Mr. and Mrs. Olof Johnson, of Tillamook, were among the passengers on the Sue H. Elmore on her recent arrival from that city. Mrs. Johnson goes to Chicago, and Mr. Johnson accompanied her as far as Portland.

A subscription paper was circulated during the past week in Tillamook for the purpose of establishing a free library and reading room in that place. It was said to have met with a generous response from the citizens in general.

The United States transport steamer Lennox reported out at Kobe Wednesday. The Thyra is still out. Reinsurance on the American ship Alexander McNeil, from Port Blakely for Fremantle, has run up to 50 per cent. She left Puget sound May 3.

The English partridges recently ordered from England by Albany sportsmen are expected to arrive some time next month. They will be liberated in as favorable localities as possible, and it is hoped that another valuable game bird will be added to the fields of the Willamette valley.

There will be the usual services in the Congregational church today. There will be preaching by the pastor, Rev. F. E. Dell. The subject for the morning sermon is "The Tears of Jesus," and that for the evening "The Power of the Invisible." Sunday school after the morning service.

Miss Katie May, of Hammond, met with an accident last evening that resulted in her breaking her left arm. She was coming down the steps from the Russian bath house when she slipped and fell several feet to the ground. The surgeon at Fort Stevens was summoned and reduced the fracture.

It is stated that several experiments in raising tobacco will be tried next year in different sections of the state. The Oregon Agricultural College has made some very successful experiments with tobacco on the college farm and in all likelihood would gladly supply valuable information to anyone who expects to enter this field of industry.

The grocery stock of Charles Larson was purchased last evening by Ross, Higgins & Co., and they were busily engaged in taking an inventory of the stock up to a late hour. Mr. Larson will retire from the business which he has been conducting at the corner of Commercial and Fifteenth street. The stock is valued at between $3000 and $4000.

Sylvester Pennoyer declines to be a candidate for representative. He received the nomination Friday evening, and declined it with thanks yesterday afternoon. The news that Pennoyer overlooked an opportunity to run for office has spread consternation among his thousands of followers. A dispatch from Portland late last evening states that E. J. Jeffrey was nominated to fill the vacancy.

The pilot schooner Joseph Pulitzer had quite a rough time outside the bar during the recent storm. A portion of her bulwarks were carried away and her rudder came loose. Yesterday she was brought in and will remain here till she can be repaired. Captains Tatton, Johnson and Cordiner were aboard of her at the time and report unusually rough weather and a terrific gale outside.

The long-standing litigation between Messrs. Enyart & Cook and the Columbia River Packers Association, involving the title to the fishing grounds known as the "Jim Crow Sands," was settled yesterday by mutual consent, after some days' consultation by the interested parties. By the terms of the agreement, Enyart & Cook are to occupy the grounds and pay the association $15,000 in cash; also to deliver to the association all fish caught on every alternate day, for a period of five years; at the ruling price. It is understood that this is considered an amicable adjustment by both litigants.

The German bark Osterbek, which was anchored above Tongue Point Friday, was towed down and anchored in about the same position occupied by the Oregilla for several weeks previous to her leaving out last week. The Osterbek has 92,104 bushels of wheat on board valued at $51,578, and cleared at the custom house yesterday for Queenstown or Falmouth for orders. She is in charge of Captain Gieski.

A son of Jack Adams, aged 9 years, disappeared yesterday and no trace of him could be found. He got up at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and left the house and did not return. Chief Hallock was notified and added his efforts to the search. The boy has been away several times before but has always shown up before dark. No trace of the missing boy had been found up to midnight and it is feared he has fallen overboard.

Ed Sutherland now stands convicted of two crimes before the superior court of the state of Washington at Walla Walla. At 3:45 o'clock Friday afternoon the jury on his trial for attempt to commit murder went out, and after ten minutes' deliberation returned a verdict of guilty. His first conviction was for attempting rape, as published in the Astorian yesterday. Judge Brents has not pronounced sentence in either case yet, but there is no doubt that Sutherland will spend many years in the penitentiary.

A motion for a new trial in the case of James Warren, convicted of murder in the second degree, has been filed in the circuit court at Portland. Among the grounds upon which a new trial is based are insufficiency of the evidence, that the verdict is against law, errors in law in the instructions of the court given to the jury on its own motion, and errors in the refusal of the court to give to the jury instructions asked by the defendant's attorneys. The motion will be taken up for argument Monday morning.

Mr. Mitchell, of Portland, and Mr. Parsons, of New York, who arrived in the city on the noon train yesterday, are the representatives of the General Electric Company, which was the real purchaser of the Astoria Street Railway Company, and are here looking over the property with a view to its improvement. The result of their investigations will be presented to the parent company for approval, after which it is expected that it will be extended both east and west and placed in first-class shape throughout.

