redraft the lines of the defeated cup challenger. It is said that Fife has a free hand in making any alterations he may see fit.

Captain Sycamore, who has been retained for the command of the Distant Shore, though that yacht is not likely to be fitted out this season, has refused Cornelius Vanderbilt's offer to command his new 70-footer now building at the Hereshoffs. It is said that Sycamore's declination is due to his desire to take part in the important contest to be sailed in 1901.

Poor Stephan Crane, who is lying at the point of death, has for the past year been occupying one of the oldest houses in England. It is situated in the loveliest part of Sussex and is owned by Moreton Frewen. It is called Brede Place, and was built in 1400. In reality it is a miniature castle. There, with straw littered over the stoned floors, with huge old fire places burning brightly and with everything as in the feudal times, the man who wrote "The Red Badge of Courage," has been turning out books and magazine stories with an industry for which few who knew him in his younger days gave him credit. Though, perhaps, the most American of all the Americans in England, no one in English literary circles is spoken if more lovingly and admiringly than the author whose career threatens to end before he reaches his thirtieth year. His wife is with him.

The spring inflow of Americans has begun and while many of the visitors are already hurrying to Paris, the hotels and other public resorts give ample evidence of the return of the tide of American travel. Not since midsummer last has Southampton presented a busier appearance than on Thursday when the American liner St. Paul arrived with a long list of theatrical people and general tourists. Prominent among the former were Mrs. Leslie Carter, David Belasco and members of the "Zaza" company; George W. Lederer, Edna May; J. Sullivan and the members of "The American Beauty" company. Mrs. Carter's first visit was to the Garrick theater, which opens April 16. She went to the theater on Thursday afternoon. Four rough days at sea had developed a somewhat serious throat affection, compelling Mrs. Carter to seek a specialist immediately.

YOUNG DEWEY'S APPROVAL.

Announces Himself Satisfied With Arrangements for His Father's Chicago Reception.

CHICAGO, April 14.—George Dewey, jr., will help show his father the sights when the admiral comes to town, May 1. The sailor chieftain's son, who is a full-fledged young Chicago business man, called at Dewey day headquarters to confer with the committee on reception. George, jr., looked over the "plan and scope," said he thought his father would like it and accepted the chairman's invitation to become a member of the committee and help the old folks enjoy themselves.

INCOMPETENT COMMANDERS.

Serious Charges Against Several Prominent British Officers Again Repeated.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 5.—A British officer, writing in Today, of Vaal Kranta, says:

"I do not know if it is any use to descant always on the shortcomings of our generals, but they are brought home to us so constantly by bitter experiences that we cannot keep them from our minds, and we cannot resent the obstinacy of the war office authorities who deliberately allow thousands of lives to be sacrificed rather than remove those who, in peace have won favor and promotion by social influence and backstairs intrigue and are really responsible for most of our disasters.

"The general who led his brigade in 'mass of column' under the enemy's guns at Colenso is still in command of that brigade and there has been no voice raised in England against such stupendous folly. Five hundred and fifty men were lost on that occasion, but because the Irish brigade stood firm it did not attract public attention. The Highlanders at Magersfontein, under similar but less aggravated circumstances, suffered no greater loss, retreated three times from the field and all England clamored for the suppression of the responsible person.

"Since then General Hart has lost no opportunity of repeating his offense; he even attributed the ill success of the day to the fact that the battalions were afterward extended to single instead of double rank and censured commanding officers for having saved an even greater disaster. Near Spionkop he took personal command of the York and Lancaster and South Lancaster regiments and ordered a futile bayonet charge at an enemy nearly 1,500 yards away. This attracted such heavy fire that the two regiments sought shelter and declined to follow their officers another yard. The Irish brigade had to be called to the rescue and passed through the prostrate line.

"No one has any confidence in General Hart's leadership and every officer and man from General Buller down is aware of his incompetency. Nearly half of his brigade have been killed and wounded; neither the Highland nor any other brigade has suffered in anything like the same proportion; the Inniskilling fusiliers have only three of the officers who were with them three months ago still serving and can now in all muster five officers. A few more battles and the brigade will cease to exist.

General Hart's talents fit him to be drill sergeant—not a leader of men. No latitude is given to even the most experienced commanders. He must always keep, as he says, a tight grip on his brigade, which means discomfort and annoyance in peace and disaster in war.

"As an example of the extreme to which this policy is carried, I will give one instance among many. After the battle of Spionkop the troops who had been for ten days under constant fire and endured every sort of hardship, were naturally somewhat exhausted; moreover they had had a severe night march covering the rear of the retreating army.

"General Buller decided it was necessary that they should have some days rest and a camping ground was selected. The tents, however, were not pitched in the morning and the men lay out in the sun all day. In the afternoon General Hart was of the opinion that the camp might be within the range of the enemy's big guns and decided to pitch camp a mile further back. But instead of pointing out the ground to the commanding officers and directing them to move their battalions to the place, he formed the four regiments on a brigade parade and after some time had been given up to covering correctly, an elaborate brigade maneuver began.

