It was not thought on Tuesday that the accident would result fatally as the little fellow was resting quietly and at five o'clock yesterday morning when the father, who is employed on the tug Wallula, went to his work the boy was apparently resting easily. The shock to the system was, however, too great and he died a short time afterward.

At the coming session of the legislature, the Oregon Fish and Game Association will recommend for passage a revision of the fish and game laws of this state, which includes a number of important changes. It will be advised that there be a close season for certain species of pheasants being brought into the state; that there be a limit of 25 trout for a day's catch, and that the taking of salmon trout in tide waters with hook and line be allowed at any time of the year.

The storm of last night broke the arc circuit of the West Shore Mills Co., thereby burning a coil in the armature of the arc machine. This will necessitate a discontinuance of the Uppertown lights for a week. The company then wired an order to Schenectady and has received an answer that the goods have been shipped by express. All the other lights will be on as usual this evening.

There is no doubt but that they will be appointed.

The Thya which returned to this port from Manila on Tuesday lost but one horse during her trip to the islands, which is regarded as a creditable showing, as it was her maiden effort in transporting animals. The animals were under the care of U. S. Veterinary Surgeon Nunn. The Thya will begin loading for the return trip at once. The cargo will consist of 570 horses and a quantity of hay and oats. The animals are now at Vancouver Barracks awaiting transportation, and it will be about eight days before the steamer will be in readiness to sail. The Lennox is expected to arrive before long, and will also make a return trip to the far East.

The gale that raged all day yesterday increased in fury last night and by midnight it was almost impossible to stand against the force of the storm. A dispatch from Fort Stevens announced that the wind there was blowing at the rate of ninety miles an hour. A portion of the electric light works in this city was blown down last night breaking the circuit on the street lights and adding to the weirdness and confusion of the storm by leaving the streets of the city in total darkness. There are a number of vessels already due in here and several known to have arrived somewhere off the mouth of the river and fears are entertained for their safety.

Fritz Bauer finally succeeded in killing himself at the county jail in Portland Tuesday by hanging, probably before 11 or 12 o'clock. His dead body was found yesterday morning hanging suspended from a steam pipe which runs through the cell in which he had been placed. It was evident that he had been about there for some time. This is the third time that Bauer attempted to end his life, the previous time being only a few days ago, when he slashed himself about the throat with a razor, and would have died had it not been that a physician was near at hand. He later tried to hang himself but failed, but the third time was successful.

"What Did Thompkins Do?" is the problem of the hour just now in Astoria. It has superseded all other questions social or political in the minds of the people, but it bids fair to remain a secret until the arrival here on December 26th of Harry Corson Clarke and his company when it will be illustrated and demonstrated to the satisfaction of all interested and to the delight of all who enjoy a hearty laugh. This is Mr. Clarke at his best; as a fun-maker par excellence, one who is rapidly nearing the highest eminence his profession affords. His new play has created a sensation wherever it has been presented and every audience that has witnessed it was acclimated with joy at its comicities. Advance sale of seats opens next Tuesday morning at Griffin & Reed's.

The many friends of Mrs. Sherman Case, formerly of this county, will regret to learn of her death at Genesee, Idaho, December 15. An attack of influenza about two years ago later developed into consumption which caused her death. Besides her husband, who is now teaching at Genesee, she leaves two children, Leonard, ten years of age, and Bertha, eight. Mrs. Case was born in Trinidad, Colorado, in 1872 and removed to Knappa, this county, in 1877, where she was married. Last spring they moved from Knappa, where Mr. Case had a general store, to Idaho hoping that a change of climate would benefit her but the disease was too far advanced and she steadily declined. She was a bright, winning woman, and a devoted Christian wife and mother. Mr. Case's sister is with them and will care for the children.

PIONEER ASHORE.

Lumber Schooner From Knappton Goes Ashore at Haystack Rock, Near Woods.

Word has been received that the three masted schooner Pioneer that left out from Knappton last week laden with lumber for San Francisco, went ashore at 4 o'clock p. m. Sunday, on Neustucca beach opposite Ocean Park.

The schooner left Knappton, Wash., Sunday, December 3, with a full load of dressed lumber, bound for San Francisco via Astoria. She was bound for Astoria when she encountered the beginning of the late storm, and the extremely heavy swells twisted off her rudder. A jury rudder was rigged, which answered all purposes for a time, but the storm increased in violence, so that the captain estimates the violence of the wind to have been ninety miles an hour. The jury rudder was rendered useless and the vessel was at the mercy of the elements. She gradually drifted toward the coast, sighting Yaquina bay light Sunday morning. She was then under bare poles. She signalled distress by running up her flag upside down, and thought the signal was observed. Drifting up the coast the vessel entered the breakers near Haystack Rock, just above Neustucca bay, about 4 p. m. Sunday.

The captain and crew had little hope at this time, as the vessel was going in broadside. Luckily the action of the breakers turned her head directly toward the shore, and she was lifted in by each succeeding wave. Three men were observed on the beach, and two left, running inland, which the crew understood to mean that they were going for assistance, which was shortly confirmed by the arrival of a number of people just as the darkness closed in.

The shipwrecked crew were greatly cheered through the long hours of the night by an immense bonfire which was kept going on the beach. Constant efforts were made by the people of Woods to get a line to the vessel, and this was accomplished after hard work all night about 5 a. m. when the crew were all taken safely ashore. Captain Michaelson leaving his vessel last.

TO POSTPONE OLD AGE.

The latest theory is to apply electricity to the base of the brain. The hardening of the arteries, the first symptom—is followed by a crumbling away of the brain cells. This process produces the mental characteristics of old age. Not alone does this treatment restore the feeling of youth, but produces the appearance of it. While hundreds of experiments have been presented, there is but one way of prolonging youth, and that is by the preservation of health. For this purpose, and for the cure of constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, liver and kidney disorders, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters were placed before the public over fifty years ago. Money cannot buy a better remedy. Try it, and you will be convinced.

SARAH DIXON SUNK. Collides With Jetty at Mount Coffin Early Yesterday Morning. The lighthouse tender Manzanita, which arrived down the river yesterday afternoon from an extended trip to the aids to navigation on the Columbia and Willamette reported the steamer Sarah Dixon as lying with her nose on the jetty at Mount Coffin and the greater part of her submerged. The steamer was sunk early yesterday morning on the dike or jetty opposite Mount Coffin. The steamer now lies partly upon the dike, but projects into 15 feet of water. Barges will be started immediately for the scene of the accident, and it is expected that the boat will be raised before the end of the week. The damage is estimated at about $1000. No lives were lost. The Sarah Dixon is the property of the Shaver Transportation Company. The boat left Portland at 10 o'clock Tuesday night for Stella, Wash., for boom sticks. About 5 o'clock yesterday morning, while going down the Columbia, the boat collided with the dike opposite Mount Coffin. While endeavoring to feel her way along the channel she crashed into the dike and in less than five minutes had settled in the water. A large hole was knocked in the bow, through which the water surged, filling the hull.

SHIP POLTALLOCH. Tenders are invited from responsible parties to float this vessel ashore at North Spit, Willapa harbor on the "No cure no pay" principle, and place her at a safe anchorage. Bids must be delivered to Captain A. Young at South Bend, not later than noon, Dec. 21st. Lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted. South Bend, December 15, 1900. Dangers are no more light if they once seem light, and more dangers have deceived men than forced them; nay, it were better to meet some dangers half-way, though they come nothing near, than to keep too long a watch upon their approaching, for if a man watch too long, it is odds he will fall asleep. True dispatch is a rich thing. Stay a little, that we may an end the sooner.