Captains Boiles and Bulger, inspectors of boilers and hulls, have rendered a decision in the matter of the steamer Jeanie, which recently ran on the rocks near Point Arena. James Marshall, first officer of the steamer, was held responsible for the disaster. He was found to have been negligent, and as punishment the inspectors ordered that Marshall's license be suspended for six months. It appeared that at the time the vessel went on the rocks, A. H. Mason, the captain, was asleep. He left an order to be called and this order Marshall disregarded.

Senator Clark says he will build a railroad between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. Shrewd business men, however, think he is bluffing and that the bluff is for the purpose of forcing the Union Pacific to build the extension between Uvada and San Bernardino, thus giving through connections between Salt Lake and Los Angeles. Senator Clark would need to construct more than one thousand miles of road and parallel the Union Pacific—while the latter would have a through line by building 300 miles. Senator Clark has extensive property interests in both of the proposed terminal cities and would derive a direct benefit by this direct operation of a through line, which accounts for his interest.

The British ship Dechmont cleared yesterday afternoon at Portland with 100,533 bushels of wheat, valued at $61,325. She was dispatched by F. W. McNear, and is bound for Queenstown or Falmouth for orders. She will leave down this morning. The Dechmont brings the October fleet up to eight vessels, and there still remain 11 more days in the month. The Kilmory will not clear before Monday. She will not complete her cargo until late this afternoon. With the exception of the Deccan, which is having its deck calked, the other vessels in the harbor are receiving good despatch. The month will finish up with a good-sized fleet. November will start out well. The French bark Bossuet is out 146 days from Nantes and is fully due. Before November 1, several more vessels will be along.

Tom Reilly, of Salt Lake City, was awarded first money on a foul in the fight with Charlie Jost at the Louvre last evening. The fight was originally announced as a finish fight but both contestants signified their wish that it be for 20 rounds, but after several moves that closely resembled fouling Jost followed Reilly into his corner and knocking him against the ropes, fouled him. Barring a little nasty work on Jost's part, the fight was a very pretty exhibition, the men being fairly evenly matched. Jost has the longer reach, but Reilly is quicker and got away safely from the greater number of Jost's terrific swings. The preliminary was a six-round contest between Martin Denny, of England, and Tommy Cox, of Australia, and was declared a draw.

The decision of Judge Cleland, of Portland, declaring the Portland vehicle license law to be illegal, has a decided bearing on the Astoria charter, which is identical with that in vogue in the metropolis so far as the license feature is concerned. In consequence, the ruling of the supreme court is awaited here with interest. The Astoria charter is a new one, and was passed at the last session of the legislature. Very few people knew it was going to be passed, and the charter has never been printed in book form, the city officials working under a certified copy from the office of Secretary of State Dunbar. Parties, however, who were instrumental in the passage of the charter, say that its license provision is the same as that of the Portland charter, and that the decision affects the local law.

Some inkling of the plans which the O. R. & N. Co. has for the improvement of Seaside traffic has leaked out through a semi-official source. It is said that the purchase price paid for the Ilwaco road was $142,000. According to the advices received the road is to be made broad guaged. The sum of $350,000, it is said, is to be expended upon general improvements, and the new terminal will be at Knappton, on the north bank of the Columbia, where the tides will not bother. Valuable improvements are to be made at the other end of the line, according to the same source of information. The road is to be extended westward from Nahcotta, its present northern terminus on Long Beach, to the Shoalwater bay side of the peninsula, nearly to Leadbetter Point. It would make a longer and more profitable branch to extend the line as proposed and give seasiders a larger scope for sightseeing, and fishing and hunting.

The city teachers' association held their first regular meeting of the year at the McClure building at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The full quota of teachers in the city were present. The morning was spent in the organization of the grade meetings and the election of officers for the ensuing term. It was decided that the meetings of the association should be held alternately in the McClure and in the Shively building. Prof. A. A. Cleveland, principal of the Olney school, was elected president, and Prof. John P. McCue, of the Alderbrook school, secretary. The following executive committee was elected for the ensuing term: High school, Miss Badollet; McClure's, Miss Holden; Olney, Miss Morgan; Shively, Miss Shively; Adair, Miss Bayles; Alderbrook, Miss Fossett. The next meeting of the association will be held on November 17, at which time the following program will be rendered: Vocal solo, Miss Holden; address, "True Aim of Our Public Schools," W. W. Payne; instrumental solo, Miss Stockton; paper, "Aid in Teaching Language in the Second Grade," Miss Ausmus.