"The ground was broken and covered with deep water courses, so that the dressing and distance was difficult to maintain. Staff officers galloped from place to place; the men and officers were abused, halted, moved to the right, moved to the left. It was impossible to shut one's ears to the muttered curses of men, worn out with fatigue and want of sleep, at this useless show, which might possibly have been very edifying at Aldershot at a royal review but which, in actual warfare, strained the much needed strength of the soldiers.

"An hour and a half was occupied in traversing a mile and a half of ground, which could easily have been covered in twenty minutes. In this way the men were harassed and worn out at a time when they should be recovering strength for future efforts; in this way the hospitals are filled with soldiers who have never been hit by a Boer bullet, but whose constitutions have been sapped by unnecessary labors.

"General Hart placed himself on a hill with a telescope and a bugler and ordered the brigade to attack a position; the bugler sounded alternately throughout the day 'advance,' double,' 'charge.' I need not say that this method of fighting resulted in terrible loss; sixty officers and 1,500 men is a terrible total for one brigade, nearly 50 per cent of the whole. It would be impossible to enumerate the vageries that daily occur, but through the worst, I regret to say, that General Hart is not the only brigadier notorious for incompetency. At least two other brigadiers were unfit to command, but the accidents of war has removed one of them. The divisional commanders were no better but war has also made some changes here and it would be premature to judge their successors."

WORKING UP A BOOM.

Ex-Senator Dubois Wants to Be Fusion Vice-Presidential Candidate.

BLACKFOOT, Ida., April 14.—Former Senator Dubois, chairman of the executive committee of the national silver republican party, left for the East today.

His visit is for the purpose of consultation with the leaders of the national democracy and populists regarding combinations in the various states. He will head a delegation to Kansas City on July 4.

Dubois is satisfied that satisfactory arrangement will be made for the nomination of a vice-president by the democrats, silver republicans and populists through a conference committee of the three parties.

ALASKAN VESSEL BURNED.

Bark Cheney Scuttled at Her Dock in 'Frisco to Put Out the Flames.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—A fire broke out in the hold of the bark B. P. Cheney at the Howard street wharf last night and the flames had not been entirely extinguished at an early hour this morning. The firemen cut numerous holes through the deck and water was poured through them in such volume as to list the bark heavily to starboard and untimately settle her in the soft mud at the bottom of the bay.

The vessel belongs to the Nax Nek Packing Company and had nearly completed loading with coal and other supplies for the company's Alaskan canneries. The vessel which is valued at $25,000 is insured for $8,000. The value of the cargo is placed at $50,000, not insured. The total loss is estimated at $40,000, mostly on the cargo. It is yet impossible to tell how badly the vessel has been injured.

MONTAGU WHITE IN CHICAGO.

He Says the British Will Be Whipped Out of South Africa.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Montagu White, consul-general to Great Britain from the South African republics prior to the breaking out of the war between England and the Transval, and at present the unofficial representative of the Boer republics in the United States, arrived in Chicago last night from the East. He took apartments at the Auditorium hotel. Mr. White came to Chicago to attend the banquet of the Holland society to be held Monday night. He said:

"In my opinion the Boers will be the victors in the war being fought. The opinion that seems to be held by many that the surrender of General Cronje depressed the balance of the fighting forces to the extent of causing them to lose hope is erroneous. As subsequent events have shown, the surrender was not as important an event as the British would have the world believe. My opinion that the Boers will win is based on a pretty accurate knowledge of the quantity of the Boer soldiers and the resources of the republic.

"The coming of winter will be a great advantage to the Boers. The effect of the South African winter on the British troops soon will begin to be seen, while the Boers are inured to it. Another serious obstacle which will be in the wake of the British army is the nature of the country through which it will have to pass on the way to Pretoria. The territory is known, every foot of it, to the Boers. It is peculiarly adapted to their style of fighting. The English have a long stretch of this country to pass before they reach Pretoria and in my opinion they will not succeed in taking the city.

"I find the sympathy for the Boer cause growing daily in the country. It was strong at first and has been strengthened by the bravery shown by the Boers in their effort to retain their country."

EXPORT CARLOAD RATES.

New Rule Adopted Which Will Prevent Abuse of the Special Export Privileges.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The trunk line freight committee has adopted a new rule regarding export carload rates. It is claimed that western shippers take advantage of the export rates for local stuff.

The matter has been made the subject, at various times, of special inquiry by the interstate commerce commission. It has, it is alleged, been one of the most generally used means of granting favors to large shippers, as it has been a cloak that has made investigation as a rule futile. The export rate, it will be recalled, is about two or three cents lower than the local rate. The old rule allowing shippers the benefit of export carload rates whether the freight goes to one or more steamboat lines, it is admitted, has been abused. This old rule reads:

"On carload shipments of export freight no extra charge for harbor delivery will be made when more than one delivery to steamship lines is required."

