The gang of men at work grading and clearing the route for the new county road was moved yesterday to the south side of the Wallack bridge and will work toward the four-mile post. The work of surfacing the section of the road already graded will be commenced as soon as arrangements are made for the rock crusher to start work. Roadmaster Frye stated to an Astorian reporter yesterday that the work laid out by the county court to be finished as soon as possible will keep the gang busy until the wet weather sets in.

The infant son of Deputy County Clerk G. Ziegler was christened Sunday at the family residence on Seventeenth street, the Rev. Henry Marcotte officiating. The little fellow, who is three months old, will bear the name of Walter Frederick Leo Ziegler. A number of invited guests were present to witness the ceremony and F. W. Orr, of Portland, and Miss Marie Scherneckau were the godparents. The interior of the house was beautifully decorated with flowers and foliage and the little chap received a number of appropriate presents.

Master Fish Warden Van Dusen yesterday notified E. C. Freeman that his services as special deputy in charge of the field work of the hatchery would be no longer required. The warden's reason for dismissing Mr. Freeman is that he desired to assume too much authority and that his salary demands were more than the commission thought it could pay. Mr. Freeman is undoubtedly one of the best posted men in the state on artificial propagation and has been doing excellent work in investigating desirable sites for new hatchery locations.

Z. Malstrom, a rancher who lived on Beaver creek, was instantly killed Sunday, by being struck by a train on the Beaver creek trestle. When approaching the trestle the fireman of the train saw the man ahead on the track and he appeared to be running in order to cross before the train reached him. Steam was shut off and the brakes applied. When the engine was almost upon him Malstrom started to jump from the trestle but was struck before he could do so. He was thrown to the ground and upon examination it was found that his neck and back had been broken and the body was otherwise mangled. The coroner of Columbia county took charge of the remains and held an inquest, a verdict in accordance with the facts being rendered. Malstrom was 65 years of age and leaves a family.

One of the men employed on the steamer Alliance was drowned yesterday while the vessel was putting to sea. The name of the man was not learned. The Alliance had just crossed out when the man fell into the sea.

Queer English and queer sentences frequently creep into the columns of the best edited newspaper and it is no reflection on the reporter that in the hurry and rush of grinding out columns daily occasionally an amusing error will appear. The following is from last night's Budget: "The water commission has agreed to furnish running water for it without cost and a subscription is being taken up among the citizens to pay for it."

Captain Lathan, who returned from Alaska yesterday, stated to an Astorian reporter that the business outlook in Skagway was decidedly discouraging. This condition of affairs is attributed to the action of the railroads in imposing almost prohibitive freight tariffs with the result that the larger part of consignments for Dawson City and points to the north are shipped via St. Michaels and thence up the Yukon river. Skagway has been enjoying unusually pleasant weather for the past four months, and the Astoria contingent are all well.

A well dressed man, apparently about 26 years of age, who came to Astoria from Portland three days ago, was taken into custody yesterday afternoon and will be examined today as to his sanity. The man's name is believed to be Albert Wilson and from his rambling statements it is thought that at one time he was in the boot and shoe business. Wilson's erratic actions were first noticed Saturday when he was work in the case factory. He had a fit there and an officer was called who locked him up for the night. He was released in the morning as he apparently was in his right mind and was aided financially by Sheriff Liville. Yesterday he again developed symptoms of being mentally unbalanced and the sheriff lodged him in the county jail, pending an examination.

Captain Thomas Lathan, who went north to command a steamer for the Chilkoot Packing Company, has returned to Astoria. Captain Lathan left Skagway on July 30, up to which time there had been no fish of consequence north of Wrangell Narrows to the Lynn canal. Cannermen were beginning to feel discouraged and the captain said that there was small prospect of sufficient salmon being packed to defray the season's expenses. The backwardness of the season could not be accounted for. At this time last year over one-half the season's pack was already up and the fishing was over on August 15. Ten cents for sockeyes is the ruling price and has been paid by all the canners. Captain Lathan said that the Chilkoot Packing Company had packed between 5000 and 6000 cases to date. Last year 20,000 cases were put up before the close of the season and this year the capacity of the cannery had been doubled with the expectation of packing at least 40,000 cases, but it is doubtful if last year's total will be equalled.

James Hamilton Lewis, the well-known Seattle attorney, is in Portland, and according to the Evening Telegram, his mission is to secure an injunction restraining the Onfrey salmon syndicate from effecting organization. Mr. Lewis declined to discuss the object of his visit but gracefully turned the conversation to politics, a subject upon which he can elabourly discourse for untold hours. There has been a hitch in the arrangements for the Onfrey people to take over the stock of the Alaska Fishermen's Packing Company. The original proposition, made in New York called for $200,000 in cash in payment for the stock. According to a report current yesterday another offer has been made of $1000 in cash, $1000 in common stock and $1000 in preferred stock in the syndicate in return for each share of the local company. This was declined and a demand made for the return of the company's books, which are in the possession of the syndicate people. The demand was refused on the ground that the option for the cash price did not expire until August 10, and that the books would not be surrendered until that date. The offer of the syndicate was for fifty-three shares which is a majority of the stock outstanding, but not a majority of the total issue.

