FATAL ECONOMY.

AVERY old maxim declares that it isn't economy to pick up pins; the time is worth more than the pins. Similarly it is not true economy to do without Ivory Soap; your health requires the daily removal of the bodily excretions which are discharged through the pores of the skin. These tiny mouths must be kept open, and they should be opened only with a pure soap.

After the program a delicious lunch was served in the school house, the Astoria guests returning on the steamer Mayflower.

It was rumored about the streets yesterday that the reason Mr. Hammond was not overly anxious to secure the Tongue Point mill site was because of a hitch in arrangements between the transportation companies that would result in a continuance of the low rates. The new schedule of rates will go into effect this morning on the A. & C. R. R. and the rates will be restored to the schedule prevailing before the cut with the exceptions that the fare one way between Portland and Goble will be $1.25, and the fare one way between Astoria and Goble will be $1.50. The Sunday excursion rate will also be discontinued. Agent Taylor had not received official notification as to the restoration of rates yesterday afternoon but expects to receive advices today.

F. C. Brown, who has been in charge of the Coos river hatchery, has been relieved from that position by Fish Warden Van Dusen and will have charge of the streams tributary to the Columbia in the central part of the state. He will immediately proceed to examine desirable location for hatchery sites on the Des Chutes, Snake and Sandy rivers.

Another logging enterprise of considerable magnitude is just taking shape in Columbia county. One h undred and sixty acres of timber, known as the Isam White tract, on Cox creek, recently purchased by George Perry, of Houlton, for $2000, is to be logged this season, operations to begin at once. A large new donkey engine is expected to arrive from Wolf & Zwicker's iron works early next week, and it is hoped to get one good run of logs before the extreme dry weather arrives. Mr. Abraham Crouse, who is logging the tract, now has a crew of eight men in the woods there, and several hundred thousand feet of logs are all ready to put in the water.

WORK OF SEA LIONS.

Commissioner Little Says They Are Very Destructive.

Sea lions at the mouth of the Columbia river this year are creating havoc among salmon, says the Tacoma Ledger. At the last session of the legislature a bill was passed for the purpose of aiding in their destruction, but through some miswording the attorney-general of that state has held it is inoperative. The Fishermen's union has taken the matter in hand and from its own treasury has appropriated funds sufficient to employ two men to kill them. There was a bill introduced in the Washington legislature at the last session for the same purpose, but it failed to pass.

In speaking of the destructiveness of sea lions, Fish Commissioner A. C. Little said:

"The Washington commission is not doing anything toward the destruction of sea lions for the reason that we have no appropriation. In conflict with the opinion rendered by experts of the United State fish commission that lions do not do any harm to fish, it is well known that they do. There are a greater number of them at the mouth of the Columbia river than anywhere on the coast. We have a good many in the waters off Gray's Harbor, and there are some in the Sound and among the islands. Where they are in numbers there is no doubt that they do a great deal of harm. They get into the schools and traps and there is seldom a net pulled up in the Columbia river that five or six are not found with their throats cut. This is where the destructiveness of the lion comes in. He will not eat the whole fish, but just the throat, and one lion in a season will destroy enough salmon to keep a good sized cannery going. There should be provision for their destruction in every state on the coast."

LIBRARY'S ANNIVERSARY

LADIES OF BOARD RECEIVED GUESTS LAST NIGHT.

Generous Response to Appeal for Funds—Interesting Account of Library's History.

The ninth anniversary of the founding of the Astoria Public Library was celebrated last night at the rooms of the library, where the ladies of the board of directors received the guests. During the evening Dr. A. A. Finch entertained the audience with the pianiatist, kindly loaned by Mr. Spexarth, and Mr. and Miss Frederickson rendered a delightful violin duet, acompanied by Miss Elmore.

During the evening seven new yearly subscriptions were received and when the boxes scattered about for contributions were opened it was found that more than $50 had been netted from this source. There was a constant stream of people during the evening and the ladies of the board were congratulated on the splendid progress made by the institution under the adverse circumstances it has been obliged to overcome.

