PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

President Roosevelt has announced that he will continue the policies formed and enunciated by the late President McKinley for the peace and prosperity and honor of our beloved country.

There can be no reason to fear for the safety of the country under the guidance of the new president. The history of his public career has proven him capable of handling weighty affairs of statecraft with commendable skill.

As police commissioner of New York City, as a member of the civil service commission, as governor of New York, in fact in all propositions he has been called upon to fill his policies have reflected most creditably his eminent fitness for public life.

President Roosevelt comes of a class of Americans who care but little for the turmoil of public life. Born to inherit great wealth, of an old Knickerbocker family, his surroundings were such that he followed the examples set by the friends and companions of his boyhood and early manhood.

Two Chinamen were burned to death in New York while trying to save their god. It seems as if it would have been more a case to have sought a place of safety and worshiped them as idols.

acts and now the profession of sorrow strikes the judgment as being a grotesque and painful pretext. It has no logical right to feel sorrowful. The anarchoist, probably, was not inspired by the Hearst sheet, but happened to work along similar lines. One assailed the character of the man, the other sought his life.

The best way for the Hearst papers to convince the public that they are in abuse, were only pretending to a vindictive nature, would be for them to serve next and when showering their continuance in the person named.

Kansas City Journal.

It is high time the American people were taking measures to protect themselves against this evil. The fact that the United States is the asylum for the oppressed and the home of the free does not require them to harbor foreigners who come into the country to destroy it.

That in a time of peace and prosperity, the chief magistracy of a free people a man conspicuous for personal virtues and lovable qualities should be shot down by an anarchist, is the worst blow that could be struck at the architect of our country.

Many physicians are now prescribing Koldi Dyspepsia Cure regularly having found that it is the best prescription they can write because it is the preparation which contains the elements necessary to digest and assimilate food.

WIFE WAS HER TERROR.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but when all other remedies failed, three boxes of Dr. King's New Discovery cured me." Price 25 cents.

A FIREMAN'S CLOSE CALL.

"I stuck to my own, although very hot and under very much strain, but he had a better chance of burning than I had," writes C. W. Burman, a locomotive fireman of Huntington, Iowa.

FOR PNEUMONIA.

Dr. J. C. Baker, Astoria, Mich., says, "I have used Foley's Kidney Cure for three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." Price 25 cents.

A QUESTION OF RESPECT.

The direct charge has been made that the papers of W. H. Hearst are to blame for the state of mind that made possible the shooting of Mr. McKinley.