The great jubilee celebration in honor of the admittance of a crowd of 1362 candidates to the ranks of Woodcraft is over, and special trains and boats yesterday conveyed the visitors from the three Northwest states back to their homes. Probably 20,000 people were present at the religious exercises that took place on the top of the hill Sunday night. Rev. Frank Coulter delivered the sermon, the basis for which was "Christian Fraternity." He had 8000 listeners. At 9 o'clock the initiations began, and at 10 a great bonfire was lighted on the crest, which was seen for miles around. The ceremonies in Thousand Camp went on until nearly 4 o'clock in the morning, and the deeps of the wooded dells on Tabor resounded many times with the famous Woodmen yell. Incidents of the closing features of the unparalleled celebration of fraternity were the addresses of speakers of the day, Governor Geer, Mayor Rowe, City Attorney J. M. Long, the presentation to George K. Rogers, Deputy Head Counsel, of a handsome diamond stud in commemoration of his work in organizing the celebration, and lastly the drills. The prize in the drill contest was won by Multnomah camp, No. 77, first; Home Camp, Seattle, second and third.

WILL NOT RAISE SALARIES.

City Fathers Defeat Measures to Increase Pay of Officials—Other Business Transacted.

At last night's session of the city council the bills providing for increased salaries for the city attorney, city surveyor and auditor were defeated, the first two being voted on and the third affecting the auditor being withdrawn by Councilman Hansen at the request of Judge Nelson. The defeated ordinances will probably come up at the next meeting of the council in another form, providing for the increases to take effect on January 1, 1902, instead of upon their passage, and in the revised form will probably pass without any considerable opposition.

City Attorney Smith reported that the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company had proposed the substitution of a franchise ordinance in lieu of the tax on telephone instruments now in force and the same was read for the first time and referred to the committee on streets and the city attorney. The ordinance provided for a franchise to be granted to the company for a term of thirty years for the maintenance of a telephone system. On or before January 1, 1902, the company promises to pay into the city treasury the sum of $500 also on that date and on the first day of January of each year for fifteen years pay to the city $250, and on each first day of January of the succeeding fifteen years the sum of $400. The council, by the provisions of the ordinance, agrees not to grant a similar franchise within the life of the one granted to the Pacific States Telephone Company to any other company in terms more advantageous than those set forth in the ordinance.

Director-General G. C. Fulton, who has charge of the street fair feature of the regatta, was present and addressed the council on the ordinance introduced by Councilman Uttinger authorizing the committee on streets and public ways to make a contract with the West Shore Mills Company for fifteen arc lights and an indefinite number of incandescent lights for Duane street for the week ending August 31. Mr. Fulton explained that the lights would not be used by the show people but would be for the proper illumination of the large arch to be built at Eleventh street and that section of the enclosed space to be occupied by the merchants of the city who intended erecting booths. The mayor and several members of the council spoke in favor of the measure and it passed with the amount of the city's contract limited at $200, all expense over and above to be borne by the regatta committee.

The committee also presented a petition asking permission to fence off Duane street from Eleventh to Sixth streets and such cross streets as would be needed for the distance of one block. The petition was referred to the street committee and later was returned with a favorable report and was granted by the council. An ordinance bearing on the same subject was introduced in which the city granted to the regatta committee the right to use the streets with the provision that passageways on the sidewalks be kept open. The petition of the regatta committee to drive trap piles in the river to which to move turning buoys was referred to the committee on wharves and water frontage with power to act.

City Surveyor Tee recommended that an ordinance be passed providing that the city surveyor shall, after recommending a grade and before its final establishment, be required to set upon the center line of the street or street to be established, stakes plainly marked with figures setting forth the amount of the cut or fill required by the establishment of the grade as recommended. The communication was referred to the committee on streets.

The city surveyor also reported that he had examined the location of the Mill creek bridge on the John Day road and had found that it was between 300 and 400 feet east of the city limits and under the jurisdiction of the county authorities.

A communication was received from the school board, by J. E. Higgins, calling the attention of the council to the fact that owing to the increased number of pupils the lower floor of the Oldmyr district schoolhouse, formerly Engine house No. 1, would be needed and asking the city to have the fire apparatus and other articles stored there removed. Referred to the committee on fire and water. Similar disposition was made of the communication from Fish Warden H. G. Van Dusen protesting against the employees of the fire department throwing sawdust and other refuse in the river in violation of the state law bearing on the subject.

Councilman Cook introduced a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing the mayor to send invitations to the mayors of all cities in Oregon and Washington to attend the regatta. Two protests were read and referred to the street committee against the proposed improvement of Thirty-fourth street, one communication objecting to the present grade on the ground that it was too high, and the second protest being against the construction of the sewer as proposed, it being alleged that it would be built on sliding ground and would be broken when the heavy rains come.

A communication was received from Judge J. Q. A. Bowley calling attention to the fact that the sewer boxes on Tenth street had been broken, resulting in considerable damage to the tiles in the ends, and requesting that some action looking toward repairing the same be taken. Referred to the street committee. The street committee reported on the protest from the Fishermen's union against the action of C. J. Anderson in driving a trap near the Scandi-