The history of the trials and tribulations of the ladies who stood sponsor for the library's continued existence is succintly related in the following paper which was read by Mrs. Samuel Elmore:

On this, the ninth birthday of this child of many cares and trials, the Astoria Public Library, we, its fifteen sponsors, thought that a brief history of the years that have meant so much to us, and we hope also to the patrons and friends of the association, would be of interest to you all, for we are assured by your presence that you are also friends to this enterprise that has claimed more of the time, earnest thought, work and anxiety of the managers and financial supporters than perhaps you think possible.

The project of a public library was broached first by the Young Women's Christian Association in October, 1890. At a called meeting, February 6, 1892, the public library was duly organized and incorporated under the title of the Astoria Public Library. The following officers were elected: Mrs. A. L. Fulton, president; Mrs. J. F. Rogers, vice-president; Miss Brodie, secretary; Miss Badollet, treasurer. The first board of directors were the Misses Powell, Sayre, Campbell, Nickerson, Brodie, McKean and Badollet, and Mesdames Fulton, Wingate, Warren, Ross, Rogers and Elmore. The Y. W. C. A. transferred to the A. P. L. association the sum of $813.38, monies raised by them for library purposes.

During February, March and April meetings were held in the Y. W. C. A. room and in the Chamber of Commerce room. On May 28, 1892, just nine years ago, for the first time we had a library in evidence—not on paper—in the room back of the bank in the Kinney building on Commercial street; 537 books were in order on the shelves and thirty-seven yearly subscribers on our record book. In June the executive board was filled to the requisite number of fifteen by the addition of Mrs. P. A. Stokes and ever since the number has remained the same. Several very efficient members from time to time have, for various causes, found it expedient to resign, their places being filled by others equally efficient.

From the very beginning we have had many donations of books and money, the first year from the football club, $80; Bay Railway Company, $22; Mr. Chutter, $10.50; $50 worth of printing for life membership from the Astorian Publishing Company, stove, chairs, tables, curtains and other small furnishings to aid in beautifying and making comfortable our library room. February 1, 1893, we removed to our present room where we entertain you tonight. In these nine years we have had only two librarians, Mrs. Sturgis, who was obliged to resign on account of ill health, July 15, 1893, and Miss Geary, our present very efficient librarian.

Our reading room was made free in April, 1893. In June, 1893, the reading room was opened on Sundays, a most excellent move on our part and one that has given great satisfaction. In the same year the result of a book reception given in our room was the addition of 135 books and quite a sum of money. The treasurer's report on March 3, 1894, showed the finances of the association to be in a most distressing condition, reserve fund exhausted, expenses greater than receipts, and financial affairs very appalling, but our friends came to our aid by many unsolicited and solicited donations, noticeably $73 from Grace church guild, our diminished funds gained a most delightful weight and we weathered that storm.

Three years of these continued efforts brought to us their reward in a library of 1368 volumes, valued at $1500 and a list of thirty yearly subscribers. May 4, 1895, the council passed an ordinance allowing us $40 a month for current expenses, but as the warrant was discounted for cash we only received $36. In 1898 the amount received from the city warrants was cut to $27.50. As we had relied on this to cover the expenses of the free reading room, we had to draw on the reserve fund every month to provide for a monthly deficit of $32.65. We have reduced our current expenses to the lowest possible amount, an average of $60 per month. As we at present receive only $25 from the city our monthly deficit is $35. To meet this we have, I am sorry to say, only thirteen yearly subscribers, making about $3 a month from that source and we must make up the balance of $32 a month in some way. Do you wonder that we have all sorts and kinds of entertainments to coax the necessary funds from Astorians without resort to direct begging.