NEW MINING EXCITEMENT.

Rich Find of Gold Made Along Carbon River, Washington.

TACOMA, April 14.—Great excitement is reported along the Carbon river near Fairfax, Pierce county, where placer gold running one dollar to the pan has been discovered and a stampede from adjacent towns has begun. The first strike was made by Superintendent Wilkins of the Thorne mines, who after making his locations gave out the news. Traces of gold have been found in the river at various times and quartz properties show gold in the assays. The Fairfax train made a special run to Carbonado to bring the news and take back passengers.

TELL IT TO THE MARINES.

Rumor of Russia's Contemplated Interference in South African War.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 14.—Extraordinarily persistent rumors are current in Moscow that on Russian Easter Sunday the Czar will issue a manifesto containing an ultimatum to Great Britain, demanding that she conclude peace with the Boers forthwith, under threat of occupying Cabul and Herat if Great Britain fails to comply.

HARRISON WILL NOT RUN.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Mayor Harrison today came out unequivocally in opposition to his nomination by the democratic state convention for the governorship of Illinois.

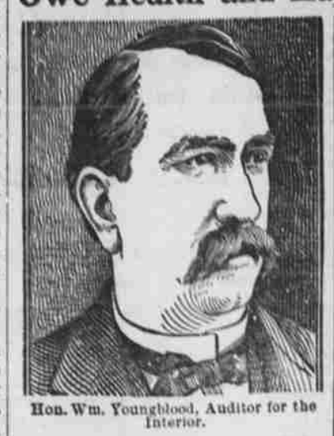
TWO VERY PROMINENT PUBLIC MEN

Owe Health and Happiness to Pe-ru-na.



Hon. Wm. Youngblood, Auditor for the Interior.

Congressman Howard from Alabama.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10, 1898.

Pe-ru-na Drug M'f'g Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—I've often heard of your great medicine and have persuaded my wife, who has been much of a sufferer from catarrh, to try Pe-ru-na, and after using one bottle she has wonderfully improved. It has proved all you have claimed for it, and I take pleasure in recommending it to anyone who is afflicted with catarrh. Yours,

Wm. Youngblood,
Auditor for the Interior.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4th, 1899.

Pe-ru-na Drug M'f'g Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—I have taken Pe-ru-na now for two weeks, and find I am very much relieved. I feel that my cure will be permanent. I have also taken it for la grippe, and I take pleasure in recommending Pe-ru-na as an excellent remedy to all fellow sufferers.

Very Respectfully, M. W. Howard.

Congressman Howard's home address is Fort Payne, Ala.

Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a national curse. An undoubted remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Pe-ru-na cures catarrh in all stages and phases. There is no remedy that can be substituted.

Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh is well-nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Pe-ru-na is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of catarrh. To prevent colds, to cure colds, is to cheat catarrh out of its victims. Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O., for a free catarrh book.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

Contagious Blood Poison is the most degrading and destructive of all diseases, as it vitiates and corrupts the entire system. The first sore or ulcer is followed by little red pimples on the body, mouth and throat become sore, the glands enlarge and inflame, copper colored splotches appear, and hair and eyebrows fall out. These are some of the milder symptoms; they increase in severity, finally attacking the vital organs; the body is tortured with rheumatic pains and covered with offensive eating sores.

It is a peculiar poison, and so highly contagious that an innocent person handling the same articles used by one infected with this loathsome disease, may be inoculated with the virus. It can be transmitted from parent to child, appearing as the same disease or in a modified form—like Eczema or Scrofula.

Many an old sore or stubborn skin trouble appearing in middle life, is due and traceable to blood poison contracted in early life. You may have taken potash and mercury faithfully for two or three years and thought you were cured, but you were not, for these poisonous minerals never cure this disease; they drive it from the outside, but it is doing its work on the inside, and will show up again sooner or later. You may not recognize it as the same old taint, but it is. S. S. S. has cured thousands of cases of Contagious Blood Poison, and it will cure you. It is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the only antidote for this poison. S. S. S. cleanses the blood thoroughly of every particle of the poison—there is never any return of the disease.

Mrs. T. W. Lee, Montgomery, Ala., writes: "Several years ago I was inoculated with poison by a diseased nurse, who infected my baby, and for six long years I suffered untold misery. My body was covered with sores and ulcers. Several physicians treated me, but all to no purpose. The mercury and potash they gave me seemed to add fuel to the awful flame which was devouring me. Friends advised me to try S. S. S. I began taking it and improved from the start, and a complete and perfect cure was the result."

CURE YOURSELF AT HOME. Send for our Home Treatment book, which gives a history of the disease in all stages, and is the result of many years of close study of blood poison and actual experience in treating it. You can cure yourself perfectly and permanently at home, and your secret is your own. Should you need any information or medical advice at any time, write to our physicians. They have made a life study of blood diseases, and will give your letter prompt and careful attention. Consult them as often as you please; we make no charge whatever for this service. All correspondence is conducted in the strictest confidence.
