At the office of the West Shore Mills Company Friday evening the presents were awarded to the patrons of the company who had paid their bills for September by October 5. The awards were as follows: Irving club, No. 128, first; Pacific candy store, No. 278, second; Bee Hive, No. 78, third; John E. Gratie, No. 119, fourth; Van Dusen & Co., No. 203, fifth. The presents given were the same as in the previous months.

The Republican county central committee have under way arrangements to have a number of meetings held throughout the county, at which there will be good speakers. The committee are endeavoring to secure a speaker for a meeting to be held in this city on Friday evening next and it is probable they will be successful, although the name of the speaker is not at present obtainable.

The Italian ship Edda, with a cargo of 57,150 bushels of wheat, valued at $209,971, arrived down at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and cleared at the custom house for Algon bay, South Africa. She was several days in getting down the river owing to the frequent encountering of sand bars. She will probably be examined to see if any injury was sustained before going to sea. She expects to leave out today.

Tom Tuntton, the Japanese steward of the bark Harry Morse, now loading lumber at Knappton, has been missing for several days, and Captain Fullerton fears that some accident has befallen him. The bark has been with the vessel for four years and there could be no reason for his leaving without telling where he was going, as he had money coming to him and seemed well satisfied with his position.

The German steamer Eva, with the enormous number of 208,000 sacks of flour, valued at $146,000, consigned by the Portland Flouring Mills will probably leave out today. She arrived down yesterday morning at 11 o'clock after nearly a week spent in her passage down the river. Although she struck a number of times coming down it is not thought that she was injured seriously. She took on 8,200 sacks of flour at the O. R. & N. dock, that were landed during the first of the week. She cleared at the custom house yesterday for Hong Kong and Vladivostok.

H. R. Hoefler has recently made extensive improvements in his place, the Bonbonniere, and has now one of the finest establishments of its kind on the Pacific coast. He has added a kitchen to the rear of the building, and has removed the candy making department to the second floor. Ice cream, in the manufacture of which Mr. Hoefler stands first in the city, is here made in quantities that are startling. The department has a separate room and the freezers are operated by an electric motor, the capacity being two hundred gallons per day. Mr. Hoefler has just added oysters to his already extensive bill of fare and furnished them in every style subject to order. The whole place is a model of cleanliness and neatness that is exceptional.

The case of Rosa Waters against John A. Bush as to the custody of two minor children was given a hearing yesterday afternoon in probate court before Judge Gray. The claimant states that the children have been cruelly abused and ill treated by their father, Mr. Bush, and asks that they be taken away from him and placed in some charitable institution, at the expense of the father, who would gladly take the children herself if permitted. On the other hand Mr. Bush claims that he has taken the best care possible of the children, that they have been clothed and fed properly and that he is very fond of them. The children who have been in the care of Sheriff Lathrop for several days past appeared in court and seemed very fond of their father, Harrison Allen and Mr. Scoville are attorneys for claimant and Frank Spittle has charge of the defendant's interests.

Tomorrow evening the great American-Chinese drama "The King of the Opium Ring" will be produced at Fisher's opera house. Many thrilling scenes are graphically pictured in the presentation of the plot in this play. The first act shows Dead Man's dock, with the Golden Gate in the distance; the escape of the smuggler's yacht, "Halcyon," with a revenue cutter in hot pursuit, firing a castling of Chinese rifles. The second act presents the interior of an opium den, containing lofty bunks, in which men and women, with opium layouts besides them, inhale "happy thoughts." Act third opens with the entrance of the swell Chinese club of "Frisco," changing to the heart of Chinatown on the Celestial New Year's night; the streets are beautifully illuminated and fantastically decorated with Chinese lanterns and banners. In this act is effected a thrilling rescue by a human tower of "Chinks." This scene is claimed to be one of Oriental grandeur. A Chinese-American wedding takes place in connection with which is shown the hypnotic influence of the Oriental sorcerer. Reserved seats now selling at Griffin & Reed's.

P. Greenwood was arrested yesterday morning in Uppertown for peddling spectacles and other articles without license. He was inclined to be obstreperous and Officer Simbal had some difficulty in getting him started. They finally boarded a car and started down town on the way to the station, when the man started another fracas. He seemed imbued with the idea that he could clean out the whole police force but one member of it was equal to the occasion and although they had a great tussle and broke one of the panes of glass in the door of the car, the man was finally induced to keep quiet. He was brought before Judge Nelson yesterday afternoon and in view of his also resisting arrest, the Judge fined him $20. He pleaded poverty, so will probably spend a couple of weeks in durance vile. The judge has been inclined to be lenient with such fellows.

because they seemed to be making an effort to earn their living, and in several cases the fines have been remitted in case of their leaving the town. It, however, was destined to be run in the ground and the judge thought it best to try and put an effective stop to it. In addition to this the present case was a particularly aggravated one, as the man, Greenwood, had been drinking some and was inclined to abuse people if they did not purchase from him and in several cases did use abusive language to several women who refused to buy.

The Grand lodge of Knights of Pythias will convene on Tuesday in Odd Fellows' hall. At the same time the grand lodge of Bathing Sisters, the ladies auxiliary, will meet in the K. of P. hall. On Tuesday evening will occur the grand ball at Foard & Stokes' hall. A social session will be held on Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall. Some three or four hundred visitors are expected to be present during the season. The lodge would greatly appreciate any courtesy shown the visiting members by our local merchants in the way of window decorations as has been customary in other cities where the grand lodge has met in convention. The colors of the order are red, yellow and blue. All members of the order in the city not affiliated with the local lodge are requested to communicate with Herman Wise or with Mr. Gerdes, at his barbershop, to secure tickets for the ball and social session.

OF INTEREST TO GENTLEMEN.

There's a new hat just come out which is worn by all the swell dressers in the East. As soon as Herman Wise saw it advertised in the Eastern clothing papers he telegraphed for a few sample dozens, and he received them yesterday. It is a stiff hat, the shape being between an Alpine and a Pash dented.

The regular selling price of this new "Broadway whirl-wind" is $3 and $4, but to be in harmony with his reduction on everything in his store during this "sweep sale," Mr. Wise offers the new hat as follows:

The $3 grade at $2.50, and the $4 quality at $2.25, so you Astoria gentlemen can truthfully say that you buy the latest things in Astoria for less than they are sold for in the East.

Mr. Wise is the first clothier in Astoria to receive this new style.