To date we have yearly subscribers only thirteen, eight three-month subscribers and an average, very small, of single book subscribers. The number of yearly readers in the free reading room has increased from 6588 the first year, 1892, to 15,109, in 1900. The total number of readers for the nine years amounts to 106,669. The money received for that time was $8,610.68; expended for books, furniture and necessary running expenses, $8590.29. We have 2057 bound volumes; of these 289 are free reference books, between 200 and 300 paper covered books, twenty-one monthly and weekly magazines and twenty-five daily and weekly papers and periodicals.

We have been many times cast down and badly discouraged but you know the old saying, "When a woman will, she will, you may depend on't," so we will, and have weathered every storm so far, sailed serenely through what has looked like a financial typhoon more than once, and tonight are smilingly awaiting your congratulations and, as usual, your generous assistance. The present executive board are: Mrs. Prael, president; Mrs. Stokes, vice-president; Mrs. Troyer, secretary, Mrs. George, treasurer; Mesdames Smith, Tee, Wingate, Taylor, Kendall, Upshur, Fulton, Trullinger, Elmore, and the Misses Badollet and Holmes. Each and all of these ladies will be glad, more than glad, to receive this evening a yearly subscription from all who are not already subscribers and your birthday gift as well. Kindly try us and see. We are fond of the sheen of silver but absolutely in love with the glint of gold. All for the preservation of the life of this child of our adoption—The Astoria Public Library.

As a birthday surprise I am able to present the following very generous gifts:

S. S. Gordon, $20; Frank Patton, $20; Charles Higgins, for the Astoria National bank, $20; Mrs. George Flavel, $20; Columbia River Packers Association, $25; American Can Company, by F. P. Kendall, $20; S. Schmidt & Co., $10; F. A. Fisher, $10; J. T. Ross, $10; Frank Hart Company, drug store, $10; C. W. Fulton, $5; John Fox, $5; Dr. Logan, $5; Mrs. W. S. Kinney, $5; C. H. Page, $5; G. C. Fulton, $2.50; Frank Parker, $2.50; Rev. Henry Marcotte, $2; Mrs. J. C. Dement, one yearly subscriber, $3; total, $205.

There are ten companies, such as railroad, navigation and others, who have to refer the matter to board meetings from which we hope to reach at least $275. We cannot express our thanks sufficiently to these generous friends.

THE SHERIFF INTERFERED.

Fishermen Were Going to Destroy Carlson's Trap.

But for the timely and energetic intereference of Sheriff Linvile yesterday a party of fishermen would have destroyed the trap owned by Otto Carlson near Blind Slough. The trap has been in operation for three years and at the beginning of the present season was moved so that it extended farther out into the stream.

The gillnetters assert that the new location of the trap interferes with the drifting of fishing boats and complaint was made to the Fishermen's union. Secretary Lornsten arranged with the steamer O. K. to pull out the trap today, but Carlson heard of the union's intentions and asked the sheriff to protect his property. Sheriff Linvile warned the captain of the boat that he would be held personally responsible if he destroyed the trap and the officers of the union that prosecutions would follow if their plans were carried out. The result was that the trap was not disturbed.

STILL MORE COUNTERFEITING.

The secret service has unearthed another band of counterfeiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected by counterfeiters for imitation, notably the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. The Bitters set things right in the stomach, and when the stomach is in good order it makes good blood and plenty of it. In this manner the Bitters get at the seat of strength and vitality, and restore vigor to the weak and debilitated. Beware of counterfeits when buying.

CANNERY FOR STRIPED BASS.

Probability That Salmon Canners Will Handle the Bass Soon.

There is talk of establishing a cannery for striped bass. It is not only one of the most delicate meated of fish, but the meat is readily removed from the bones in large flakes, rivaling salmon in this respect, says the San Francisco Journal of Commerce. These two attributes, combined with the prodigious size to which it grows, 50-pound fish being common in San Francisco bay, constitute the three advantages which commend it to the canners. The salmon canners with large factories lying idle the greater part of the year, owing to the short duration of the salmon run, handle the bass soon. The objection of some that the bass have not enough natural oil is argued by others to be greatly in its favor, as many consumers cannot touch salmon on account of its oiliness.
