The Inland Empire is the name of a new magazine, the first issue of which has just appeared. It is published at Walls Walls, and devoted to the development of the resources of that section of the Northwest. The attractive design of its cover, printed in colors, is symbolic of the purpose of the journal. But aside from its articles descriptive of the resource, and possibilities of the "inland empire," it contains much matter of general interest and will doubtless supplant many a so-called household periodical.

The Astorian is indebted to the Hood River Glacier for a neat pamphlet entitled, "A Pen Picture of Hood River and Hood River Valley." It is well illustrated and tells in an interesting way, without any attempt at ostentation, of the attractions, natural and ar- YOU Are Not Aware of the tificial, the industries and future possibilities of Hood River and the Hood River valley. The enterprise which produced the pamphlet, as well as the valuable information which it contains concerning that region, will undoubtedly be advantageous in giving favorable impressions of the place to prospective settlers and investors.

the country!

The Spokane Spokesman-Review says success would have been brighter, for Oregon's shipping interests at that time overshadowed all others on the Northwest coast. Today Puget sound has the dry-dock and will probably be the only American point north of San Francisco for the repair of warships

It is doubtless true that Oregon has not been as zealous as she should have been, but hard work on the part of our congressional delegation will yet secure to us the dock. A fresh water dock is a necessity to shipping, and the Columbia river is the natural location for such dock. Doubtless Washington and California congressmen will tion of this dock, but by sending our strongest men to congress and backing up their efforts we will yet be suc-