Pres. B. Marshall, a popular business man of Albany, was married to Miss Winifred J. Wilds, also of that city, on Wednesday, and to escape the rather superfluous attentions of numerous friends at the depot they were driven in a carriage to Jefferson to take the train to Portland. Someone dropped to their scheme, however, and numerous handbills were distributed through the train as it went through Albany. The poster read as follows: "This will interduce the bearer to Mr. and Mrs. Pres. B. Marshall, a bride and groom, who will board the train at Jefferson, en route to Portland on their honeymoon trip. DON'T FAIL TO EXTEND CONGRATULATIONS." Five hundred passengers with this poster in their hands looked forward to the arrival of the train at Jefferson with great expectancy, and when the couple were sighted they were given an ovation, so it is said, that William J. Bryan himself would have turned green with envy, had he witnessed it, at the power this couple possessed for calling forth a demonstration of the people. Each passenger seemed to feel at perfect liberty, with the introduction in his hand, to advance and offer congratulations and with them a "bon voyage" on the blissful sea of matrimony, to the great embarrassment of the newly wedded couple.

When W. J. Bryan made his campaign through Indiana, and was asked the question regarding the disfranchisement of the negroes in the South, he answered that the Oregon constitution was worse than that of any Southern state. A local Indiana paper, published at Anderson, in that state, telegraphed Secretary of State Dunbar at Salem, Oregon, as follows: "Can negroes vote in Oregon? Is negroes' right to hold property limited by your constitution? If so limited, is limitation operative? Wire reply immediately." The secretary at once telegraphed back: "Oregon constitution adopted 1857 restricted the right of suffrage to black male citizens. This has never been changed, but it has been held by our courts that the effect of the Fifteenth amendment to the national constitution is to nullify this provision so far as it affects negroes, therefore, since the adoption of said amendment negroes are allowed to vote in Oregon and their right to hold property is not limited by our constitution or by our laws. F. I. DUNBAR, Secretary of State." In another article in the same issue the Indiana paper has the following: "The conservative Democrats of the gas belt are now raising 'blue blazes' over the amount of money that was given Colonel Bryan for his trip through this part of the state. In his speech in Anderson Bryan said: 'Because I have been the candidate of my party for the presidency, I can make a living for myself and family easier than most of the men responsible for this administration.' These Democrats have found out what Bryan meant by this. Friday was a big day for Bryan. The day he spoke here four years ago, he gleaned $1800. But on Friday he beat that record from $300 to $400. So it is at the rate of $2000 a day that he is trying to save the country from imperialism and the laboring men from the galling yoke of a protective tariff that gives them work."

GEORGIA SHOWERS.

The Georgia shower is a peculiar one, and sometimes a single day has a score of them. It is on you before you know it. For a few moments the lightning flashes, the thunder rolls and the rain falls, and it is apt to cease as suddenly. Out comes the sun again as smiling and serene as though no great damage had been done to the crops. There is something else that comes on one unwares, and that is dyspepsia. Many people have suffered years from this complaint, because they have allowed indigestion, constipation and biliousness to become chronic. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be taken at the first sign of indigestion. It will strengthen your stomach and produce sound sleep, and good health must naturally follow.

S. T. M'KEAN.

Death of a Well-Known Citizen in This City Last Evening.

S. T. McKean, who died at his home in this city last evening, was 60 years of age on the 14th of last July and had been a resident of this state for over half a century, having come across the plains with his father's family in 1847. He is survived by his wife and five children, three daughters: Mrs. Eliza Bell, of Seattle; Mrs. Alfred S. Tee and Mrs. Winnie Gunn, of this city, and two sons, S. Terry, Jr., and a boy about ten years of age, both also of Astoria. There are also living of his family two brothers and a sister in California and a sister, Mrs. Eliza Hustler, of this place. Mr. McKean was for many years an employe of the late Captain George Flavel.

One of the earliest settlers of this region, he was an active member of the Pioneers and took a great deal of interest in the work of that society. He was also a charter member of Seaside lodge, No. 12, A. O. U. W., which was organized here March 4, 1879. For a number of years he was financier of the lodge.

The funeral will be held under the auspices of both societies and will probably be held on Monday morning in time to take the 11:30 train for Clatsop, where the interment will take place. Whether the funeral will be held on Monday or Tuesday morning depends upon the arrival of some of the relatives, as there is no publication issued here on Monday morning, friends will inform themselves as to date.

NOTICE!!

Members of the Pioneer and Historical Society of Oregon are hereby notified to attend the funeral services of of our deceased member, S. T. McKean, which will probably be held Monday forenoon in time to take the 11.30 train for Clatsop, where the interment will take place. All are requested to ascertain date later as definite arrangements cannot yet be made.

T. B. MORRISON,
President.

NOTICE.

All members of Seaside lodge, No. 12, A. O. U. W., are requested to meet at their lodge room on Monday, Oct. 22, at 10:30 a. m., (unless otherwise notified) to attend the funeral of our late brother, S. T. McKean. By order of
